KENT NEWS.

CHESTER TOWN, Md.

SATURDAY MORNING, NOV. 15, 1856.

THE ELECTION.—The returns received does not differ materially from those published last week, except Illinois, which votes for Buchanan. The vote stands thus—Buchanan, 174; Fillmore 8; Fremont 110. California to hear from.

DEATH OF HON. J. M. CLAYTON.—It is with feelings of the deepest regret that we record the death of this distinguished statesman. The event took place at Dover, Del., on Sunday last.

THANKSGIVING.—Thursday next the 20th inst., is the day set apart by the Governor of Maryland, and some twenty other States, as a day of Thanksgiving and Prayer. We presume the day will be observed and service held in the different churches.

COURT.—Court was held on Wednesday and Thursday but nothing transacted of any moment. The trial of Alfred Reed, fn., indicted for the murder of Geo Vansant, was removed to Cecil.

John Neal (slave of James E. Barroll, Esq.) was found guilly of an assault and battery with intent to kill Emory James, fn. Sentenced to 5 years imprisonment in the Penitentiary.

Fremont received 281 votes in the whole State.

FATAL AFFRAY.—Bailey Hickman, Esq., of Worcester county, was killed at Berlin, in that county, on the day of election, by Mr. John H. Snead. The difficulty arose from politics.

ACTION OF SUGAR ON THE TEETH.—The Charleston (S. C.) Medical Journal states that M. Larez, in the course of his investigations on the teeth, arrived at the following conclusions:

"1st. Refined sugar, from either cane or beets, is ingurious to healthy teeth, either by immediate contact with these organs or by the gas developed, owing to its stoppage in the stomach.

"2d. If a tooth is maccrated in a saturated solution of sugar it is so much altered in the chemical composition that it becomes gelatious, and its enomel opaque spongy and easily broken.

"3d. This modification is due, not to free acid, but to a tendency of sugar to combine with the calcarebus basis of the tooth."

The foregoing conclusions are correct, and candies and condiments should be avoided. They should be kept free from children especially. It is well known that maple sugar renders teeth tender and sensitive.

HOW TO SAVE CORN.—We are authorised by a gentleman of much experience, to say to the farmers, that if instead of putting their corn, after shucking, on the barn floor, they will make a layer of rails elevated one foot from the floor, the corn will be preserved in much better condition as the air passing underneath dries the corn far more rapidly and thus prevents the blue mold in the cob, which damages the corn very much.

☞A Cabin Boy on board a ship was called up to be whipped for some misdemeanor. Little Jack went crying and trembling, and said to the captain:

"Pray, sir, will you wait til I say my prayers."

"Yes," was the stern reply.

"Well then," replied Jack looking up and smiling triumphantly, "I'll say them when I get ashore."

☞A Western editor wants to know why the law recently enacted against carrying concealed weapons, applies to doctors who carry their pills in their pocket.

AN INDIAN SUPERSTITION.—Among the numerous lakes which in the Western States of the Union, pay the tribute of their waters to the great Lake Ontario, that of Saratoga, is principally remarkable for the beauty of the surrounding landscape and for the calm which reigns around it, ever undisturbed by the winds and storms.

This personal quietude of the beauteous locality has given rise to a superstitious belief among the Indians. They say that the Great Spirit who dwells here wishes not the slightest noise to ruffle the tranquility of his retreat and will punish the rashness of the one who, in crossing the lake should utter a single word; the boat they believe would instantly sink.

Sometime since an English lady embarked on Lake Saratoga in a canoe manned by Indians, who did not fail before starting to give her to understand that if she desired to avoid exposing herself to certain death, she would have to observe profound silence until the other side should be reached. They started, the day delightfully calm, not a breath of air was stirring, and the canoe glided as noiselessly as a shadow over the scarcely rippled waters.

About a mile from the shore, that is about the middle of the Lake, the lady, wishing to convince the indians of the folly of their superstition, uttered as loud a cry as she was able. Terror seized the Indians, their countenances were marked with its strongest lines—they expected to perish instantaneously. Nevertheless they plied their oars with mechanical energy in silence, and the opposite shore was reached almost with the rapidity of an arrow. This reached, the fair Anglaise began to banter the Indian chief on their credulity. He with a haughty, disdainful air, however retorted:

"Madam!—The Great Spirit is indulgent and compassionate, he knows that a white woman cannot control her tongue!"

VERDICT OF A NEGRO INQUEST.—"We, de underscribed darkies, bein' a Kurners Jury ob disgust, to sit on de body ob de nigger Sambo, now dead and gone before us, had been sittin' on de said niggar aforesaid, did on the night ob de fusteenth ob November, came to his deaf by fallin' from de said riber, whar de said Kurners Jury ob disgust, find he was subsecomely drowned, and arterwards was washed on de riber side, whar we suppose he frose to deff."

☞A woman was giving evidence in a certain case, when she was asked by the lawyer—

"Was the young woman virtuous, previous to this affair?"

"Was she what?"

"Virtuous; was she chaste?"

"Chaste? she was chased about a quarter of a mile!"

☞Uncommonly intelligent are the coroner's juries in Mississippi. Recently twelve men in Warren county in that State returned a verdict that "the deceased died by the will of God or some other disease unknown to the Jury."

☞"Thanks!" muttered our bachelor friend, "no more women in Heaven, they can't get in. Their hoops are so broad, they will have to go the broad road!—None of these fashionables can ever crowd through the narrow gate."

Something in that.
