Considering our weaknesses it's amazing that some of us get along as well as we do.

As our income increases our former extravagances become necessities, and we discover new follies.

THE MAYTAG HOLDS TWO-DAY CONVENTION

The Eastern Branch of The Maytag Company recently held a two-day convention at the Maytag factory, Newton, Iowa. On board the special train leaving Philadelphia were: Paul A. Scott, Manager of the Eastern Branch, six Divisional Managers, 27 Assistant Divisional Managers, and 238 supervisors.

The two days were devoted to a series of educational and inspirational sales talks, business meetings, and a trip thru the great Maytag factory buildings. A most enthusiastic banquet was staged on the evening of the second day.

The typical and enthusiastic Maytag spirit was very much in evidence during the banquet held on the evening of the second day of the convention. After the dinner, talks were given by F. L. Maytag, E. H. Maytag, George W. Rhodes-Branch Manager of the Indianapolis Branch of The Maytag Company, J. J. Albright, Manager of the Atlanta Branch, and F. G. Cramor, President of The Cramer-Krasselt Co., of Milwaukee. Toastmaster of the evening was Roy A. Bradt.

A feature of the evening was the singing of the new song, writter by Mr. Scott, in honor of F. L. Maytag.

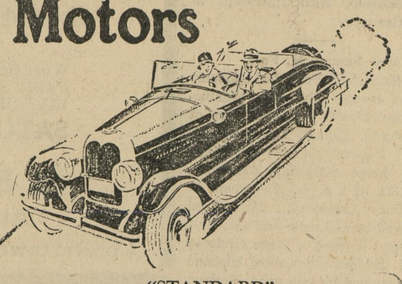
High Speed Motors



need this oilier oil because it's a tougher more durable oil that's specially processed to stand the gaff and do its job under all conditions

"STANDARD"
overcomes friction at higher speeds

A special friction machine is used in Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey laboratories to study the ability of different lubricating oils to overcome friction. It is operated with different quantities of oil, at various speeds, and with varying loads.

In one series of tests, the weight of the load was kept at 175 lbs. per square inch. The quantity of oil supplied was 12 drops each minute. With "Standard" Motor Oil the machine operated perfectly at 700 revolutions per minute. With other motor oils used by motorists today, the machine became over-heated and the oil failed at from 300 to 400 revolutions per minute.

STANDARD

How much do you spend for gasoline? How much for tires? When did your battery last have water? The "Standard" Motor Record will tell you. Ask your "Standard" Service Station or dealer for a free copy.

"STANDARD" MOTOR OIL

"Standard" Greases, Transmission Oil and Gear Compound are made with the same care as "Standard" motor fuels and motor oils.
