RADIO ANOTHER WONDER

While we often wonder how the people of this section pay for the automobile they buy, and puzzle our heads over the source of their operating revenues and fear lest the riding habit bankrupts the people who insist on forgetting how to walk, we have nevertheless, profound respect for the revolution that the automobile produced in the social and economic life of the nation.

To appreciate the value of the "car" it is necessary to compare the present with the past. In the old days when a rural citizen was drawn on the jury it meant a slow trip to town and a boarding house, but nowadays a farmer, serving on the jury drives twenty or thirty miles to his home after the day's session and returns the next morning. A trip to town, thanks to the automobile, is about as exciting as the rising of the sun.

Great as has been the influence of the motor vehicles on the life of the nation, its value lies in its ability to carry people to places worthwhile where they can obtain amusment and culture. The advent of the radio has carried to people everywhere at a cheaper price the same opportunities of amusement and culture and therein the radio will earn the commanding respect and culture of the thinker who assesses values in the progress of the race.

The radio you realize, is in its infancy. It has only crawled. Receiving sets, now wonderful will be greatly improved. Broadcasting stations are increasing in number and the power of their signals are being multiplied to extend the range of their programs. The listeners-in can even now, on a favorable evening enjoy what they select from a choice including opera, drama, comedy, speeches, lectures, regular talks on assigned subjects with music of every kind and songs of all types in every range of the voice.

The future development of the radio will make possible the education of every being in the United States in his own house. It will transfer news, eventually to every doorstep on the instant of its occurrence. It will lead culture into the homes of the nation and stir the imagination of the young, widening their intellectual horison and broadening the path they walk in life. It is a great achievement. It is being developed, and when perfected will be no more like the present stage than the model automobie of this year is like the model of 1902.

KENT NEWS $1.50 PER YEAR.

The opening of Washington College this week for its 148th year marked an important event in the history of the College and town. The fact that the largest Freshman class in the history of the college enrolled for the year is most gratifying. It speaks well for the excellent President and those men who are now giving him hearty support. The Alumni also are now working for the college as never before and their efforts are meeting with success. May this be a beginning of great things for Washington College. There is every reason why it should have at least 500 students.

PASS IT ON

This world would be a much better place in which to live and many sad hearts would be gladdened if the homly and simple philosophy of these verses were part of our daily rule and conduct. It does not cost anything to "pass on the praise," but it pays in big dividends to all concerned:

TELL HIM NOW

If with pleasure you are viewing any work a man is doing,
If you like him or you love him
tell him now;
Don't withold your appreciation till the parson makes oration
And he lies snowy lilies o'er his brow;
For no matter how you shout it, he won't really care about it;
He won't know how many tear-drops you have shed;
If you think some praise is due him
now's the time to slip it to him
For he can not read his tombstone
when he's dead.
More than fame and more than money is the comment kind and sunny
And the hearty, warm approval of a friend:
For it gives to life a savor, and it makes you stronger, braver;
And it gives you heart and spirit
to the end;
If he earns your praise bestow it; if you like him let him know it;
Let the words of true encouragement be said;
Do not wait till life is over and he's underneath the clover,
For he can not read his tombstone
when he's dead.
