We wish all our subscribers a Healthy and Happy Year during 1930.

NEW YEAR SPIRIT

Another glad Christmas is gone and the world moves on. Let's take stock and see how we stand. Will we continue to cultivate Good Will Toward All Men. What is good will? It is the essence of thought and act which is of lasting value.

Generosity is a beautiful thing But why should we display it only on two weeks out of the whole year.

We don't, really, amount to quite as much as we think we do. We're not quite as good, or as kind, or as noble, as we suppose.

If we could only carry over, into every-day life, the sensitiveness and consideration that we display around Christmas, we could make this into a pretty fine sort of world. The job of building the city of God, right here on this trouble-stained earth, isn't half as hard as it's cracked up to be. It would be dead easy if we'd start in the right place.

And where is that right place? Right in our own hearts, of course.

Put into your daily life the anxiety about your fellow man's welfare that you display on Christmas, and you'll have done your part.

That's all there is to it. Simple, isn't it? One of these days, won't we be able to do it?

In the death of Elwood Morris this county has lost a fine type of citizen. He was one of the men who give to farming its reputation for being honest toil and constant labor. He was clean in speech as well as dress and gave his efforts toward the good in life.

TRAPPERS BEGIN ON JANUARY 1

The Kent muskrat trappers are getting ready for the opening of the season the first of the year. There is a great demand for the muskrat for both his body and hide are valuable.

Under the State law he is more carefully safeguarded than any of its wild animals kind, for the reason that the hides fetch from $1.50 to $4 each, and that the little rodent thrives and develops best when uncared for—when left alone with its young to feed and flourish.

The law prohibits the use of anything but traps and the hunter's gun in gathering the pelts, and the season is brief, from January 1st to March 15th. Meantime no dogs are permitted to worry the "swamp rabbits" as their carcases were formerly known on market stalls. They must not be harried or frightened, nor their tranquility disturbed in any way. So altogether the life of these rats, whose pelts become "sealskin" through a method of curing, having a happy existence, able to go as they please all but 12 weeks of the 52.

It is said that last summer was unusually favorable for the rats, owing to the absence of high waters, to drown the young, and the swamps are expected to yield handsomely in cash profits. Estimates place the number of the rats that may be bred and reared to fur-bearing adults at 40 per acre, a low estimate. At $2 or even $3 a pelt the earnings of an acre of lowland are easily determined.

Unfortunately the "pot hunter," always a foe of wild life, is the worst enemy of the muskrat. Were it not for this irresponsible class of hunters the propagation of the muskrat could be conducted systematically and the in-creased revenue to the land owners along waterways would mount materially. However, the State has not been able to cope with freebooters successfully, even thru the game wardens and deputies, for like the oystermen and fishermen of many States, they seem to regard the laws protecting wild life, and the denizens of the sea or bays, as not binding on them.

Muskrats bring upwards of $75,000 a year to Kent marsh owners, for in addition to the pelts the dark red meat of the animals is appetizing enough to overcome the prejudice against serving anything of the species on our tables, and the meat brings about 40 cents a pound.

J. Carter Richardson, the bond salesman, director of the Euterpean Chorus of Easton, directed the chorus there in carol singing on Christmas Eve. The crowd started out on a tour of the town, singing carols at various street corners.

Scarlet fever is appearing in Talbot county. Eight new cases have developed the past week, six near Easton, one at Cordova and one case at Skipton.

THE ANNUAL FARM MEET

Plans have been completed and everything is in readiness for the fourteenth annual meeting of the Marland Agricultural Society, the Maryland Agricultural Society, the which will be held at the Lord Baltimore Hotel in Baltimire, January 8, 9, 10, 1930.

The program, which has been arranged by M. Melvin Stewart, Executive Secretary of the organization, will include much of general interest for farmers and Farm Bureau members of the State, hundreds of whom will be in attendance at the various sessions over which James W. Davis, President, will include men of prominence in the Farm Bureau and agricultural field of the nation.

The annual banquet, always one of the very enjoyable social features of the convention, will be held on Thursday evening, January 9th, in the handsome banquet hall of the hotel, with Dr. Thomas B. Symons, Director of the University of Maryland Extension Service, as the Toastmaster.

The speakers will include Governor Albert C. Ritchie and Dr. Robert Arthur Elwood, pastor of the Boardwalk Church, Atlantic City.. Other features of the banquet will include mass-singing and a number of interesting and amusing stunts and novelties.

The co-operative association affiliated with the parent body will hold their annual meetings simultaneously with the general sessions of the convention, with the exception of the Horticulturists who will hold their first session on Tuesday, January 7, one day prior to the opening of the convention.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

Whereas, Almighty God in His infinite wisdom, has deemed it best to remove from our midst our beloved Vice-Pdesident, James E. Morris, who has been associated with this Bank since its organization,

Resolved, That we feel deeply the loss of Mr. Morris as the Vice-President of our Board, and it is with sincere feelings of sorrow and regret that we are called upon to record his death. To be associated with him was to love him, and in all his deliberations and dealings with his fellow men he was courteous, sympathetic and fair. That we shall miss his wise counsel and advice in our deliberations and his genial presence.

Resolved, That we extend to his family our most sincere sympathy in their bereavement.

Resolved, That these resolutions be entered on the records of the Bank and a copy sent to the bereaved family and a copy to the county papers.
