Kent News

SATURDAY, AUGUST 6, 1927

President Coolidge, at his summer home in South Dakota, Wednesday handed to newspaper men the following brief typewritten statement:—

"I do not choose to run for President in 1928."

The statement came as a great surprise to politicians, some of whom think the President will absolutely decline to be a candidate but the majority of whom, from reports, seem to think that he is only waiting to be urged a little, and that if the G. O. P. insists he will again be the Republican standard bearer.

THE FARMING SITUATION

In the Kent News today farmers are advertising 133 horses and 280 cows besides other personalty and with the determination to quit farming. There are various reasons assigned for this condition. Some because of bad health, others because of labor while others are embarking in some other business. The News adds its influence to the following from the Centreville Observer:

To the farmer who is discouraged who is thinking seriously of leaving the farm, we venture this single word of advice:

DON'T!

In the first place, the average farmer who contemplates the abandonment of agriculture pursuits is also probably planning to go to the city with the expectation of finding agreeable, satisfactory and lucrative employment.

And there is where the REAL danger lies.

For in the city today there is an appaling amount of unemployment. Men and women who have lived all their lives in the city; who know every avenue of approach to positions are finding it increasingly difficult to get jobs that really pay.

The fact of the matter is that the average city is already OVER-CROWDED. Even experienced workers in important trades are without work. Which means that for the individual without PARTICULAR training in city work there is hard sledding ahead.

At least the average farmer is making a comfortable living, even if he is not getting ahead rapidly. His children are well clothed and are being educated. His home is cozy and he enjoys all the necessities and many luxuries of life. To fly from this certainty to the uncertainty of city life, at this time is most unwise.

Advice is not always welcome. Especially when it is FREE. But we believe this is GOOD advice.

DON'T GIVE UP THE FARM. Stick to it. A better day is dawning—much better than is now in prospect in the cities!

BOY KING'S WEALTH $70,000,000

Little five year old King Michael who last week sat in a $10 American chair, ate bread and jam and cookies and wore a bib just like any other baby, is today probably the richest, royal or plebian—in the world.

Under Ferdinand's will he received property valued at $20,000,000, about $400,000 in cash and all the crown jewels which have been appraised at $35,000,000. He will also receive a civil list of $500,000 annually and emoluments of $2,000,000, bringing his total fortune to nearly $70,000,000.

Before his grandfather's death, Michael's mother, the Princess Helen, spent about $50 a year on his toys, and about $300 on his clothes and shoes.

IMPRESSIONS OF TOURISTS

That impressions of tourists who motor through Del-Mar-Va are not only favorable but of such a nature that they in many instances result in voluntary expression of approval is illustrated in a letter received by the Del-Mar-Va Eastern Shore Association, addressed to one of the Governors, from Mr. W. A. Ansley, of Thermo Mills, Inc., 345 Broadway, New York City, N. Y.

While Mr. Ansley's letter is but one of a material number received paying compliment to the Peninsula, his expressions are such that an excerpt or two is offered. He writes:

"In the first place, I have been pretty well all over the East, and as far South as Virginia, and never have I run on to such marvelous concrete roads, with all the most modern and up-to-date danger protections in the way of signs for motoring.

"Secondly, I have never been in any section of the country where the people were so uniformly courteous, hospitable and reasonable in their charges.

"Thirdly, I never saw such wonderful fruit orchards, both as to blooms and cultivation. Some sections of the country have done a lot of bragging about their fruit blooms, etc., and I doubt if Del-Mar-Va is second to any in this respect. Even stormy weather couldn't interfere with a motor trip through the Peninsula everything else is so unusually pleasing, and I feel pretty certain if people who enjoy motoring knew what awaits them there in the way of a motor trip, the roads would be crowded."
