SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 9, 1929

In order to keep an engagement with Governor Ritchie on Tuesday, Dr. Paul E. Titswotrh engaged an airplane. He left Chestertown field shortly after noon, flew to Annapolis, met the Governor and was home at 5 p. m. He expected to make the trip via Claiborne ferry but upon reaching the ferry Tuesday morning found the boat had run aground. The doctor is a record-breaker in more ways than one.

LEGISLATURE NOW ACTIVE

No further effort will be made to have the present Legislature adopt a prohibition State enforcement act as a result of the defeat Tuesday of the bill sponsored by the Anti-Saloon League.

Although there may be several bills introduced pertaining to local option measure in the counties, the dry leaders, resentfully and unwillingly, will wait for the State election next fall to continue to bring Maryland within the States having enforcement acts.

At the same time it became clear that prohibition again will become one of the big issues of the 1930 campaign. The foundation already is being laid for the nomination of a dry Republican Gubernatorial candidate. David A. Robb, of Cumberland is regarded as the man most desired at this time by the drys.

The House within one hour adopted an unfavorable report on the bill for a State enforcement act by a vote of 64 to 45, with all members of the Baltimore City delegation voting solidly against the bill. A few minutes later the House, by a vote of 66 to 43, applied a parliamentary clincher which prevents reconsideration of this measure at this session.

Kent's delegation split, Mr. Brice voting to uphold the Constitution by an enforcement act and Mr. Bowers voting against.

Crabbe Warns Legislators

George W. Crabbe, superintendent of the Maryland Anti-Saloon League, at night made the following comment on the killing of the State prohibition bill in the House of Delegates:

"The Legislature that turned down the State-wide enfoorcement bill was elected two years ago. It was so wet that the dry forces could not introduce a State enforcement bill after the election of last fall and the dry victory in the election of a dry United States Senator, the claim was generally made that the present Legislature would heed the vote of the people.

"This afternoon starts the campaign for a dry Governor and a dry Legislature. We respectfully remind the politicians that the people spoke in 1928 and they are going to speak again in 1930. We will keep the fight going until Maryland, as a State, takes her stand in favor of upholding the Constitution."

Bill Would End Race-Track Bets.

The operation of part-mutual machines and gambling of all kinds in or around the race tracks of the State would be prohibited after June 1 by a bill which has been prepared for introduction in the House of Delegates. A heavy fine and mandatory prison sentence are provided for violations.

The measure was drafted for Delegate Irvin C. Hamilton, of Allegany county, who is president of the Maryland Federation of Labor. He said it had the solid backing of the State Federation, as well as the American Federation of Labor, "church people" and a number of influential persons.

Under the bill the officers of the corporations owning race tracks are held jointly responsible for enforcement of the anti-betting law. Violators are liable to a fine of $5,000 and a sentence of one year in jail. The license of the track where the offense occurred also would be suspended for a year.

Reports have been current since the present legislative session began that an anti-race-track betting bill would be introduced, but the form and the backing were not known. Mr. Hamilton said he felt confident that his bill would be passed by the House.

A second bill, introduced by Lewis F. Kefauver, Frederick county, would authorize the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles to revoke automobile licenses in cases of damages caused by careless or intoxicated drivers, when the convicted drivers are financially irresponsible.

The bill also provides that the licenses shall not be reissued until all damages resulting shall be fully satisfied. In cases of convicted non-resident drivers, they would not be allowed to use Maryland roads until all damages had been paid.

Strong indications that the residents of Centreville, Queen Anne's county, will be forbidden to raise hogs within the limits of the town after June 1 were given Tuesday with the passage of such a measure in the Senate by a 25-to-0 vote.

That other Senators were in sympathy with Centreville residents, as told by Senator Dudley G. Roe, was evidenced by the ballot. Mr. Roe, who introduced the bill, explained during the summer the raising of hogs did not help the sanitary conditions of the town.

MAKING PEOPLE MORAL BY LAW

The opponents of our Sabbath law say: "You are trying to make people moral by law. This can not be done. The only way to make people good is by getting the love of God into their hearts."

Our reply is: We are not trying to "make" people moral by law. We are trying to give them an opportunity to be moral by law. What is a garden fence for? Not to make the garden; the gardner does this. The fence is to make the garden possible, to keep out intruders that would otherwise come into the garden and trample down its tender plants. What are the dykes of Holland for? This country, with its beautiful scenery and fruitful fields, lies below the level of the sea. Great dykes have been built on its shores which put their shoulders against the sea and prevent its waters from sweeping in to destroy Holand. The Dutch, not the aykes, makes Holland; but the dykes make Holland possible.

This is all Sabbath laws are for. They do not make people go to church or perform any religious duty. But they do say to greedy commercial interests who are bent upon using the day for money making: "Stand back and give the preacher, Sabbath school teacher, and Christian father and mother an opportunity on the Sabbath day to reach the people with the teachings of God's Word, which will make them good."—The Christian Statesman.

"FAIR PLAY"

Galena, Md., Feb. 4, 1929.

To the Editors of The Kent News:

In your issuee of February 2nd, there is a report of the finances of the county road engineer which might be construed as an attack on him for having spent all of his appropriation. I hope and trust that such a construction will not be taken by any. And at this time, when he is ill and unable to defend himself, I took occasion to voice my appreciation of this worthy county official.

I believe that I am one of a majority of Kent countians who see in Mr. Gilbert Taylor, one of the most conscientious officials we have ever had. He has given the best in him, working early and late, and showing unfailing courtesy under a condition aggravating and hopeless: That of trying to satisfy everybody by making possible some 360 miles of road on the absurd appropriation of $28,000. This would figure out $7.77 or 3 days labor per mile per year.

Furthermore he is our first road engineer with the vision to see the utter futility of expending his appropriation for labor in filling always washout, or ruts deeper with the first rain.

In place of this time honored, wasteful custom he instituted the practice of laying slag. Slag roads cost from $1,500 to $2,500 per mile. While it is no permanent improvement, once laid, it requires no further improvement for three years, and the tax payers ride over it securely with deep thanks in their heart to Mr. Taylor, and to his good judgment with the feeling that their taxes have been spent advantageously.

The report states that the county commissioners are unable to satisfy the demands of visiting road delegations for road improvements because of the expending of this appropriation.

WOULD WE HAVE THE ROAD ENGINEER HOARD HIS APPROPRIATION?

The late summer and fall and not the winter nor spring is the time to improve our roads for safe winter travel. Thus, we see that the engineer has spent his inadequate appropriation at a time when it accomplished the greatest good for the tax payers; and knowing the good sense and fairness of the engineer I believe that he made as fair and equal an allotment of improvements to the different sections as possible.

We have seen that the road appropriation is absolutely inadequate. Therefore, it is not fair to criticise the engineer. He deserves our appreciation. The criticism should begin at home. We insist upon a low tax rate. A low tax rate means a low appropriation, and a low appropriation means impassible roads. Figure it out for yourself. But remember! You can't have your cake and eat it too.

"FAIR PLAY."

NOTE—A reliable purchaser will be liberally financed if application is made to the Assignee.

WATER FACTS

Facts that all property owners and consumers of WATER supplied by The Chestertown Water Department should know.

Thursday Night, January 31st, at 10 a. m., Mr. Caple, the engineer closed down with the elevated tank full with water—100 thousand gallons—75 pound pressure.

At 3 a. m.—5 hours later—he again started up the pump—called up Superintendent and reported practically no water. Pressure 15 pounds. He went to water spigot and found very little water.

From experience the Water Department knows this is CAUSED BY CONSUMERS PURPOSELY ALLOWING THE WATER TO RUN ALL NIGHT TO PREVENT PIPES FREEZING. This may seem a very good plan, but suppose it had happened 24 hours earlier, or a day before when the alarm was sounded for the Citizens Bank. The results may have been different. The Fire Company has a fine equipment and a willing body of men behind it. But—WITH NO WATER THE DEPARTMENT IS WORTHLESS.

Besides placing in jepardy your property you also jepardize your own life and the lives of others. The Water Department cannot do its duty unless backed by the WATER PATRONS. Remember that you are a part of the system and ask you to save the water.

Hoping this knowledge and appeal will meet with your cooperation. We are yours for safety and servicec.
