DR. W. S. SELBY'S HOME BURNED IN ROCK HALL

A mother, who two days before had given birth to a son, was carried from a burning house at Rock Hall at 2 o'clock Saturday morning.

Mrs. Owen Selby, the young mother, and daughter-in-law of Dr. and Mrs. W. O. Selby, whose house was destroyed by the fire, is suffering no ill effects at the home of Mrs. Painter, sister to Mrs. W. O. Selby and her newborn son is doing well.

The Selby home was destroyed with a loss of approximately $10,000 partially covered by $5,000 insurance. The fire was caused by a defective flue and started in the roof.

Dense smoke pouring into the second floor rooms awakened the family andtogether they groped their way down the smoke filled stairway and called for help from neighbors.

By that time tongues of flames were beginning to shoot through the roof. An improvised stretcher was quickly provided and Mrs. Selby and her baby were carried to safety by the husband and neighbors.

Before the Chestertown Fire Company arrived, the house was a mass of flames and little could be done to check the fire. Nearby homes were protected by streams of water poored on the roofs.

Some furniture on the first floor of the home and a few pieces from the second floor were saved. The garage was also saved.

ANNAPOLIS NOTES OF INTEREST

Without debate, the Senate Thursday passed the thirteen bills which form the compromise oyster legislation program. Similar bills are pending in the House, but no serious objection to them is anticipated.

The supporters of the measure to increase the salaries of judges of the Court of Appeals and of the Circuit Courts in the counties agreed to lower figures than those first contained in their bill. Instead of $12,500 for the judges of the Court of Appeals, the figure for them was set at $11,500; and instead of $10,000 for associate judges in the county circuits, the figure was set at $8,500.

* * *

The creation of a State debt of $200,000 to pay the present indebtednss of St. John's and Washington Colleges and for general building construction and equipment purposes at the latter institution, is asked by two bills introduced in the Senate.

$71,000 is asked for Western Md College also.

Fishermen from the northern half of the Eastern Shore packed the hall and galleries of the House Thursday afternoon to protest against the passage of House Bills No. 207, 208, 230 and 231, intended to regulate the taking of fish from the waters of the Chesapeake Bay and its tributaries.

As in the case of the oyster hearigns, the assertion of the fishermen was "there are plenty of fish, they don't need conservation and all we fishermen want is to be let alone under the existing laws."

W. Mason Shehan, of the Easton bar, the principal speaker, said that three years ago the conservationists insisted that unless some preventive measures were taken the rock fish would all be gone within two years, yet today they were more plentiful than ever before. Applause greeted this and other statements of Mr. Shehan.

Rock Hall turned out in force and Kent's representatives are standing by the watermen nobly.

Senator S. Scott Beck and Delegates E. C. Bowers and Arthur H Brice, of Kent, were aomng the company of Maryland legislators that made the trip to Western Maryland last week. They report a splendid time and the big tire factory at Cumberland and the trip down in the coal mine were a revelation to them.

A BILL INTRODUCED TO ESTABLISH NEW SHORE ALMSHOUSE

Eight of the nine State Senators representing the counties of the Eastern Shore joined in the introduction of a bill prepared by Senator Orlando Harrison, providing for the abolishment of county almshouses and the erection of a central institution at some suitable spot on the shore.

The measure authorizes the appropriation of $50,000 for building purposes. Inmates of the county homes would be sent to the central institution and counties would be charged at the rate of $50.00 for each person It is stated that each county would be saved several thousands of dollars annually in the care of homeless and friendless citizens.

NEGRO ASSAULTS WHITE WOMAN

While working in her home on a farm on Kent Island, in the Chesapeake Bay, Mrs. Roy Radcliffe, a white woman about 35 years old, was attacked and criminally assaulted by a six-foot Negro, Millard Thomas, Monday afternoon. The woman was found unconscious by her husband, who had been some where on the farm, several hours after she had been left by the Negro. Thomas is 26 years old.

Sheriff Frank Whitely was notified at once and within three hours he arrested Thomas in the little town of Stevensville, four miles from the Radcliffe farm. Under cover of darkness and before the news had spread Thomas was spirited away by the police officials to Chestertown where he was kept over night and carried to Baltimore Thursday night.

Thomas is known on the island as one of the hired help on the farm of Frank Cockey, whose property adjoins the Radcliffe farm. As much as could be learned from Mrs. Radcliff, she was alone in the house and her husband was away working. She knew Thomas, having seen him on the Cockey form.
