FLYING FIELD AT TOLCHESTER

A contract was signed today between he Tolchester Estates, Inc., and the Chesapeake Aircraft Company, of Baimore, through which the former company leases a large field to the latter company to be used for a flying field.

This field is located on the State Highway between Tolchester and Chestertown, on what is known as the Gresham Hall property. This field is of sufficient size, officials of the airplane company stated, to use for all manner of airplanes.

The Chesapeake Aircraft Company is the largest operator of airplanes in the State of Maryland, having a fleet of ten planes operating out of Logan Field, the temporary municipal flying field for the City of Baltimore. These planes range in size from large four passenger limousine cabin planes to smaller planes of the open cockpit type seating two passengers and baggage and pilot. Col. John A. Hambleton, well known aviator and Baltimore banker is President of this company and Major William D. Tipton, commanding officer of the Maryland National Guard Air Unit at Logan Field is Vice President and general manager. The entire company is composed of War Time pilots and mechanics. All Planes and pilots, as well as mechanics hold Government Licenses.

The Chesapeake Aircraft Company proposes, in conjunction with the Red-Star Motor Coaches, Inc., who operate bus line twice daily between points n the Eastern Shore and Tolchester, o have its planes meet the incoming bus twice daily, whether there are passengers or not. They will then be flown in 15 minutes to Logan Field on the edge of Baltimore, where taxicabs will be waiting each flight to transport passengers to any Hotel in the City for no additional cost over the original price paid for the flight from Tolchester to Logan Field. Just what the rate will be has not been definitey determined by the airplane company.

The Chesapeake Aircraft Company now has a number of large hangars and shops on Logan Field, also one of the finest flying passenger stations in the East. This Company also has one of the most up to date aerial photographic studios in the Country and is one of seven companies who are in a position to get out aerial mapping to scale. Students are also instructed in the art of flying by this company and air planes of the Fairchild cabin plane type and open Travel Air type are sold over three states.

The flying field at Tolchester will be known as the Tolchester Estate Flying Field. The Chesapeake Aircraft Company will shortly construct a passenger station and other conveniences n this site. An area will be fenced n to hold parked automobiles, the uses as they arrive and provide tanding space fo spectators.

Officials of the Chesapeake Aircraft Company have made careful surveys f the Eastern Shore and feel this irst effort on its part is but a forerunney of more frequent service and the lacing of large cabin planes on this ine in the near future and the lowerng of rates as the line becomes more popular. Also, extensions of service are soon contemplated, linking Baltimore and the Eastern Shore with Washington, Wilmington, Philadelphia, New York, Boston, Pittsburg and Richmond. The Chesapeake Aircraft Company has the backing of some of the wealthiest men in Maryland and its growth over a period of three years has been renarkable.

Infant Spared by Wolves

Carried off by wolves from its home at Chandipos, near Kalunga, India, a year-old child was later recovered from the jungle uninjured. When the wolves were seen with their prey, villagers started off in pursuit. They found the child on the ground with two animals standing over it.

Unfortunate Old Age

There cannot live a more unhappy creature than an ill-natured old man who is neither capable of receiving pleasures nor sensible of giving them to others.—Sir W. Temple.

"Thunder" Stolen

"Stealing the thunder" was coined in an early English playhouse. The material placed inside a cylinder to simulate thunder was taken out, with the result that the ominous sound was lacking when the cylinder was rolled Some one had "stolen the thunder."
