Prof. Vautier entertained a fine audience in the court house Monday evening on current events under the auspices of the Literary Club. Prof. Vautier has been a suffer from neuritis.

The Commerce Committee of the Senate Friday reported favorably the bill introduced by Senator Millard E. Tydings providing for an extension of one to three years for commencing and completing the construction of the proposed Chesapeake Bay bridge.

The bridge, running from a point south of Back River, Baltimore county, to Kent county, must be approved by Maj.-Gen. Edgar Jadwin, chief of engineers. It already has the approval of Dwight F. Davis, Secretary of War.

DR. J. A. STEVENS LEG MUST BE AMPUTATED

It has been stated by surgeons in atendance at the bedside of Dr. Jas. A. Stevens, in the Church Home Hospital, that his leg must be amputated but they are withholding the operation as long as can be done believing that more of his limb can be saved.

Dr. Stevens froze his right leg while attending to his duties on Saturday, January 28th, and was taken to the Church Home Hospital in Baltimore the following Monday.

It was stated that he would lose his leg just below the knee.

At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Kent County Farm Bureau the following officers were elected: President, E. Thomas Massey, of Massey; vice president James E. Morris, of Worton; secretary-treasuer, Wm. G. Smyth, Chestertown. These officers, with Edgar R. Pennington, of Kennedyville, and Linwood A. Sutton, of Chestertown, constitute the executive committee. A committee composed of E. Thomas Massey, Wm. G. Smyth, County Agent Horace B. Derrick and Stanley B. Sutton, was appointed to device ways and means of conducting a campaign to develop each industry on a scale that will bring larger profits to the farmers.

Howard Woodall

Captain Howard Woodall, age 61, of 706 North Franklin street, Wilmington, for 15 years a pilot for the Wilmington Steamboat Company, died in St. Frances Hospital shortly after 12 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, following a three-months' illness from heart and kidney trouble. Captain Woodall was stricken ill on Nov. 8 and was compelled to relinquish his duties as captain of the City of Wilmington.

Captain Woodall was born and reared in Kent County, Md. He has lived in the city since entering the employ of the steamboat company fifteen years ago. He was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Edward Woodall and is survived by his widow, Mrs. Mary Woodall, but no children. From early manhood he has been a licensed pilot for Delaware and Chesapeake bays and their tributaries.

Miss Mary Lockwood Price

Miss Mary Lockwood Price died in the Delaware Hospital, Wilmington, Saturday evening about 6 o'clock. Miss Price went to the hospital last week for treatment and was seized with a heart attack, Saturday, which resulted in her death. She had been suffering from hardening of the arteries.

Miss Price, who was 73 years old, had spent practically all her life in Middletown. She had been an active member of St. Anne's P. E. Church there. One brother, Samuel Price, survives.

Dr. Jacob Oliver Williams, 49 years old, of Smyrna, died in the Delaware Hospital Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The body was turned over to Coroner Nichols, who expressed the belief that death was due to acute alcoholism. Dr. Williams was a well known veterinarin of Smyrna. He is said to have drunk a quantity of liquor believed to have contained poison, and in an effort to counteract the effects, swallawed an overdose of ipecac as an emetic.

John S. (Frank) Kelly, undisputed boss of Baltimore politics, died on Thursday morning aged 69. Mahon, his mate, is ill at his home in Rennert Hotel. Loden and Padgett will try win leadership but Gov. Ritchie no doubt will hold the seat of dictatorship for the present.

GIRL-BRIDE REFUSES TO RETURN TO CLASS

A telegram dated, Pennsville, Feb. 6, 1928, says: "Antonia Isabella, 14-year-old daughter of Angelo Isabella, a villager at Deepwater, Pa., cast sly glances from behind the window-shades of her little home across the canal toward the barber shop of Tony Merindino, 35 years old.

She and Tony eloped three weeks ago to Chestertown, Md., and were married. She had given her age as 18 years. Her parents disapproved so strongly of the marriage that they insisted Antonia stay at home when the couple returned and were given a reception at the bride's home.

The girl-bride declared she would stay with her husband. Then the indignant parents had their unwelcome son-in-law arrested and held under $1500 bail for court on an abduction charge. Even then Antonia would not return home. Her father had her taken into custody as incorrigible and she spent a day and night in jail.

Moist-eyed, Antonia finally went back to her home and obeyed her father's edict that she take off her wedding ring. She says she won't go back to the village school, where she had been a pupil before her elopment, but will wait until she grows up and can rejoin her Tony. Across the canal the lonely barber says that he, too, will wait."
