The Eastern Shore Weekly

MAGAZINE SECTION of Kent News.

CHESTERTOWN, MD., SATURDAY, OCT. 1, 1927.

GUARDING THOSE WHO SLEEP—Old Pine, covered with evergreen, in corner All Hallow Church-yard, Snow Hill.

THE LAST DIP OF THE SEASON—Surf-bathing at Ocean City continues with unabated popularity at this well-known Eastern Shore resort.

WILL GUIDE MARINERS NO MORE Old Henlopen Lighthouse at Rehoboth, recently fell a victim to the elements.

PREPARING "SPUDS" FOR MARKET—A scene in Somerset.

A BEAUTY SPOT IN CHESTERTOWN—The Hubbard Mansion,

CENTRAL FIGURES IN BATTLE FOR MILLION—Hearing of the suit instituted by half-sister and half-brother, to break the Will of the late Dr. Edward E. Tull, retired millionaire-surgeon, has been continued by the Somerset County court until the April term. Above, to the right of Dr. Tull, is seen Ruth and Edna Davy, foster children of the surgeon at the time of their adoption. They have since grown to young womanhood and are students at Bryn Mawr College. The contested Will leaves the entire estate valued at a million dollars to the Somerset girls.

©Maryland State Archives, msa_sc6000_23_1-0401