SCHOOL NOTES

After making a survey of the practices in other places relative to the enrollment of children in the public schools, the Board of Education of Kent County, Maryland, adopted the policy of permitting beginning children to be enrolled only once each year. Those children who will be six years of age on or before February 1st of any school year may be enrolled in the public schools of the county any time within the first two weeks after the opening of the schools in September. After that period any child between five years seven months of age and six years old that has not attended school before will not be permitted to enter the public schools of the county before September of the following year.

In those counties in which this policy has been in effect for a number of years, it has been found to be a great improvement over the former practice of permitting the enrollment of beginning pupils twice each year. It is advantageous to the entire group of pupils in that one enrollment each year eliminates the extra division of the first grade necessitated by children entering the schools in the middle of the school term. In past years, those pupils who entered the schools of Kent the first half of the year have been robbed during the last half of the time required for the mid-year class of begginers. This will be avoided in the future, by the one enrollment at the beginning of the school year.

The new arrangement is also of advantage to the beginners. The normal child that is within five months of being six years of age is capable of mastering the work of the first grade without any danger of physical or mental strain. Whenever mid-year classes have been formed they have been unusually small which condition lessens the opportunity for incentive for rivalry found in the larger classes. Furthermore, the child who enrolls in February cannot complete more than half of the work of the year. This causes him to be kept in an extra small class or placed with the beginners in the following September. Either arrangement is a great disadvantage to him, inasmuch as he either loses a great deal of incentive to rivalry and better work characteristic of the larger group or forms careless habits of study by being required to review what he has gone over the last five months of the previous school year.

Although permission is given to have beginning child enrolled any time within the first two weeks of the school year it is most desirable for the good of the child to have him enrolled on the first day the schools are opened. In this way, he begins the work of the year with the rest of his grade and is not handicapped as is the child that starts behind his grade.

In order that parents may not overlook any step necessary to have their children enrolled on the first school day, attention here called to the statute law relative to vaccination for smallpox.

This law requires that all children be successfully vaccinated for smallpox before they are admitted to the schools. This applies alike to children entering school for the first time and those who have been in attendance at school with less than three more successful vaccinations.

This law will be strictly enforced in the future and it is suggested that parents who have small children to enter school the coming term beginning in September have them vaccinated not later than August 1st. This would give time for the arms of those children who have good "takes" to heal before the schools open or time for a second and third vaccination if the first and second vaccinations are uncessful.

This suggestion should also be followed by the parents of those children who have been unsuccessfully vaccinated only one of two times. Although according to the best authorities of the medical profession, three unsuccessful vaccinations are not a positive assurance of immunity from smallpox over any period of time, the Board of Education of Kent County, Maryland, will permit the enrollment in the public schools of this county of children who have had that number of unsuccessful vaccinations against small-pox.

Paretns who believe that their children are not in proper physical condition for vaccination should see Dr. Merritt Brice, County Health Officer, Millington, Maryland, about the matter. If he, after examining a child and consulting with the family physician of the child's parents, issues a certificate to the effect that vaccination of the child against small-pok should be postponed due to its physical condition at the time, it will be admitted to the schools for a period not exceeding one year without further examination by the health officer. In a case of this kind it is advisable for the parents to have the child examined every two or three months and have him immunized against small-pox at the earliest date that it is possible to have it done.

In 1922-23, it was found that approximately forty per cent of the white children attending the schools in Kent County had not been successfully vaccinated against small-pox. With but two or three exceptions these children had been vaccinated but their vaccinations did not "take," that is, their vaccinations were unsuccessful. It was thought that this condition should not exist as United States Government statistics show that less than five per cent of the soldiers are immune from small-pox before vaccination against that dreaded disease. An attempt was, therefore, made last year to correct the condition, and, thanks to the untiring efforts of teachers and the assistance of both County and State Deputy Health Officers, there are now but few cases to be corrected. Every effort will be made to complete the work during the year 1924-25.

New Light On Canse of Asthma and Hay Fever

The medical world has been grouping about in the dark for years in an effort to find a "cure" for Asthma and Hay Fever.

These two ailments are undoubtedly among the most annoying and troublesome ailments man or woman can have.

During recent years, however, clinical experience has proven the fact that Asthma and Hay Fever have their seat of origin in the nerves that emanate from the spine, and the cure of course lies in correcting the trouble from its source.

For every effect (ailment) there must be a cause, and chiropractic is most successful because it strikes at the very source of trouble and removes the cause, so that the effect (ailment) disappears.

William Bright, of Worton, Kent county, suffered with Asthma for a long time. Medicine only seemed to aggravate the trouble, and he found himself on the decline. A friend who hal just been cured of a similar ailment took him to Dr. Dill, the Chiropractor, and after a series of Special Adjustments, he was completely restored to health and is now well and strong and advises all who are sick to try Chiropractic.

If you have been ailing talk to someone who has given Chiropractic a fair trial, and you will hear a story of wonderful recovery.
