WRECKS CAR AND DISAPPEARS

When John Waller, son of C. J. Waller, of near Chestertown, was returning to Chestertown from Middletown last Sunday evening the auto mobile he was driving and which belongs to his father, overturned in some manner a few miles from here. The car was discovered by passing motorists and later identified by the license plates. It was brought to a local garage.

During this procedure no trace of the driver could be found. It was pretty well felt that no serious harm could have come to the driver.

Tuesday the boy was located at the home of his brother in Germantown. Pa. Afraid to return home and tell of the wreck the boy decided to make his way to the home of his brother, some seventy miles from the scene of the accident.

John Waller has been employed by Foster Smith, of near Chestertown.

INSPECTORS VISIT CHESTERTOWN

Government inspectors have made a thorough inspection of the flower yards and gardens of the town and county in an effort to find possible traces of the dreaded Japanese beetle. The there men who are making the inspection came here from Delaware.

The officials report having discovered thirty-eight of the pests at Townsend, a number at Middltown and others in different sections of the State.

In the inspection of some of the largest gardens in the town no traces of the pests were found, and it is believed that Chestertown and Kent county are free of the beetles. During the past week a number of inspectors from the Maryland University Extension Service made an inspection in many of the Eastern Shore counties and report having found only one beetle.

The Federal inspectors here declare that the pests seem to be attacking grape vines throughout the peninsula, and if there are any evidences of their presence in any given locality they are very apt to be found on grape viens to the exclusion of other fruits

Even want ads are news when they appear in the country newspaper. Investigation shows that subscribers read them as such. John Jones advertises a hard coal stove for sale. This means one of several things. Either John is prosperous and has installed a furnace or things have not gone so well with him and he has to go to burning soft coal and wood. Or it may mean that he is moving away or is selling out for some other reason. But whichever it is the community knows.

The Medical Detachment 1st Maryland Infantry, of Kent County, will leave for Camp Ritchie, located near Blue Ridge Summit, to day Saturday, returning home on August 11th.

Through the efforts of Major Frank B. Hines and the entire personal, the unit has grown to full strength and will carry thirty-two men to camp.

The full strength of the unit is 30 men and the camp allotment is ten per cent over quota which allows 33 men to make the trip.

This is an unusual camp attendance and will probably make a new record. Those who will attend camp are: Major Frank B. Hines, Staff Sargeant Herman Blackway, Sargeant Harvey Blyman and Wm. Blakeney, Corporal Martin Sutton, Company Clerk Walter Morris, Privates John Bennett, Wm. Bennett, Charles Harris, Frank Fowler, Wm. McMahan, Jr.; Frank Hines, Jr., James Collins, Vernon Hill, Wm. Two new recruits will also make the trip.

This is the biggest event of the year in Maryland military circles and is looked forward to with the keenest interest by the members of the local company. The camp is complete this year as the club house on the lake is now being used, all mess halls kitchens have been screened, a new road built into camp and the camp reservoir doubled in capacity. The location of the camp is ideal as all the benefits of the mountain resort are coupled with the advantages of all the water sports on the 19 acre lake There are 20 canoes and boats and a 150 foot wooden pier leading into the lake from the crub house. The evenings are always cool enough to sleep under blankets and the high altitude makes the camp free from mosquitoes.

Governor's Day

Friday, August 10th will be Governor's Day when Governor Ritchie spends the day in camp with the regiment. There will be a review of the regiment and the presentation of prizes and medals by the Governor. Sunday, August 5th, will be Veterans' Day and all the former members of the regiment as well as the Veterans of the State in the American Legion and other veteran organizations have been invited to be present. A special regimental parade will be held in their honor. The rifle range which is one of the most complete in the country with 40 targets at 200 yards will be a busy place as competitions will be keen among the rifle companies for the largest number of qualified men for which a large pennant will be awarded.

Similar Pennants Awarded

Similar pennants will be awarded the best Mashine Gun Company and Headquarters Company. The Regimental Chaplain Rev. Frederick C. Reynolds of war-time chaplain of the 115th Infantry will have charge of the recreation features of the camp. Military training will occupy the morning hours while the afternoon periods will be largely devoted to athletics and water sports. Ceremonies such as parades and guard mounting will be held in the late afternoon and evenings. There will be entertainment features each night such as band concerts, movies and boxing bouts.

One Mile From Camp

The Pen Mar mountain reosrt is only one mile from camp and many men will also visit this resort. It is expected that the First Infantry of which Medical Company is a unit will have over 1100 officers and men in camp during this period of field training. This regiment is the biggest in the 29th Division and considered one of the best National Guard Regiments in the United States.

STABLES BURN WHILE THRESHING

The splendid stables and shed on the Cleaver farm owned and occupied by F. A. Riley were burned Thursday morning. Wheat threshing was in progress and a hot box on the machine set fire to the straw as it left the blower and in turn the whole pound yard and buildings were soon ablaze. The Chestertown Fire Company was called and did valiant work in saving adjacent property. The stable loft was filled with hay. The loss is placed at $4,000 with $1,450 insurance.

HOSPITAL ROOMS STARTED

Due to the urgent need of rooms for hospital work in Kent county the Kent County Public Health Association decided at the last meeting of the Executive Board held July 17 to make no further delay in equipping rooms for this purpose. A committee composed of Louis C. Robinson, Rev. Ivanhoe Willis and Mrs. Don Falls was appointed to rent rooms and buy the necessary equipment. The committee succeeded in renting the second floor of the building owned by William Rodney on High street, situated nearly across the street from the Health Center. Dr. G. H. Dana, the State Dental Clinician will occupy part of the building for his offices. Dr. F. A. Holden, who has been holding monthly eye, ear, nose and throat at the Health Center for some time will be at the hospital for operations once a month. Dr. Holden's Baltimore offices are in the Medical Arts Building at Richmond and Cathedral streets. The hospital will be open to all county physicians and consists of two bedrooms each having two beds, a perfectly equipped operating room and a large bath. Also a splendid porch which will be enclosed in glass.

Mrs. J. D. Maxwell is chairman of the Kent County Health Association and chairman of the executive committee.

Physical examination of school children has shown the acute need in many cases of the removal of tonsils and adenoids. Many of the children have been unable to have the work done because of the distance and expense involved. The local rooms will meet that need and charity patients referred by their own family physician, as being unable to pay, will be attended to free of charge.

GROWING FLAX IN THIS SECTION

President Paul E. Titsworth and Marion deK. Smith, of the Chamber of Commerce, H. B. Derick, county agent, and the News man visited Raskob's magnificent Pioneer Point estate Wednesday afternoon. It was at the time of the harvesting of the first crop of flax ever grown in Queen Anne's or in this section, as far as we can learn.

Upon reaching Centreville were were joined by Queen Anne's county's agent, Mr. Grubb and F.W.Oldenberg, extension agronomist of College Park. Arriving at the Raskob farm, John H. Chambers the able superintendent, escorted the party through the beautiful grounds, extensive buildings, etc., but this article has to do with the growing of flax. All signs point to a phenominal and record-breaking production.

With a yield of two tons to the acre regarded as exceptionally heavy in the chief flax producing territories of the world, Queen Anne's yield of from three and one-half to four tons are indicated.

T. P. Haughy, president of the U. S. Agricultural Flax Corporation, was highly elated over the success of the venture and voiced the sentiment that Queen Anne's has the finest soil and climate for flax production of any section in the world.

The work of harvesting the crop at Pioneer Point was started but because of the heavy growth of flax, the specially imported pulling machines have been found inadequate. In other sections of the country these machines are used with perfect success, but because of the heavy crop in Queen Anne's the device is insufficient.

In consequence John B. Bartram of Toronto, Canada, president of the Perfection Flax Pulling Machine Co., and John H. Hutchinson, crop expert and head of the government flax industry for Canada, located at Ottawa, arrived in Centreville and looked after the harvesting of the crop.

Flax is being grown for the first time this year on 101 acres in the vicinity of Centreville. Started as an experiment, the promoters are highly elated over the success of the co-operation of farmers, it can be made one of the chief agricultural industries of this community.

T. P. Haughey, president of the company, who has spent many years in studying flax conditions in virtually every country on the globe, believes that a wonderful future lies ahead for county farmers if flax growing is more generally adopted.

The machine we saw in use was taking the flax up by the root, binding and throwing out the sheaves like wheat. It is then shocked and allowed to remain for some weeks.

It is said that Oregon is the only State in the Union where flax is grown with profit. Henry Ford inaugurated a campaign in Michigan but failed.

Kent county climate and soil seems to be fitted to this crop and its propagation will be watched with keen interest with the hope that a paying crop may be introduced here. It is planted in May and harvested in July.

16 GO AFTER TEN-TON CLUB PRIZES

Sixteen farmers have signed up for the contest sponsored by the Maryland Ten-Ton Tomato Club, and will go after the valuable prizes offered to the winners in the various classes.

The object of the contest is to promote the production of higher yields per acre of cannable tomatoes as well as to improve quality, believed one of the serious drawbacks to development of the industry.

The various classes open to competition are: To the farmer growing 10 tons or less than 15 tons per acre a bronze medal will be awarded engraved with the grower's name, the year and the yield per acre; 15 tons or less than 20, a silver medal; 20 tons or more per acre, a gold medal.

Besides there are three valuable State-wide prizes: Highest yield in Maryland, $100 gold watch; second $75 gold watch, and third, $50 gold watch.

Legg, J. Thomas Fowler, Thomas W. Trew, William O. B. Knight, Harry Willis, Jonathan Jones, Thomas H. Bryan and Thomas J. Quinn.

County Agent Horace B. Derick is making efforts to see that one or more of the valuable State prizes comes to this section.
