KENT SCHOOLS CLOSE FRIDAY

There will be two weeks holiday for the schools of Kent county during the Yuletide season. The Board of Education decided to close the schools on Friday December 20th and reopen them on Thursday, January 2nd.

The Board figured that to keep the schools open on Monday, the day before Christmas Eve the expense of heating would not be justified for one day's attendance. As the fires in most of the schools are allowed to go out on Friday afternoons, the heating of the larger buildings for just one day was not justified. Accordingly the two weeks holiday is the result.

DAM AT FAIRLEE COMPLETED

The new dam at the Fairlee, Kent county bass hatchery of the Conservation Department has been completed, Swepson Earle, Conservation Commissioner, reports.

"Water shortly will be turned in from Fairlee Creek," Mr. Earle said, "making not only a large lake of about a mile in length but also a beauty spot for Kent county.

"Those who are not familiar with bass will be interested to know that this fish cannot be artifically propagated like trout and some other species. The male bass makes a nest and the female deposits the eggs, which only can develop naturally. The proper environment must be provided if this operation is to be successful.

"Up to the present the department has rented bass ponds near the Lewistown hatchery in Frederick county, but we hope to raise many more large and small mouthed bass than now is possible. In addition to the lake in Kent county, the department is contemplating a bass hatching station at Little Pool on the C. and O. Canal, which would give a large supply for Western Maryland.

"During the past two weeks the State fish culturist, A. M. Powell,has taken 235,000 brook trout eggs from the trout raised at Lewistown and Bear creek. This is the first season we have been able to obtain eggs from our own fish, which means a material saving in operation costs at the Lewistown hatchery, since the State always has had to buy its eggs from commerical hatcheries in other States at an annual cost of $900.

"In 1930, the department will have at Bear Creek Station, in Garrett county, 30,000 brook trout from eight or twelve inches long, and expects to take 3,000,000 eggs next fall from these fish. We believt that we shall have enough for our needs and be able to sell about $2,500 worth of eggs."

OLD KRIS COMES TO CHESTERTOWN

Wednesday was a gala day in Chestertown. It was the annual old Kris treat, and as usual, hundreds of little folks and big ones too, enjoyed the fun. The affair was put on by the mercantile Section of the Kent County Chamber of Commerce, Carl N. Bordley, chairman.

The anticipated parade was called off because of lack of interest, was ther, etc. However, there were some who appeared and prizes were awarded as follows:

Best Costume—First, Hilda Thrift, Church Hill; second, Perry Wessell, Church Hill; third, Anna Metcalfe Chestertown.

Funniest Costume — First, Mary Emma Chaires, Chestertown; second, Marion Aldridge, Chestertown; third, Betty Strong, Chestertown.

The prizes in each case were $5.00 for first, $2.50 for second and $1.00 for third.

Fifteen hundred packages of books and oranges, wrapped by the Camp Fire Girls under the direction of Miss Doris P. Bell, were brought to the Public Square, where Santa Claus Leonard Needles was assisted in the distribution of the gifts by Lee Gill, Harry Fowler, Scott Thompson and members of the association.

Prior to the distribution of gifts a treasure hunt was conducted under the direction of A. Sidney Turner. The hunt ended at the office of the Chamber of Commerce, where William Derringer, of Chestertown, was awarded first prize; Marvin Williams, Worton, won second honors, and S. Scott Beck, Jr., won the third prize.

Three turkeys were given away as prizes as follows: Oldest person registering, J. P. Decorse. of Chestertown.

To the largest family went to Clarence Wallis and wife with 11 children, of near Millington. Each of the parents was 40 years of age.

Mrs. A. L. Sterling won the third turkey guessing within two of the number of pennies in a jar.

SPEAKS TO ROTARIANS

Oliver C. Short, State Employment Commissioner and Vice President of the Baltimore Rotary Club, was the speaker at the weekly meeting of the Chestertown Club here last Monday evening. Mr. Short is interested in boy's work and the program on Monday took on the nature of a "father and son" meeting.

Members of the Rotary Club of Chestertown had as their guests boys from Chestertown. The meeting was very interesting.

LARGE EAGLE KILLED

What is believed to be the largest bald-headed eagle ever brought down in this vicinity was killed Friday by Ernest H. Dale, business man of Philadelphia.

Mr. Dale was returning from Crisfield where he had been on a ducking trip and carried in his car 12 wild ducks, the bag of his shooting trip. As he approached the Chester river bridge in Queen Anne's county he saw a large bird sitting on a fence post calmly contemplating a flock of lambs.

Dale left his machine and on his approach, the eagle launched a vicious attack upon him to his surprise. After a little meneuvering he managed to bring his fowling piece into action, with the result that two shots entered the bird's body.

The eagle measured seven feet from wing tip to tip and Dale expects to have the bird mounted.

WORK ON CHESTER BRIDGE

The Raymond Concrete Pile Company has completed the placing of the four test piles at the site of the new span just north of the present bridge. The four seventy-five foot piles, as driven last week, are on the approximated line of the new span. According to State Roads officials the test piles are on a line with the south side of the new bridge.

At Kibler's Wharf, here, the Raymond Company is making preparations for the construction of the concrete piles for the new bridge. Many forms have been built at the wharf and soon the concrete will be poured into them. After several days in the forms the piles will be removed and allowed to harden for several weeks before they are placed. An official of the Raymond Company state last week that the average length of the piling to be used would be about seventy feet. He also stated that the driving of the piles for the span would be started about Jan. 6, 1930.

START ARMORY HERE IN SPRING

Major Frank B. Hines, commander of the Medical Detachment of the First Infantry, Maryland National Guard, here stated today that preparations are going forward for beginning the erection of a $50,000 armory during the early spring.

Major Hines is at the head of a movement which resulted in the last session of the Legislature providing an appropriation of $50,000 for building an armory here, and while the funds will not become available until next August plans are being laid to select a suitable location for the building and to award the construction work, in order that building operations may begin as early next spring as practicable.

Major Hines said that while no site has been chosen there are a number of valuable sites under consideration. It is the object of the promoters of the project to make the new armory a community center, which is badly needed here, and in the selection of location this feature will likely be the determining factor.

It is probable that a building commission will be appointed which will be charged with the duty of selecting the site and supervising the erection of the building.

This new building, together with a new $40,000 hospital, which is to be built during the coming year, will add very materially to the town.

CAR UPSETS AND BURNS

Dr. W. H. Moyer, Chiropractor of Chestertown, while trying to drive his Chevrolet car on the slippery road Thursday near Kennedyville made a narrow escape. His car upset and burned, the doctor making a close shave with his life. He lost his hat in quickly taking leave of the auto. Help came but not in time to save the car.

CHRISTMAS CANTATA TO BE GIVEN TOMORROW BY KENT MUSICAL SOCIETY.

Over 100 singers will take part in the first annual Christmas cantata to be presented by the Kent Musical Society in the auditorium of Smith Hall, Washington College, Sunday afternoon under the direction of Mrs. Cleveland S. Smith, of Easton, former director of the Euterpean Choral Society of that city.

Fifty school children will be assisted by an equal number of adults, including a number of trained voices, in the rendition of sacred and holiday songs and hymns.

A number of Washington College singers of both sexes will also appear in the chorus.

The following school pupils will take part: Alice Marion Sterling, Emily Sutton, Pauline Reed, Mary Moffett, Grace McVean, Elizabeth Baldwin, Kathryn Metcalfe, Marion Aldridge, Bernadine Schauber, Lillian Knotts, Frank Gardner, Sarah Dodd, Betty Coleman, Rose Strong, Betty Capel, Marian Reinhart, Barbara Cosden, Anna Bland, Janet McVean, Elsie Tibbitt, Gertrude Dorsey, Clara Rollison, Carrie Schreiber, Carolyn Metcalfe, Frances Gibson, Jas. Bland, Robert Moore, Mark Wood, Oakley Valliant, Rumsey Anthony, Josephine White, Billy Derringer, Edmond Derringer, Robert Wright, Bayard Sutton, William Reed,Phoebe Pyle, Caroline Jewell, Miriam Ford, Mary Allen Brown, Deborah Brown, Lucile Rasin, Fredia Dorf, Patience Pyle, Carrie Walters, Carrie Coleman and Anna Harris.

Among the older singers will be: Misses Edythe Hartman, Maries D. Bryan, Alec E. Dole, Louise Fawcett, Hazel Greenwood, Lottie Peacock, Helen F. Smith, Helen Moore, Janet Atwater and Elizabeth Husstic; Mesdames Anna Smith Brice, Jane Chaires, Martha Bowers, Esther M. Dole, Linwood A. Sutton Fred. G. Usilton, J. Hydie Thompson, Charles B. Ford, Frank Jarrell, G. Howard Dana, Lee King, Sidney Turner and Norman Crouch, and Messrs. Paul E. Titsworth, Robert D. Moore, Robt. Huey, Jr., Stanley Sutton, Harry L. Dodd, James L. Nicklan, Fred. G. Usilton, Jr.

It is interesting to visit the Rock Hall Marine Railways Company, Inc. Of five yachts that are there at present for winter storage the "Swaray" is canvas-covered. She hails from Essington, Pa. The "Spunky" from Swarthmore is being rebuilt. The "Baby Boozer" from Philadelphia and two other Pennsylvania vessels are in the harbor awaiting their turn. In the spring whatever repairs or painting may be necessary will be done.

KENT WINS POULTRY SHOW

John H. Moffett, of Lynch, breeder of Rhode Island Red chickens, made a wonderful record with strong competition at the Philadelphia Poultry Show last week. This show was held at the 108th Field Artillery Armory and exhibited over 5,000 chickens, 3,000 pigeons, etc.

Mr. Moffett won second on cock, first on hen, second on cockerel, first on pullet and second on trio. These winnings gave him first on best display. It was considered by the judges to be one of the best quality collection seen in the East this season.

CHESTERTOWN LOSES

Easton High School's soccer eleven was crowned champion of the Eastern Shore at Denton Friday when it defeated the Chestertown High School booters, 2 to 0, in a replay of the sectional finals of the annual P. A. L. State-wide tournament.

Last week, these two rivals, Easton representing Talbot county, and Chestertown, Kent, battled through six extra periods to a 6-all deadlock. It was one of the most remarkable contests ever played in P. A. L. competition.

Easton will now oppose Middletown, of Frederick county, winner of the Western Shore laurels, for the State championship in a battle at the Baltimore Stadium on Saturday at 2.30 o'clock.

WASHINGTON COLLEGE PLAYERS REWARDED

Capt. William J. Burk, of Chester, Pa., leader of the 1929 Washington College football team, was presented a sweater in addition to his varsity letter Tuesday night, when the letter men of the Maroon and Black varsity were banqueted by the college officials.

Addresses were made by President Paul E. Titsworth, head coach, J. Thomas Kibler; dean, J. S. W. Jones, and Graduate Manager Fred Dumschott, Assistant Coaches, Paul Beatty and Harry S. Russell and Business Manager James W. Johns, were guests of honor.

Other varsity men awarded letters were Captain-elect Joseph Phillips, Stewart, Sherkey, Bringhurst, Veach, Plummer, Alexander, Dopson, Robinson, Hope, Badart, Dwyer, Freeny, Stevens, Huffman and Manager Boston.

GUNNING NOTES AROUND KENT

Since the opening of the gunning season, some very fine sport has been had at Nichol's marsh farm in Quaker Neck. Several hundred black ducks have been killed and now the canvasback and red heads are plentiful. The limit bag last two gunning days and all indications point to a very good season.

Quail and other birds are also plentiful and the sport has been enjoyed more than any season in the past. Good roads in Quaker Neck have added to the comfort of making the trip to and from the water front properties in Quaker Neck.

County and State health authorities have reiterated their warning to Montgomery sportsmen and others to handle rabbits with the proper precautions if they wish to avoid tularenia, or "rabbit fever," which caused the illness of a Dawsonville resident last week.

Mrs. J. A. Morningstar, a victim of the fever, is at the Frederick City Hospital, where her condition is said to be serous. Two Frederick county women are also suffering from the same malady.

The fever was contracted while dressing the animals, the health authorities declare, and the cases are the first on record in this section for the present hunting season. Because of the easy communication of this disease it is advocated that hunters and others handling the rabbits use rubber gloves.

Several fatalities from the disease has resulted in West Virginia and other states during the past few years. It is pointed out, however, that little or no risk is encountered in eating rabbits as the heat of cooking eliminates this source of danger.

200 ducks were killed Thursday at the Kent Island farm of Metcalfe, Brice & Co.

FINE SPORTS OF THE WEEK

Washington College's basketball team left the barrier last Friday night with a burst of speed which presages another strong team for the school that hasn't relinquished first place among the colleges of Maryland since the season of 1926-27. An all-star team gathered by Coach Kibler furnished the opposition, and Washington won by the score of 54 to 26.

Giraitis featured in the attack of the college five, scoring 7 field goals and 5 out of 8 foul throws for a total of 19 points. Second honors on the attack went to a very promising newcomer, Gainer, who relieved Stevens at center and made 12 points.

Jimmy Foxx started at center for the All-Stars, but was no match for his collegian opponents. Jimmy was held to a single field goal and one foul throw.

A large crowd turned out for the contest, partly to see what kind of a cage performer the brilliant Athletic first-baseman is. Score:

BASKET BALL OUTLOOK

St. Joseph's College of Philadelphia, will play here Saturday night, December 14. Following the first tilt American University will be met on the 18th and the much-talked-of Princeton game will be played in the cage of Loyola College at Evergreen, Baltimore, the night of January 1. The first two struggles will point to the Tiger tilt since Kibler is working hard to defeat Princeton in the first basketball game ever arranged between the two institutions. A win over the lads from Old Nassau will, it is believed, place the Maroon and Black in the front rank of cage quints of the East and augur well for the retention of the Maryland championship, claimed last year by the local outfit.

Twenty-two men are in the local cage under tutelage of Coach Kibler, assisted by "Chief" Beatty, former University of Maryland star; Gradate-manager "Dutch" Dumschott and Harry S. Russell, of this town, one-time Washington player. Among the the old-timers now propping for St. Joseph's are Captain Giaritis, Alexander, Dopson, Fitzgerald, Veach, Burk, Stevens and Robinson. Fitzgerald, a product of Washington, D. C., High School, is looking good and Burk, captain of the recent football team, hails from Chester, Pa., High School and has improved in style since last season.

Among newcomers to the local cage are Dickerson of Milford, Del., High, who is tossing accurately and among Baltimore lads in action are Rosemere, of Calvert Hall, Crilley, of McDonough School, Eric Wood and Karfgin, Rasin and Harris, of Chestertown High, are showing up well as are Plummer and Robinson, two other Chester lads. Huffman Gainer, recently of Cumberland High School are expected to develop into up-and-coming tossers as is Fleming of the same city. Orem, of Denton, Coulbourn, of Suffolk, Va., and Ross, of Waterbury, Conn., complete the roster of candidates reporting to date.

CLEAR SHERIFF KILLING MAN

Sheriff G. Clinton Logan was exonerated on charges of shooting and killing Harvey Crew, of Cecil county, by the Grand Jury Tuesday. It had been intimated earlier in the hearing that the official would be freed of the charge.

Crew, who was a native of Kent county, was shot and killed on the afternoon of November 12 when he ignored Sheriff Logan's command to halt. Judge Wickes discharged the Grand Jury after it had completed its work.
