Catching terrapins has been a favorite and profitable sport with some of the local residents during the past cold spell. A sportsman of near Townsend, found by walking on the ice in shallow ponds in this locality he could see terrapins crawling on the bottom of the pond. Holes were punched in the ice over the terrapins and they were soon hauled out, crab nets being used for this purpose. The terrapins proved to be exceptionally large and they found ready sale.

Wilbur Ross Hubbard received a broken wrist Tuesday week when his horse fell over a fence while fox hunting. Not realizing the seriousness of the injury Mr. Hubbard rode home, and later went to the Easton Hospital for an X-ray which showed that the large bone in the wrist was fractured. He returned to Washington on Wednesday.

The ordinance passed by the Mayor and City Council of Crisfield, makes it a violation to roller skate in the concrete roadbed of any street, or within one hundred feet of any public building. It also prohibits the practice of towing on automobiles or other vehicles. Violations are punishable by heavy fines and imprisonment, and it is said that the ordinance will be rigidly enforced. Under the terms of the ordinance, children are given the privilege of skating on sidewalks and on the sides of the roadway, so long as they do not approach too close to public buildings where the noise of their presence would be annoying.

A PRETTY WEDDING

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mrs. J. W. Newton, in Kennedyville, on Saturday evening, January 21st at 7.30 p. m. The contracting parties being Arthur Cleaver, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Cleaver, and Miss Ruth M. Newton. At the appointed hour, the sweet strains of Lohengrin Wedding March which was charmingly rendered by Mrs. E. R. Morris, sister of the bride, announced of the bridal party, who preceded by the flower girl, Louise Morris, niece of the bride, dressed in pink voile, carrying a basket of sweet peas, followed by the groom and his best man, who was his only brother, W. B. Cleaver, Jr., then came the bride with the maid of honor, Miss Mildred, sister of the bride, advanced beneath an arch of evergreen with bow of white satin ribbon tied in the and ferns, under which the ceremony was in a very impressive manner, performed by the Rev. Colvin Randall, of St. James M. P. Church, assisted by Rev. H. G. Hager, of Kennedyville. The bride was becomingly gowned in a costume of Mother Goose georgette with silk ecru lace, tan silk hose and brown suede slippers. Her only ornament being a white gold platinum breastpin, a gift from the groom. She carried a bouquet of white carnations and bride's roses.

The maid of honor, Miss Mildred Newton, was dressed in a spruce crepe de chine, with brown suede slippers and carried bouquet of pink carnations with fern.

Many beautiful presents were received.

After refreshments were served, the bride and groom immediately left for a trip amid showers of rice and good wishes.

On their return they will reside in the former home of the bride where the groom is engaged in farming.

Only the immediate families and near relatives were present.

Miss Mildred Ervin and Franklin Palmatory, of Massey, motored to Elkton Saturday and were quietly married in that town. Mrs. Palmatory is the oldest daughter of Mrs W. O. Ervin, of Sudlersville, and is quite popular among the younger set.

Trappers of muskrats on the marshes along the Delaware river, also along the various creeks report that there are more rats on the marshes this year than there has been for several years and the price of fur is good. Some of the owners trap the marshes themselves, while others rent them for the season, getting a high figure for a marsh of any size.

SPORTFOLIO

BY WILL U.

Well folks, another week has gone by and Tom Kibler's Flying Pentagon have three more wins to their credit. It really is quite a glorious feeling but, we don't want to become over-confident. As Tom says, "Every game is a ball game and we want to win them one at a time."

Washington College meets Gallaudet in the local gym tonight. Of course we're all going to be there and see the "speed-boys" do their part. By the way, don't forget that for every W. C. home game reserve seat tickets can be bought at Sterlings, Stams and Bordleys.

Chestertown High and Easton are playing the preliminary tonight.

The local boys have improved greatly since the season began and have demonstrated that they have plenty of scoring power. Tuesday night they defeated St. James 91-16; establishing a scoring record for the Washington College gym.

We see, "by the papers," that John Hopkins is leading the Maryland State Collegiate league- Well, we wish 'em luck but,—we think that there will be a slight change before the month is over.

Jimmy Chapman, for the past two years a member of the Washington basket ball squad, is rumored to be going to the University of Maryland in February to complete his college course. Jimmy also played on the football team and was a member of the track team.

The Washington Freshman are by far from being the underdogs in the college basketball league. They have won three games with no losses, and are undisputed leaders.

On February 3 the Mt. St. Mary's basket ball team play the Flying Pentagon in the local gym.

We think that this will undoubtedly be the best home game of the season, and one of the hardest to win. So far the Mountaineers are undefeated and have the reputation of having one of their best teams in years.

The Betterton Bayside Land Company held its annual stockholders meeting Friday evening. The following were elected: President, Howard Turner; vice president, Hon. L. W. Wickes; secretary-treasurer, Wm. F. Russell; directors, Harvey Brice, T. W. Perkins, F. M. Hymiller and officers named above. The company is in fine shape.

The Chestertown High School is planning to give an operetta entitled "The Gypsy Rover" on February 12 and 21.

It is reported that Frank Ford, of Rock Hall, will remove to Chestertown and take charge of the Texaco oil business here.

Uncle Sam

As Friend to Friend!

Uncle Sam—Oh, Prince of Riches!
Monied King, the nations o'er,
Think full deep, pull in your breeches,
And attend your neighbors more.

Sam, you're free and ever ready
With your money, with amends,
But your brain's a wee bit groggy
In the art of forming friends.

Money, money, golden money!
There are other gifts in life,
Cogent more than potent money,
'Mid the peace or inter-strife.

Forget, not I, the stupid Germans,
Chuck a-full of martial spore!
Didn't care a damn or demons
Where or how they entered war.

Bravely bold, in fearless duty,
Fought for flag like men insane,
But it's wise to know what's duty,
Ere you give your life in vain.

Mother-wit as well as bounty
Call upon a Nation's claims,
Uncle Sam, you'd best be friendly,
Sit with others, search their aims!

Fetid fun to mix with others,
Tangle up in their furore,
But we've got to live the factors,
To prevent a needless war.

Little rows like scintillations
Crackled in the underwood,
Burst into great conflagrations,
Ere we knew or understood.

When it happened, we were busy,
Couldn't see our lot or part,
But in retrospect, it's easy,
It was our war from the start.

This old world is getting smaller,
Isolations don't exist!
Samuel, you'd best think deeper,
Guard those riches and assist.

War is Hell! as has been spoken,
Thunder! flame! and poison gas!
Women, youth, and little children,
Torn and twisted, in the mass.

War may happen, ever happen,
Long as love with hatred last,
But some wars need never happen
If all help—and drop the past.

There's a wondrous flag in vision,
Let us call it—Might Have Been—
It is white, with plain inscription—
"Peace on Earth, Good Will toward Men."

'Tis a dream, it comes from dreamland,
But it does and will persist,
Guard the peace as done in State-land,
Stop the rows, ere they exist!

Such progress might take an eon,
But a thought must have its birth,
And if true is worth discussion
Round a table on the Earth.

Millennium! millennium!
The cry of laziness!
Dismiss from mind millennium!
And fight 'gainst brutalness!

Hate and envy—bad, bad business!
Though we think we're playing fair;
Uncle Sam—to Hell with weakness!
Pick your place, and choose your chair!

"This America is only you and me—"
Walt Whitman.
