LIGHTNING HITS THIS SECTION

The storm which visited this section Tuesday about 7 P. M was accompanied by thunder, lightning and hail in some places. In the midst of the flash of the lightning and roll of thunder the siren called out the Fire Company. The fire proved to be a stack of straw on Walter Moffet's farm, near Fannell's branch, and wheat stubble on the Dodd-Lusby farm, both of which were lighted by the lightning.

At 8.30 P. M. the Fire Company was called to Queen Anne's to another fire of a rick of straw in the Brown field opposite Morgan Bennett's home.

At 2 A. M. the Union School in Queen Anne's, was discovered on fire and the Chestertown Company was aroused a fourth time. While they were fighting the school house fire it was learned that a vacant house on the Newnam Evans farm, near Rolph's Wharf was on fire and a relief squad soon extinguished this blaze. Upon investigation it is believed that a fire bug set fire to the two vacant buildings as there was evidence bearing out this suspicion. The Queen Anne's authorities will leave nothing undone in ferreting out the culprit or culprits.

Harry Anderson, living on the Church Hill road, near Chestertown, lost 10 sheep by lightning Tuesday evening.

John Newsome, on the Rash farm, near Melitota, lost a mule by lightning.

The Country Club house was slightly damaged by having been struck by lightning. This makes the second time this place has been a mark for lightning bolts. The damage was slight.

Two farms of Morris Clothier near Betterton, were considerably damaged by the storm. Hail as large as hen eggs were seen and the Clothier bungalow had 42 window glasses broken.

A valuable horse belonging to Harry D. Hendrickson, of near Still Pond, was killed by lightning Tuesday evening.

NO FISH PARK

In another column will be found an ordinance which will put an end to the Square or Park in Chestertown being used as a "Fish Park." Who will be the first to open a real fish market in Chestertown

Lovers of hook and line fishing enjoyed rare sport during the past week fishing for rock fish in the headwaters of the Chesapeake Bay off Swan Point and Poole's Island. A party of Baltimore anglers out with Captain Marion Coleman, of Rock Hall one day landed 29 stripers some of which weighed six pounds each. A party of Chestertown fisherman including Walter G. Strong, Richard H. Collins, Sr., and H. Clay Brown caught several dozen large white perch near the mouth of the Chester River on Saturday.

Eleven applicants for rural letter carrier took the examination her under Postmaster William G. Smyth for a post to fill the vacancy created by the advancement of Fred S. Russell to assistant postmaster. Ridgely Brown has been acting temporary carrier and is one of the applicants.

Steve Rehak, Baltimore city fireman, and his 12-year-old son, Charles, will plunge into the bay at Tolchester, August 6, and head for Bay Shore.

About half-way across the bay Mr. Rehak will leave his son and attempt to break the record now held by Lillian Cannon, of five hours and twenty-five minutes for the 12½ miles.

Mr. Rehak will be paced by Louis Wacker, Charles Davis and Josh Gwyn, while Charles will be paced by his 10-year-old brother, Matty.

Accompanying the swimmers in the boat will be John Cook and Charles Baker.

Charles already has a reputation which is the envy of boys his age. His last swimming achievement was covering five miles in an hour and fifty minutes.

SPECIAL SESSION SOON OVER

The Maryland Legislature met in special session Tuesday to amend the regisration day law for Baltimore City in order to prevent the disfranchisement of approximately 20,000 Jews this fall.

With startling rapidity, both the Senate and the House went through the formality of organizing, appropriated $9,000 for the expenses of the special session, passed unanimously the bill changing the Baltimore registration days and adjourned within one hour and thirty minutes after they were called to order.

Senator S. Scott Beck and Delegates Arthur H. Brice and Ellsworth C. Bowers, were present as Kent's delegation.

The special sesion was believed to be the shortest ever held by the Faryland Legislature, It was the first special session since 1920, when Gov. Ritche convened the Legislature provide additional registration days order that women might qualify themselves to vote following enactment of the Nineteenth Amendment to the Federal Constitution. That session lasted three days.

Although administration leaders were ready with steam-roller tactics to stop any movement to divert the legislature from the purpose for which it was called, these precautions were not necessary. By the time Speaker E Brooke Lee called the House to order and Senator David G. McIntosh, Jr. rapped his gavel for order in the Senate, all indications of recalcitrancy to the adopted program had disappeared completely.

The session Tuesday was the first special one ever held which confined its activities to the object for which it was called. The attendance also proved a surprise. With Annapolis sweltering in one of the hottest days of the year, 112 members answered their names in the House, all who possibly could attend. In the Senate twenty-five members answered present, but of the four absent members two had resigned and one was dead.

HOSPITAL BIDS OPENED

Bids amounting to $56,657.26 were received by the building committee of the Kent and Upper Queen Anne's Hospital Association Tuesday for the construction, heating, electric wiring and plumbing in the hospital building which the association is planning to erect in Chestertown in the near future.

The building committee which consists of Howard Turner, chairman, William G. Smyth, vice-chairman, W. Irving Walker, secretary, John White and W. B. Copper, will refer these figures to Harry P. Hopkins, architect of the building and query him as to wether the building plans can be curtailed to bring the bids within the building budget of the hospital association.

The building committee will refer the bids and report of the architect to the general association at a meeting which is scheduled for Chestertown next Monday evening.

Various bids were received by the building committee and ranged from the low bids to one many thousand dollars higher. The total of $56,657.26 was the sum of the low bids for the four divisions of the construction work.

The low bid for construction was made by Charles Broham, of Cambridge, Md., and was for $46,508.

The low bid for heating was made by Edward Mabley and Brother and was for $3,420.

The low plumbing bid was submitted by W. H. Thawley, of Chestertown, and was for $3,813.73.

The low electric wiring bid was submitted by Frank E. Briggs, of Chestertown, and was for $2,915.53.

KENT COUNTIANS SAFE ABROAD

The fears of Chestertown relatives for the safety of members of their families who are touring countries of Europe because of the Earthquake disaster which occured in Italy, one of the countries in the itinerary of some of them, have been allayed by letters and cablegrams stating that thew are safe. Associated Press dispatches also state that there were no Americans in earthquake district.

Mrs. Thomas G. Wroth, after repeated efforts to reach her son, Dr. B. Blackiston Wroth, member of the faculty of the Georgia School of Technology, Atlanta, Ga., who is touring the continent with a party of friends, was successful when she received a cablegram from him, July 24th, dated Paris, stating that he received her first letter announcing the death of his father which occurred one week after he sailed from New York.

While the family of Dr. Paul E. Titsworth, who is touring the continent with a party of tourists has had no word from him since the earthquake disaster, they state that his travels were not in the vicinity of the earthquake zone.

In a letter to Dean Jones Dr. Titsworth says he has been wearing an overcoat most of the time.

A letter received Tuesday by J. D. Bacchus from his wife who is visiting London and witnessing the Passion Play at Oberammergau in company with her son, James L. Bacchus, of New York City states that they are well and will sail on Saturday for home.

TWO PORTRAITS FOR COLLEGE

Mrs. Ethel Pennington Leach, of Frederica, Del., well-known artist who painted a portrait of the late Dr. Charles W. Reid of Milford Del., one-time president of Washington College is now engaged on a portrait of the late Rev. Francis Waters, who served as head of the local institution for two terms from 1818 to 1823 and from 1854 to 1860. The painting will be hung in William Smith Hall, beside paintings of other former presidents of the Eastern Shore college.

The cost of the painting will be borne by Ernest A. Howard, of the duPont Company, Wilmington, who graduated from the College in 1905 and who has contributed a fund for that purpose. Announcing the gift Dean J. S. William Jones said that the former president of the school was chairman of a convention held in Old Liberty Street Independent Methodist Church, Baltimore, in 1830, where the formation of the Methodist Protestant Church was accomplished.

It was the Rev. Francis Waters who proposed the name of the new denomination. His portrait will be formally unveiled at commenceent exercises to be held in June, 1931.

Dean J. S. W. Jones, of Washington College, has announced a second gift of a fund for painting the portrait of a former distinguished official of the college. Largely through the efforts of Dean Jones, Clemm J. Jones, of Athens, Tenn., has donated the money to defray the expense of painting the portrait of the late Judge Ezekiel F. Chambers, one time United States Senator from Maryland, member of the Kent County Circuit Court Bench, and president of the Board of Visitors and Governors of Washington College from 1843 to 1867.

The contributor of the fund is a great grandson of Judge Chambers and is a son of the late Rev. Milnor Jones, a former resident of Chestertown, who graduated from the college in 1866.

This portrait will be unveiled at the commencement exercises in June 1931.

SHERIFF HALTS ELOPING PAIR

The marriage of Anna Eva Kerr, 17, of Chews Landing, N.J. and Elmer T. Wheeler 22, of Glassboro N. J. was halted Saturday by Deputy Sheriff Robert E. Lee, of Kent county, on request of the girl's parents.

Mr. Lee appeared at the home of the Rev. J. Harry Wright just as he was starting the wedding ceremony. The Sheriff said the girl's parents were at Elkton and had telephoned ahead in an effort to halt the marriage.

The deputy clerk of the court immediately revoked the license to obtain which the girl had given her age as 18. The Sheriff said her parents said she was but 17 and that they would not give their consent to the marriage.

AUTOMOBILE COLLISIONS

D. Raymond Hill driving a Ford car and Merritt Thompson in George Baldwin's Maytag car collided near Kennedyville Wednesday. Both cars were badly damaged but the drivers escaped with slight injuries. At a hearing before Justice Nickerson Mr. Thompson was fined $5.00 and costs.

James Karganis of Elkton, was severely injured Monday morning when the automobile in which he was riding collided with a truck of the Maryland Biscuit Company and was subsequently struck by a truck owned by H. C. Plant, of Betterton, in whose path it had been thrown by the first collision.

The accident occured on the Wye Mills road about four miles south of Centreville.

Qaraganis was removed to Emergency Hospital where physcians said he had sustained a broken leg and severe lacerations.

James Meeds, aged 60, a well-known colored helper on Benj. Redmond's farm, near Millington, was found dead on the porch Wednesday night. He was left home while Mr. Redmond went out fo rthe evening and upon his return found his foreman dead. The coroner pronounced heart failure as cause of death.

Studebaker Speed King Visits Here

Cliff Bergere was in Chestertown last Tuesday and gave the KENT NEWS editor a thrill by taking us down the Quaker Neck road for a spin The famous racing driver pulled up to the curb in front of the Studebaker showroom in Church Hill in his New Series Studebaker Roadster and was busily engaged in discussing and demonstrating the new free wheelStudebaker Eights to many interested citizens. Bergere, whose name is familiar to everyone interestd in automobile racing, is a most pleasant and expert driver.

The car Bergere is driving is a distinctly new body type-- the President Eight Four - Seasons roadster, combining all the smartness of a roadster with unique features of design which make it a practical car for all-weather driving.

In fair weather, top and windshield may be folded down to permit a clear sweep of the breeze. When overtaken by a sudden shower, or fo rautumn and winter driving, top and windows may be raised, and in a short time the car is transformed into a snug coupe. Or, the car may be driven with top down and windows raised for protection against the wind. The old bugbear of open cars, unwieldy and flapping side-curtains, has been removed.

It is in performance, however that this car excels, according to Bergere. "It eclipses even the history making President roadster which set and still holds the official world record for sustained stock car speed and endurance. And supplementing its greater power and smoothess, is the greatest advancement in 19 years of engineering-free wheeling, found only on Studebaker President and Commander Eights. Free wheeling is exclusive to Studebaker, being manufactured under Studebaker Patents.

This is not the first time that Bergere has demonstrated the superiority of Studebaker President Eights. In 1928, at the Atlantic City Speedway, he was one of the drivers who helped pilot the world champion President roadster 30,000 miles in 26,326 minutes-an avearge speed of 68.37 miles per hour for 19 days and 18 nights continuous running. Not one, but four President Eights participated in this run, all of them finishing at average speeds in excess of 63 miles per hour.

In ten years of racing, Bergere has more than once come within an ace of death. In discussing his exploits, however, he is modesty itself.

KENT COUNTY FARM NOTES

By COUNTY AGENT

Poultry Disease Clinic will be held on Friday, August 8th, at the Farm Bureau Office. Kent growers having poultry troubles may receive expert advice free from Dr. H. M. DeValt, a specialist in poultry diseases in charge of the James Todd Laboratories of the University of Maryland at College Park, Md.

Birds may be brought or sent to Dr. DeVolt at the Farm Bureau office on Friday, August 8th, or may be sent to him at College Park, Md. It is well to send a statement of the care, feed, and management of the birds in trouble, along with the history of the trouble with your flock.

Those interested in hearing the U. S. Marine Band and 4-H Club Work should tune in from 12.45 to 1.30 P. M. Eastern Standard Time, Saturday, August 2nd. A Maryland Club boy will speak along with other State and national representatives.

Kent poultrymen interested in securing offical certification and Pullorum (Gacillary White Diarrhea) disease testing, may secure rules and regulations and blank contracts from the County Agent's office.

County Agent J. D. McVean and his assistant, Professor E. W. King have selected William Carroll, Walter Rees and Wilbur Morris, Jr., three members of the Kent County 4-H Boy's Clover Calf Club as the team which will represent the county at the annual dairy cattle judging contest to be held at College Park under the direction of the State Extension Service the week of August 7 in connection with the annual club week program.

State Grange At Beltsville.

Farmers interested in Grange activities and seeing the splendid work being done at the U. S. Animal Husbandry Experimental Farm at Beltsville, Md., are urged to attend the State Grange Day at that farm on Saturday, August 2nd.

A splendid lunch will be available for the small sum of twenty-five cents. Those interested in making the trip are requested to notify the County Agent in order that number of lunches, seats, etc., may be assured.

A splendid speaking program will take but an hour and ahalf of the day.

By using the new Kent Island Ferry, the Eastern Shore farmers make the whole trip in one day and enjoy the full program.

A New Insect Pest.

County Agent is receiving numerous calls for control of the stripped blister beetle, which some know as the old fashioned potato bug. This beetle is attacking the foliage of tomatoes, beets, etc. The State Entomologist recommends the use of sodium fluosilicate as the best control for the pest.

Condition Of Tomato Crops.

The Canning Crops Specialist, L. M. Goodwin, Mr. F. M. Shook, Field Secretary of the Tri-State Packers Association, have just completed an inspection of 462 fields of tomatoes in Maryland and Delaware. They report about one-third good fields, one-third fair fields, and one-third poor fields.

Ram Sale Successful.

The Fourth Annual Ram Sale held at Centreville, July 29th, was a big success, especially from the buyers standpoint.

As predicted, the price range was much lower than last year. The sale furnished a splendid opportunity to secure good purebred rams at very reasonable prices.

H. Stockton Startt as usual brought home a number of very good rams for use in Kent county flocks.

The local Farm Bureau report that they have purchased 125,000 bushels of Kent county wheat so far this year.

Two young men, one form near Galena and the other from near Tolchester, showed what they could do when inspired by the devil last Thursday evening. They tore down about a dozen mail boxes on road from the oaks to Tolchester and on road in same neighborhood. They are known and will have to answer to Uncle Sam

We mention this item to warn others against molesting in any way mail boxes.
