KILLED INSTANTLY BY FALL ON STATE ROAD

H. Mort. Rollison Knocked Off His Truck By Guy Wire Across Public Road Near Urieville Wednesday—Was Hauling Pipe For State.

This community was greatly shocked Wednesday afternoon when it was learned that H. Mort. Rollison had been killed instantly. He owns a big truck and was engaged to haul some ten and twelve foot pipe for State road near Urieville bridge. Rolph Townsend and Wm. Smith were superintending the work and had a number of men employed. Morris Crouch as chauffeur started from the Chestertown depot with a load of this pipe. Mr. Rollison, with his fearlessness, placed a board across one of the pipe, and perched himself there so as to lift limbs and wire out of the way. He was at least 15 feet from the ground. As he went thru town and on the road he waived to friends in his jolly way, and upon reaching Urieville hill, hid behind the tallest pipe, and beat on it, making the help remark, "there must be a devil in that pipe." Morris was told to drive the truck a short distance from the bridge, and just as he started up, a guy wire stretched across the road from two telephone poles, struck the pipes and knocked them over. Mr. Rollison was thrown out like a shot from a gun striking his head on the hard road and killing him instantly. He was quickly brought to town in Schauber's truck and Dr. Copeland, after viewing the body, pronounced him dead. He had a fractured skull and a broken neck. Coroner H. L. Dodd after hearing the facts decided an inquest unnecessary.

The deceased was 47 years of age, was a widower and leaves only distant relatives. For many years he helped the late George R. Rouse in the oil business.

The funeral took place yesterday morning from Christ M. P. Church, Rev. N. O. Gibson officiating. The bearers were Bertie Crouch, J. A. B. Metcalfe, Edw. Ringgold, Ellsworth Newcomb, Geo. W. Carter, Thomas Holdson. C. L. Dodd, undertaker.

DAISY BOWSER KILLED IN TOWN BY AUTO

Daisey Broadway Bowser, wife of James Bowser, colored, was almost instantly killed on Kent street, near Thompson's Corner, about midnight Wednesday, by a Liberty automobile driven by Andrew Henry, colored, of Georgetown. There was a dance in the K. of P. hall Corner of Calvert and Kent street and quite a crowd in and about the building.

Eliza Turner and Daisy started up the road toward Hudson's Corner and, in crossing the road, the auto struck Daisy, knocked her senseless and injured Eliza's arm. Daisy was carried to Dr. Richmond's office, near by, and he advised her being taken to Easton Hospital. A start was made but she died before reaching the bridge.

A coroner's inquest was held in the court house Thursday with A. S. Turner foreman, and Dr. H. L. Dodd, coroner, in charge. Evidence was produced that Andrew Henry had Clements Wright, Bessie Briscoe and Gildie Wickes in the car when he struck Daisy. That he was going about 35 miles and that when he struck her he dimmed his lights and went up High street, but afterward returned. That night the three with Henry went to Worton Point and remained there until Asbury Henry, the father, found him and delivered him to the sheriff.

Olie Dent says he heard Henry tell Daisy "I'll get you before the night is done."

The jury rendered a verdict that the deceased came to her death by being struck by an auto driven by Andrew Henry and charging him with manslaughter. He will be held for action of grand jury.

MRS. CHARLES MILLER HURT

While returning to their home in Locust Grove on Monday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Charles Miller and three children escaped serious injury, when their machine a Ford sedan collided with a large sedan, its occupants being ladies from Washington on their return home.

The driver, one of the ladies, suddenly stopped her machine without giving any warning to Mr. Miller and he going at a low rate of speed ran into the car upsetting his machine and throwing his family out pinning his little daughter under the car and badly lacerating her limb. His wife also received an ugly gash in her head.

They were picked up and brought to the home of Mrs. Miller's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edw. Ringgold where Dr. Copeland was called and rendered medical attention, taking six stitches in the child's leg, also three stitches in Mrs. Miller's head.

They remained at Mrs. Ringgold's over night returning to their home Tuesday. Mr. Miller's car was badly damaged.

Other Auto Accidents
