CHAUTAUQUA HERE AUGUST 15-21ST

LOUISE STALLINGS
SOPRANO

Miss Louise Stallings, popular New York Mezzosoprano, who appears here in recital on the Chautauqua platform on August 17th, assisted by Marion Carley at the piano, is an old friend of music lovers in Chestertown for she has appeared here before as a Chautauqua feature and it is explained by the local committee that they arranged for her return due to the repeated requests that she be secured for a return engagement.

This popular young artist came to New York from Illinois when she at once secured the solo position in a New York Church—a position which she still retains. She has sung in many of the country clubs, including the Sleepy Hollow and Westchester-Biltmore Clubs and in private musicals in the homes of well known New Yorkers.

CHILD HYGIENE TRUCK COMING

During the month of August and September the Bureau of Child Hygiene of the State Department of Health is sending a movable Baby Welfare Station to the Eastern Shore. This Baby Welfare Station consists of a large truck equipped with a complete examining room where physicians and nurses will make physical examinations of children between the ages of one month to six years. The truck will operate in Cecil, Kent and Queen Anne's Counties. It will be in Kent County for approximately ten days beginning August 22nd.

Different points in the county will be visited each day and a special effort will be made to visit the most desolate parts. There will be a physician and two nurses on the truck to do the physical examinations. The mothers are invited and urged to bring their children to these clinics as they will have an opportunity to have their children given a thorough physical examination free of any charge. Mrs. Katherine Stuart, the County Nurse, is arranging the schedule of the different points to be visited which will be announced at an early date.

Another Paradox

The trouble with being thrown on your own resources is that it so often happens when you haven't any.

PAINT COMPANIES MERGE

Announcement has been made by A. C. Ernst, Managaing Partner of Ernst & Ernst, Certified Public Accountants, of the consolidation of interests of six of Cleveland's old and well known paint companies, viz: The Arco Company, The Eclipse Paint & Manufacturing Company, The Crescent Paint & Manufacturing Company, The Sterling Products Company, The Iroquois Manufacturing Company and The Argus Manufacturing Company. The new company, which will be known as The Arca Company, is charatered under the laws of the State of Ohio and has issued 100,000 shares of no par stock. Sales of the new company are estimated at from $5,000,000 to $10,000,000. Officials of the new company state that the combined manufacturing facilities of these companies enable the new company to supply a complete line of paints varnishes, enamels, lacquers and allied products to meet every finishing requirement, and the combined activities of the companies will extend to practically every country of the world. By agreement between the large stockholders the firm of Ernst & Ernst, Certified Public Accountants was retained to work out the retails of the consolidation and Mr. A. C. Ernst, the head of that firm gave the matter his personal attention.

G. Frank Clark, of Chestertown, has represented this company for more than 20 years and is still in business. Write or call on him when in need of paint or roof coatings.

No Sale

A Salem woman called a ticket agent on the telephone and asked him to route her to some obscure place in a Southern state. The agent never heard of the place, but he went through the railroad guide and figured out a route necessitating numerous changes and connections. Armed with all this information he returned to the telephone, gave it to the inquirer, and then heard her say: "Well, do you suppose a letter would make it in the same time? I was writing one to the town and wanted to know how long it would take to get there." Despite all his trouble he didn't sell the woman a ticket.—Salem News.

Fine California Gems

From near Ramona, Calif., come lovely spessartite garnets, very fine gems of from three to six carats each, and deep red to light yellow in hue. One mine produces spessartite garnets of from one to six carats—flawless beautiful gems of the finest quality, that are retailed at $20 a carat. Other mines farther south furnish alluring essonite or hyacinth garnets, some of them very large in size and of the best quality. Some of them are very rich in color, with fulvous shades of red and yellow, or a beautiful orange-red peculiar to certain localities in our Southern wonderland of gems.

Complimentary

Seldom was old Tamson, the roadmender, to be seen in the local church, yet on this particular occasion he had managed it somehow.

The minister, as he came out after the service, was quick to notice the old chap as he hobbled toward the gateway.

"Hello, Tamson!" called the minister. "Did you like my sermon?"

"Aye, sir," answered the old fellow. "It was jist like water tae a droonin' man!"—London Tit-Bits.

Ring Cures

Until quite recently the belief that rings could cure disease was held by many. The London Medical Journal for 1815 reports that a silver ring worn constantly by the patient cured a case of epilepsy when ordinary medical means had failed. There was a superstition in Somerset that a gold ring rubbed on the eye was a certain cure for a stye. In the absence of a gold ring the mere rubbing of the ring finger on the part would have the same effect.

A Blinding Color

A Detroit man who is color blind can discern only yellow. The other day he went on a shopping tour and believed he had purchased a smart new brown suit. When his wife observed it she gasped, and then burst into tears. It was a violent green.

Event in Nation's History

The first Roman Catholic mass in Maryland was celebrated by Father Andrew White, S. J., on St. Clement's island, near the mouth of the Potomac river on March 24, 1634. The worshipers were the first settlers of Maryland.

Inventor Once Barber

Sir Richard Arkwright, the English inventor of the cotton spinning frame, who was the first to use machinery on a large scale instead of hand labor in textile manufactories, was originally a barber by trade.

Misdirected Activity

The other day a fine bird dog stood stock still in the position of point until its muscles almost atrophied. It was a fine display of the bird dog craft, except that the dog was pointing a stuffed owl. Some men are like that in their fine gestures.—Atchison Globe.

Cost of Curiosity

A stranger in a western city noticed an odd crank on the meter of the taxicab in which he was riding. Becoming curious he turned this crank a wee bit to see what would happen. The meter immediately added 50 cents to his fare, according to the Dearborn Independent.
