Thy word is a lamp unto my feet, and a light unto my path.—Psalm 119: 105.

REMEMBER THE POOR. — If I have withheld the poor from their desire, or have caused the eyes of the widow to fail; or have eaten my morsel myself alone, and the fatherless hath not eaten thereof; if I have seen any perish for want of clothing, or any poor without covering; then let mine arms fall from my shoulder blade, and mine arm be broken from the bone.—Job 31: 16, 17, 19, 21.

PRAYER: — Lord may we never forget that Thou hast said, "Inasmuch as ye did it unto one of these, my brethren, even these least, ye did it unto me."

Woman Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Denver, Colo.—"I have taken six bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and will take more. I am taking it as a tonic to help me through the Change of Life and I am telling many of my friends to take it as I found nothing before this to help me. I had so many bad feelings at night that I could not sleep and for two years I could not go down town because I was afraid of falling. My mother took the Vegetable Compound years ago with good results and now I am taking it during the Change of Life and recommend it as an efficient tonic."—Mrs. T. A. Miller, 1611 Adams Street, Denver, Colorado.

WARNING TO PERSONS HUNTING AND HANDLING RABBITS.

E. Lee LeCompte, State Game Warden, says, "We have received large numbers of inquiries relative to a report that the cottontail rabbits of this State were affected with a disease known as "tularemia." During the hunting season of 1927, there were a number of persons affected with what at first appeared to be typhoid fever. The physicians of the State claim upon examination they found that patients had contracted the disease known as "tularemia" from handling rabbits. Not only the hunters were affected but I recall one case reported in Washington, D. C., of a party working in a stall in one of the markets handling rabbits contracted the disease and died from same. I have conferred with the State Board of Health regarding this matter and up to the present they have not received any reports of anyone being affected so far this season —however, the season just opened on November 10th and it would be hard to determine at this time whether or not rabbits are affected with tularemia this season or not.

The liver and spleen are the organs affected. The bacterium tularense lodges in these tissues and causes decay of the cells. These foci of infections are apparent to the naked eye in the shape of enumerated white spots, varying from a pin-point to a pin-head in size.

Tularemia is likely to manifest itself first by pain, tenderness and swelling of lymph glands, draining the regions where the infection occurs as those of the elbow or armpit. These symptoms will probably occur within two to five days after infection.

Rabbit meat thoroughly cooked is claimed to be harmless; however, to be on the safe side, we advise every hunter, if they kill rabbits, not to handle same with bare hands and we advise the public in general to refuse to purchase rabbits this season whereby they would be compelled to hadle sale. On Saturday, November 17th, W. J. Trego, of Cambridge, Md., informed us in starting on a rabbit hunt he found two dead rabbits, called his dogs off the trail and discontinued hunting. Raymond Richardson, of Church Creek, Dorchester county, reports that he trapped three rabbits the first week of the season which were affected with some disease.

Even pussy is not above suspicion, for there is reason to believe that influenza, scarlet fever, diptheria and perhaps infantile paralysis have been transmitted to children by the family pet.

"Tularemia is, as has been said, a brand-new, up-to-date, all-American, disease. And yet, strangely enough, it appears that the anti-bunny campaign was in vogue as far back as five thousand years ago. Turn to Levitious, Chapter 11, and read verses 4 to 8. You will find there the following warning: 'The flesh of the hare shall ye not eat, and its carcass shall ye not touch; they are unclean to you.' Without a doubt, Moses had never heard of Tulare County nor of the Bacertium Tularense. But what he knew about the insides of a rabbit is one more proof of the fact that there is nothing new under the sun."
