MUSICAL SOCIETY ELECTS LEADER

The Kent Musical Society met for the first time this Fall at Washington College Thursday evening and made plans for the coming season. It was unanimously decided to employ Mrs. Cleveland S. Smith, of Easton, as directress. She comes highly recommended. Under her leadership and inspiration the Euterpean Choral Society of Easton has functioned for ten years—an unusual record for singing societies. She is now chairman of Community Singing in the Maryland Federation. The Kent Society hope to teach the fundamentals of music and to sing good music.

The News takes this occasion to recommend to all young people this opportunity to learn vocal music. The initiation fee is $1 with $3 per year dues. A half rate is made for College and High School students. The next meeting will be held at the College at 8 p. m. Thursday, October 24th.

OLD ST. PAUL'S ORIGINAL SITE

The excavation of a new made grave revealed this week, the exact location of the original edifice of Old St. Paul's of Kent, noted and historic Protestant Episcopal Church near here which was founded in 1694 and which was the object of special gifts from Queen Anne of England. Records still extant tell that the first building was erected of brick foundations with wooden super-structure but that since the bricks were made in this country, and not brought from England as was the custom in those days, they soon became soft and were replaced with stone masonry. Friends and parishioners of the church now standing, which was begun in 1711 and completed in 1713, have never known just where the original building stood until workmen struck, while digging the grave a stone wall, two feet thick and running several feet below the surface and for quite a distance, as far as they have probed. Vestrymen are convinced it is the foundation of the old church and next week the entire foundation will be unearthed and permanent markers placed at each of the four corners of the original site which is located immediately back of the present church building. The Vestry house, which has often been mistaken by visitors for the original church, still stands and was erected in 1766.

The present board of vestdymen are Samuel C. Emory, registrar; Walter M. Kenley, J. Page Gale, W. T. Brice, Albert E. Nicholson, Chas. A. Jessop, Chas. H. Skirven and W. G. Smyth.

BISHOP W. F. McDOWELL AMONG THE SPEAKERS

The largest meeting in the history of the district was held here Tuesday when the annual meeting of the ministers and laymen of the Middletown District of the Wilmington M. E. Church met in the Chestertown M. E. edifice.

The details of the meeting were arranged by the Reverend J. Harry Wright, pastor of the local church and the Reverend J. L. Johnson, superintendent of the district, presided at the sessions.

Over 250 attended the morning session of the annual gathering at which Bishop William F. McDowell, of the Washington Area, was one of the main speakers. Every church in the district, with the exception of three, was represented at the meeting by its pastor and at least one delegate. There were many visitors at the sessions from the various churches in the district.

Among those delivering addresses and conducting discussions at the meeting were:

Bishop William F. McDowell, of the Washington Area; the Rev. Dr. Oscar L. Joseph, pastor of Trinity Hedding Church, Plainfield, N. J., the Rev. W. L. McDowell, secretary of the Board of Home Missions and Church Extension of the Wilmington Conference; the Rev. Wilbur F. Corkran, field secretary of the Wilmington Conference; the Rev. Dr. Luther E. Lovejoy, the Rev. James H. Bishop, director of religious education in the Wilmington Conference, and the Rev. Dr. Amedea M. D. Riggio, pastor of Jefferson Park Parish Church, New York, who delivered the closing addresses at the evening service.

The first issue of the Washington Collegian for the present school year was out last week.

William J. Burk is editor and Franklin K. Cooper is business manager.

GALENA TEAM IS CHALLENGED

The Tilghman Baseball Club has accepted the challenge issued by the Galena Club for a post season series issued through the columns of the daily press. William Russell, manager of the Tilghman Club, stated on Monday that he would get in touch with the Galena Club at once and invite them to a post-season series.

In the newspaper article Galena was anxious to play the winner of the Brunswick-Tilghman series, but the Brunswick Club has refused to play Tilghman, and Mr. Russell phoned to Galena offering to play that club a series of games at once. The manager was not at home when Mr. Russell phoned on Monday, but another effort was made to get in touch with him later, when Tilghman offered to play the winners of the Chesapeake Bay League.

Galena won the championship of its league recently, and seems anxious to play the winners of the Talbot County League. Mr. Russell stated on Monday that all his players had given up baseball and were either working on the river or in oyster houses. He believes he can get the boys together and give Galena a contest that would be interesting.

Many of the Tilghman boys are anxious to play Galena, and a few afternoons of practicing would get them in shape again. One of the games will be played at Galena and one at Tilghman, but just where the others will be played cannot be determined until representatives of both clubs meet and make final arrangements.

Mister and Richardson are two of the Tilghman twirlers that will be depended upon to puzzle Galena in case the two clubs decide to play. According to the newspaper article the winners of the Chesapeake Bay League are very anxious for thepost-season series, and Mr. Russell stated on Monday that his club would gladly accommodate Galena if they could come to some agreement as to where the games are to be played.

MILK SHIPPERS TO HAVE NEW BASIC

The milk shippers of Kent's Cooling Stations were pleased with the announcement made by officials of the Inter-State Milk Producers' Association, that at a recent meeting of the Association, several changes were made in the selling plan as follows:

All milk purchased by dealers during October, November and December wll be bought at the basic price, which is $3.23 a hundred for 4 per cent milk at the local plant. There will be no milk bought at surplus prices for the balance of the year.

In establishing a basic for 1930, the producers will be allowed to take the average of their total production for the months of October, November and December or they have the option of using the average of the last three years, if that will give the shipper a larger basic.

New shippers will establish a basic by taking an average of their production during the three fall months.

The new selling plan of using the average of the production during October, November and December, as the basic for 1930, will mean thousands of dollars to the local shippers.

The old plan of averaging several years production proved to be a serious drawback to the development of dairying in the county during the last two years, as some of the milk producers were compelled to sell a large percentage of their milk at surplus prices.

The present price and change in selling plan places Philadelphia at the top of the milk markets in the country.

The Inter-State Milk Producers' Association is one of the most successful farmers cooperative organizations in the United States and has been of tht greatest benefit to the 27,000 members who sell milk on the Philadelphia market.

The Rev. T. S. Holt, of the Holt Oil Co., has presented both the elementary and high school in Federalsburg with a set of reference books under rather novel conditions. For each gallon of the company's gasoline purchased of local dealers by parents or friends of the school children, one cent is allowed for the payment of the cost of the 20 volumes which is more than $100. As soon as the school realizes enough to pay for the books, the campaign ceases.

OH, YOU FOXX!

Sudlersville, Queen Anne's, Kent and the Eastern Shore have in Jimmy Foxx a real advertiser. He has met every expectation of his admirers in the two games played making a home run at opportune times. Empke, Earnshaw and Grove hace covered themselves with glory in the pitcher's box while the Athletics as a whole have played great ball.

CHESTERTOWN EAGER FOR THE FACTORY

Response to the advertisement carried in the three Kent county papers of last week has been excellent and is indicative of the need of a factory that will employ high class labor in this territory.

A meeting of prospective workers, members of the Chestertown Mercantile Section of the Kent County Chamber of Commerce and Mr. Purnell Elburn, proprietor of the Rock Hall Manufacturing Company, is set for Tuesday evening, October 15th at 7.30 p. m., at the Court House. Every lady interested in obtaining work in the shirt factory, if established in Chestertown, is urged to be present.

Mr. Elburn is considering Centreville and the question of the quality of labor will decide his location either in Centreville or Chestertown. Chestertown can certainly supply quantity but as experience counts in the quality of obtainable workmanship, it remains to be seen which community can offer the best. Mr. Elburn can secure a splendid building in Chestertown and everything is being done by the Mercantile Section and other business interests to help present an attractive solution of the problem of locating a branch factroy of the Rock Hall plant.

GUILTY OF MANSLAUGHTER

When William Henry Jenkins, colored, 43, a former resident of Chestertown, and the son of Harrison Jenkins, well known colored man here, slashed the throat of Margaret Wilson Anderson, colored, on August 8, he was mentally unballanced and his first thought was to kill himself and not the girl when he found her with another man, statements made in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, Wilmington, disclosed Tuesday morning.

Jenkins plead guilty to a charge of manslaughter and was sentenced to thirty years' imprisonment, the maximum sentence by Chief Justice Pennewill and Judges Rice and Rodney. The State did not press for trial on the first degree murder charge because of Jenkins mental condition.

J. Paul Green, attorney for Jenkins, brought out that Jenkins was originally a resident of Chestertown, Md., where he had a good reputation, and is the author of several poems that have been published.

The defendant ran to the Brandywine river and jumped in to commit suicide. However, he was saved by several park guards.

Residents of Chestertown and vicinity were awakened about 1 a. m., Wednesday morning when the dirigible Los Angeles passed over the town headed in a southern direction.

The motors of the huge air craft awakened light sleepers and investigation disclosed the monarch of the skies, with many lights visible, sailing peacefully through the sky.

The Los Angeles frequently passes over Kent in its trips from Washington to Lakehurst.

One of the first intensive experiments in raising peanuts on a large scale will shortly be made by Ellsworth Newcomb on his farm in Queen Anne's, near Chestertown.

Work will soon be started on placing a new gutter around the roof of the Kent County Court House here and at the same time a force of painters will put a much needed coat on the wood work of the building.

CHARLES COLEMAN, JR., SUFFERS BROKEN LEG

Charles P. Coleman, Jr., 2½ years old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Coleman, of Chestertown, was struck by an automobile late Tuesday afternoon and is now in the Easton Hospital with his right leg broken in three places.

The accident occurred shortly after 5 p. m., at the Corner of High street and College avenue, near the home of the child. The car that struck the boy was driven by Charles Porter, also of Chestertown.

According to eye witnesses the mishap was unavoidable. Following the accident the child was given first aid treatment by Dr. Frank B. Hines and then rushed to the Easton Hospital in the Kent County Ambulance. He is now resting easy at the hospital.

WESLEY LOSES PASTOR

Rev. B. I. Barnes, pastor of Wesley Chapel M. P. Church, near Rock Hall, has accepted an appointment as Superintendent of Religious Education in Maryland Conference.

He and his popular wife are leaving at once amid general regret of the congregation. Rev. Barnes is also continuing his studies at Westminster and Mrs. Barnes plans to spend much of her time in Baltimore for a while. There is at present no appointee for the sermon next Sunday.

AU REVOIR

It is time to say farewell to our many friends at Wesley Chapel, Rock Hall and Kent County, due to our call to the field of Religious Education Directorship in the Maryland Annual Conference. We will be unable to do so personally so we leave to tell you all, by this method, how much we have appreciated our short stay in your midst, and to wish you Godspeed in the future.

Our pastorate of four months at Wesley has been marked by an unbroken succession of pleasant duties, surprises and remembrances. We keenly regret not being able to get better acquainted with more of the splendid people of the community but our time has been limited. You have won a warm place in our hearts and it is with regret that we leave you. We pray God's blessings upon you and trust that His work will be your supreme joy.

Our best wishes are yours.

REV. AND MRS. B. I. BARNES.

According to plans of Rev. J. Harry Wright, formerly pastor of Cookman M. E. Church in Wilmington, Del., now pastor of the M. E. Church here, he will broadcast a sermon, at noon-day religious service from Station WLIT in Philadelphia on Friday, October 18.

He will be assisted by two members of Woodland Baptist Church, Sixty-fifth street near Woodland avenue, Philadelphia, of which his brother, the Rev. Melvin B. Wright, is pastor. They are Miss Effie Cramer, organist and John Custer, tenor scloist. The Philadelphia clergyman broadcast a similar sermon over the same system last Friday.
