FARMER'S DAY AUGUST 14

The Board of Directors of the Kent County Farm Bureau have set Thursday, August 14th for a gala day for all Kent County Farmers, their wives and families. Keep this date in mind and make no other engagements for it.

Arrangements are being made for an elaborate program, including an exhibit of fine dairy cattle, demonstrations, music, good speaking and recreation for the occasion. Everyone is urged to bring the old picnic basket and spend the whole day.

Owing to unavoidable circumstances the Chestertown Library will not be open this Saturday, July 26. Fines for that date will not be collected.

FARM FOR RENT

$162,000 MORE FOR KENT FARMERS

Wheat is selling around $1.20 in Kent. This time last year the farmers were selling their crop at 85 and 90 cents. This means an increase of 30 cents in the price Kent farmers received for their wheat. In round numbers there are 36,000 acres sown in wheat in this county the average yield being 15 bushels, a total of 540,000 bushels.. Computing the increase in price received this year over last year to be thirty cents would make a total of $162,000 which represents the increase in value to Kent farmers of their wheat alone.

Corn is up to $1.12.

The American well says that, during the next three months you will be frequently entertained by hearing contentious politicians furiously maintaining that this or that political party put up the price of grains, and therefore farmers, in common gratitude, owe the party in question their votes.

But neither politicians nor a political party did it.

Nor did legislation. Legislation that sought to enhance prices by artifical means Congress refused to enact.

Nor did the establishment of a vast co operative marketing system. No such system has been established.

The advance in the price of grains is due to inscrutable operations of nature which cannot be controlled by man, but determine in agricultural production definite economic effects that cannot be successfully created or prevented by artifices.

In this country a cold, wet spring has reduced the prospective size of the corn crop by half a billion bushels.

In Canada partial crop failure has decreased the prospective world's exportable surpluss of those grains.

Our grains, as a consequence, will be in greater demand.

Farmers in this country will have a prosperous year.

But they owe no gratitude to politicians for that.

If they wish to express appreciation of their good fortune, let them now, as always in such cases, offer thanks where thanks are due—to nature and its God who distributes favors and injuries indiscriminately to the just and the unjust alike.

DEATHS

John Thompson Spencer, 1507 Spruce street, Philadelphia, lawyer and clubman, died suddenly July 16, 1924, at Ochre Point, Newport, R. I. He leaves a widow who was Rebecca Willing Wallace and two sons, Willing, a members of the Diplomatic Corps, and Arthur. The deceased was born at Chestertown, Md., Oct. 1, 1946. He graduated from Washington College in 1866. In addition to his law practice, Mr. Spencer was editor of Wallace's Reports of U. S. Supreme Court Decisions, originated by his father-in-law. The deceased was active in many clubs and civic organizations.

William H. Wallace, a well-known resident, of Church Hill, died at his home in that town on Monday evening shortly after returning from a visit to Chestertown. Mr. Wallace and his son had been here for a short while and upon returning home father told his son that he would put the car in the garage. Mr. Wallace remained longer in the garage than members of his family thought he should and upon going to the garage he was found sitting on the running board of the car suffering from an attack of the heart. He was taken to his home and died before medical aid could be summoned. The deceased was 76 years old and was an uncle of Mrs. J. H. Sides and Harry W. Fallowfield, of Chestertown.

Prof. Hiram E. Pearson died at his late home in Wilmington Wednesday after a long illness, aged 71. He was a former resident of Chestertown where he taught music. He leaves a widow, Mrs. Alice E. Pearson. The funeral will take place this Saturday at 3 p. m., interment in Chester Cemetery, Rev. N. O. Gibson officiating. The bearers will be Harry Fowler, Wm. A. Burke, Harry Moore, Ellsworth Newcomb, Harvey Blyman, Jos. N. Wheatley; C. L. Dodd, undertaker.

RURAL CARRIER EXAMINATION

The United States Civil Service Commission has announced an examination to be held at Chestertown, on August 23, 1924, to fill the position of rural carrier at Rock Hall.

SERIOUS AUTO ACCIDENT

Another serious automobile accident occurred on State road Saturday night between Betterton and Still Pond resulting from the same cause as hundreds of others. In this accident Miss Aletha Willis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Willis, of near Chestertown, and Miss Flora Corey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edw. A. Corey, of near Fairlee, were seriously injured. Two cars, one driven by Chaplin Willis, and another driven by a man from New York endeavored to pass the car of Mrs. Tylden Brice on the narrow stone road at the same time. The New York car struck Mrs. Brice's car causing a puncture and bending a fender. The New York car turned turtle, pinning Misses Willis and Corey under it. Miss Willis sustained a badly fractured collarbone and cut about the body, while Miss Corey suffered severe lacerations of the back, several of the wounds requiring a number of stitches to close. They were brought to the home of Dr. Harry G. Simpers who reduced the fracture of Miss Willis' collarbone and sent her to Easton Hospital. Miss Corey's wounds were treated and she remained at the home of Dr. Simpers until Monday morning when she was taken to her home near Fairlee. Miss Willis was brought from the hospital where she underwent X-ray treatment at her home and is resting comfortably. The other occupants of the car, two New York men and Mrs. Livinston, daughter of Maxwell Bird, of Worton, were not seriously hurt. The car was not damaged except for a broken windshield.

BOOST THIS CAMPAIGN

The campaign of the Chestertown Volunteer Fire Department for $5000 to provide Kent County with adequate county-wide fire fighting apparatus is well under way and already the people are responding nobly to the cause. This is a matter that effects everyone within a striking radius of Chestertown's fire fighters and no one should wait until approached for subscriptions and donations but should lend their contribution at once to the Treasurer.

A tentative working organization is being perfected and those on the job include:

Wm. G. Smythe, President.
W. R. Moody, Campaign Director.
Barber R. Bartley, Treasurer.
Mrs. Wm.B.Usilton, Team Captain.
Mrs. Don Fall, Team Captain.
Frank Miller, Chairman, Millington
Harry Willis, Chairman, Fairlee.
Howard Turner, Chairman, Betterton.
Mrs. Harry Williams, Chairman, Worton.
Elmer Leary, Chairman, Rock Hall.
Joseph George, Chairman, Sudlersville.
R. R. Pennington, Chairman, Galena.

In addition to this temporary skeleton organization every active member of the Fire Company is working hard to put the campaign across, led by Fred Russell, acting Chief.

We want a fire force that will reach every part of the county with instant help in case of need, to say nothing of that part of Queen Anne's lying adjacent to the Chester River.

In Kent and Queen Anne's counties the following are the districts to be covered and their respective quotas:

Chestertown	$2000
Millington	200
Fairlee	150
Betterton	$400
Worton	150
Rock Hall	400
Sudlersville	150
Church Hill	100
Galena	200
Still Pond	150
Lynch	100

There are 5500 fewer deaths per year in Philadelphia than there were before Prohibition went into effect. In the whole United States according to Government reports there are 144,000 fewer deaths than before the abolishing of liquors. Savings amounting to over fifteen billions of dollars are also reported. Schools are also being packed with students. Anybody who takes the trouble to look into this will be ashamed to say that there is more drinking now than before prohibition went into effect. Its the clamour of the bootleger who says that prohibition is a curse. The law is not being enforced sure. Even so there wonderful facts are evident. What further advances will result when the law is put into efficient action.

PROTEST REMOVAL OF POSTOFFICE !

The Citizens of Chestertown Are Unanimous That The New Postoffice Location Is A Step Backward.

L. Bates Russell received notice by mail Sunday night that on August 1, the lease on the present postoffice quarters in the Lyceum Theatre building in the center of the town will be terminated. The government has awarded to Laurence G. Brown, superintendent here of the E. S. Adkins Lumber Company who recently purchased a building lot on Cross street near the Pennsylvania depot, a contract for the erection of a building in which the office will be located. Mr. Brown will be given a lease on the building for ten years.

On August 1, Mr. Brown will begin the erection of a building which will be 32x85 feet, built of stucco with asbestos roof. All the equipment in the building will be new and of the most approved type and there will be private offices for the postmaster, assistant postmaster, and roomy quarters for the rural and city carriers. The contract calls for the completion of the new building by December 1.

There is, considerable opposition to the removal of the postoffice quarters from the center of the town to what is regarded as an inconvenient location, and the various business organizations in the town will make an effort to induce the Postoffice Department to continue to lease the present quarters.

Petitions have been circulated and signed by the business interests and lawyers, and a meeting held Tuesday evening at which a strong protest was registered against the removal of the office. Allan A. Harris presided with Richard Collins, secretary.

A committee composed of Dr. H. Benge Simmons, P. M. Brooks, R. Hynson Rogers, John N. Bennett, Robert R. Hill and A. Parks Rasin, was named to present an appeal to U. S. Senator Weller, Wm. P. Jackson, and Congressman Alan Goldsborough to have them exert their influence with the postiffie authorities and if possible to effect a reconsideration of the Department's decision.

BOY SLAYERS START FIGHT TO ESCAPE ROPE

The curtain went up Wednesday on the most dramatic criminal trial of the present decade—the trial of Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb, Millionaire youths, slayers of Robert Franks, 14-year-old school boy in Chicago.

Chief Justice John R. Calverly, a chunky, grizzled little man noted for his rigid enforcement of the law, is a central figure, for in his hands rests the fate of the two youths—whether they hang, are jailed for life, given a lighter sentence, or sent to an insane asylum.

There is no jury, for the boys pleaded guilty to the crime and the trial is to determine whether there are any "mitigating circumstances" to save them from the gallows. Arrayed against Leopold and Loeb in the role of Nemesis is State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe, a heavy-jawed grim-faced man who is intent upon sending them to the hangsman's noose.

The central figure of the drama today is Jacob Franks, millionaire and aged father of the victim.

The little old man, literally bowed with grief is among the first of the State's witnesses. Franks is to identify the gruesome exhibits, torn and tattered clothing of his son. The clothing was ripped from the child's body in an effort to hide identity of serbice at 7.00, young and old are ex-

The dingy little court room with a capacity of about 250 was jammed with the battery of the defense lawyers, the staff of prosecutors, the four score State witnesses, vertiable army of newspaper men, observers from criminal courts of other cities, leaving very few seats for would-be spectators who jammed the halls and the street in an effort to get a glimpse of a drama.

Resignation of Harvey L. Cooper as State Insurance Commissioner and the appointment of Carville D. Benson to succeed him, both effective August 1, were announced Thursday by Governor Ritchie. Mr. Cooper, who was appointed from Caroline county, is expected to become vice-president of the Continental Life Insurance Company of Wilmington,Del.
