FIRE CO. BAND ON THE RADIO

The Chestertown Volunteer Fire Company's Band went to Baltimore Sunday morning and for one hour presented a splendid program over station WFGR. While the reception in Chestertown was not perfect on account of static, the concert was of a high standard and won great applause from the thousands of listeners. The program included marches, overtures, duets by Miller Bros., solo by Mr. Fetter accompanied by piano played by H. W. Fallowfield, Jr., clarinet quartet, etc., all under the baton of Prof. Charles Arthur Bacon.

An interesting feature of the broadcast was the presentation of the silver cup by the Baltimore City Fire Commission to the Chestertown Band. Wm. G. Smyth, past-president, received the cup on behalf of the musicians and incidentally mentioned that the same drummer of the band, W. Miller Maslin, marched from beginning to end of parade and never missed a tap. And then a "human rooster "crowed!"

The cup was inscribed:

BETTERTON IS BEAUTIFUL

Betterton, well known to the people of Maryland is making special preparations for the largest crowd of visitors in its history, July 4th and 5th. Dating from Decoration Day, large crowds have been coming in for the week-ends and there has been a fairly number of visitors remaining during the week.

The dances have been well attended, at the Betterton Casino, the music being exceptionally good. Featuring Moxie Cunningham and his ALL-STAR Orchestra. The dances are now being run every morning and every evening until after Labor Day.

The hotels and cottages report the best early season in the history of the resort. All the amusements on the piers are going and there is sufficient variety of attractions to afford the visitors plenty of pleasure.

Betterton is ideally located at the head of the Chesapeake Bay, having a high elevation, with a beautiful view of seven or eight miles of water, wonderful country as a back ground and fine cement roads leading from all directions. At this resort you can enjoy both rest and recreation. Automobile drives, canoeing and boating in the cool mornings. Excellent bathing in the afternoons. Dancing and Movies at night. These attractions with the usual resort amusements give ample pleasure to satisfy the visitors.

Betterton, wharf, built in 1855, at which the Tolchester Line of Steamers have stopped for so many years, has been rebuilt with a fine promenade deck. A gasoline station has been equipped on the end of the dock and accommodations provided for the gathering of yachts. In many ways Betterton has made a decided step forward in 1930. The Resort is well patronized by people from Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Maryland and Delaware and District of Columbia.

The Royal Swan Club with a membership of four hundred people is within a mile and a half. Golf is becoming one of the chief attractions. Many improvements have been made at Betterton this season and a special park for the free parking of automobiles has been acquired.

ELKTON REGAINS CUPID TRADE

Because the system of issuing marriage licenses at the Elkton court house has undergone a material change recently, the number of couples coming here, seeking marrying parsons, has decreased at least fifty per cent during June, according to Deputy Clerk of Court Thomas Dixon.

For several months, Clerk Ralp Andrews at Elkton has refused to issue licenses after office hours, at night or on Sunday. Consequently the number of prospective brides and grooms coming to this Gretna Green took a jump upward.

Last month, it is said, the old order was reverted to by Clerk Andrews and the business of the local marriage mart has therefore suffered, it is revealed.

ROTARY HONORS LIFE SAVERS

James Anthony and Medford Brooks, Jr., youthful heroes, who last week saved Rayfield Reed, 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard I. Reed from drowning, were the guests of honor at the weekly meeting of the Chestertown Rotary Club on Monday. Young Anthony is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Rumsey Anthony and young Brooks is the son of Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Brooks.

Reports from the various Rotary committees were heard at the meeting. It was the last meeting at which the office holders of the past year officiated. Next week the new officers will be installed.

GUS CROTHERS NAMED

Omar D. "Gus" Crothers, former University of Maryland star athlete, has been named as assistant coach at Washington College for the year 1930-31.

Crothers was an outstanding athlete in football and lacrosse at the State university. He acted as captain of the grid squad in his last year. Following his graduation he returned to his alma mater for a year as an athletic assistant. He is a native of Elkton, Md.

WHEAT THRESHING

Benjamin F. Rash at Worton Station got an average of 26 bushels per acre off 23 acres of fallow and 26 acres of corn ground, total 49 acres. He paid 8 cents per bushel for threshing and $2 per day for help including board. "Without board, the price paid is $2.50," says Mr. Rash. The farmers claim that 79 cent wheat their labor and other charges must be reduced.

J. I. Rigby on the Vickers home farm, near town, threshed 26¼ bushels per acre.

4-H Girls Organize A County Federation

On June 25th, 1930, girls from all over Kent county came to the meeting held in the High School at Chestertown. The meeting was opened by singing. Lelia Anthony acted as chairman. Louise Ackerman of Fairlee gave the purpose of organizisg into a County Federation. The motto she gave is to "Lose Without Squealing and Win Without Boasting."

Officers were then elected as follows:

President, Sarah Morris, Flatland Club.

Vice President, Dorothy Jones, Still Pond Club.

Secretary, Betty Moffett, Flatland Club.

Treasurer, Emily Sutton, Flatland Club.

About twenty-one girls entered the Style Show. All dresses were made very nicely and looked well.

Mrs. William Medders told a story which everyone enjoyed. Then the girls had lunch. Ice cream was for sale.

After lunch the meeting was opened again. Miss McPheeters judged the dresses—these are the placings:

Class 1. — Ensembles; 1st, Mary Virginia Brown; 2nd, Louise Ackerman.

Class 2, Afternoon Dress — 1st Louise Morris; 2nd, Emily Sutton; 3rd, Ruth Williams.

Class 3, School Dress; Club Work two years or more—1st. Sarah Morris; 2nd, Betty Moffett; 3rd, Elizabeth Clothier and Virginia Miller.

Class 8, School Dress (9 years)—1st Jeanette Sutton; 2nd, Tilly Logan.

Class 9, School Dress (8 years)—Virginia Newcomb.

Mrs. Sutton gave an interesting talk, her subject being "MusicWashes Away the Soul the Dust of Everyday Life." She told the history of music. Emily and Jeannette Sutton sang the "Little Sir Echo" song. Flatland Club sang the "Crocodile Song;" then all sang "Down by the Old Mill Stream;" "Dreaming" and "Maryland My Maryland."

The newly elected president, Sarah Morris, gave greetings and asked that we "Make Our Best Better."

Demonstrations — First, Music, by Lelia Anthony and Virginia Gosman, Still Pond Club; Second, School Lunch, Marion Edwards and Julia Cruikshank, of Galena Club; Third, How a School Girl Can Be Trig and Trim, Emily Sutton and Mary Worth Moffett, Flatland Club; Fourth, The School Lunch, by Margaret Hendrickson and Elizabeth Elliott, of Fairlee Club; Fifth, Canning Asparagus, by Ann and Arabel Robinson, of Sassafras Club.

Miss Schellinger then read the names of those who were to receive certificates for the club work they had completed.

Clothing, Canning and Bread was judged in the morning. Those who received prizes are:

A, Canned Fruit—1st, Betty Moffett; 2nd, Sarah Morris; 3rd, Louise Ackermon.

B, Canned Vegetables—1st, Betty Moffett; 2nd, Barbara Bigelow; 3rd, Sarah Morris.

C, Slips—1st, Betty Moffett; 2nd, Barbara Bigelow.

D., Bread—1st, Barbara Bigelow; 2nd, Betty Moffett; 3rd, Sarah Morris.

E., Dresses—1st, Louise Ackerman; 2nd, Barbara Bigelow; 3rd, Betty Moffett.

Each of these girls received ribbons.

The Demonstration Teams receiving ribbons are:

First. "How a School Girl Can Be Trig and Trim," Mary Wroth Moffett and Emily Sutton, of Flatland This team goes to College Park to represent Kent county at Club Week.

Second, Music—Lelia Anthony and Virginia Gosman, of Still Pond.

Second, School Lunch — Margaret Hendrickson and Elizabeth Elliott, of Fairlee.

The articles on exhibit were looked at and the meeting was adjourned.

Miss Schellinger told the girls that those placing first would probably go to College Park to judge and be in the Style Show.

This is the first meeting of the Kent Girls 4-H Clubs together and it was a great success. The girls hope to continue with these meetings.

TOWN CONTRACTS
GARBAGE SYSTEM

The Board of Commissioners for Chestertown have entered into a contract with Leon Brown to haul all the garbage from the town from July, 1930, to July, 1931, for $2,000. The town also sold to Mr. Brown the fine pair of grey mules and harness for $375.

This contract will necessitate the laying off one man and that man is Palmore Wilford who has faithfully served the town for five years. Thos. Kennard and Clarence Fowler will look after the streets. In retiring from his job as collector of garbage, the "NEWS" takes pleasure in commending the work of Mr.Kennard. He has been industrious andconscientious in serving the public.

Mr. Brown will furnish his own wagon and help and also find a place at which to dump the garbage which will be in his marsh at Radcliffe.

CONTRACT AWARDED

Walter T. Pippin and Son, contractors and builders, have been awarded contract to build for the State Roads Commission a house in which Chester river's bridge tender will reside. This residence will occupy a site near Mr. Noll's home. The contract price was about $2,300. The present bridge keeper is Wm. C. Brown.

PROPOSE INCREASE OF WATER SUPPLY

The Chestertown Water Board of which Thomas W. Eliason is chairman and Charles S. Smith, superintendent, is considering plans to increase the water supply of Chestertown as a means of providing for the emergency of a serious drought such as the town is now experiencing and also to lessen the danger from fires. Durig the past ten days meetings have been held and inspection trips made to other towns on the peninsula.

The outcome of the discussions may result in the driving of additional wells to greater depths than the present sources of supply and the providing of additional storage tank capacity, as well as the laying of new and large water mains in sections of the town. Some definite action will shortly be taken.

PUBLIC SALE SEASON BEGINS

The Kent News "sale calendar" has been started for the season. This calendar marks the beginning of the public sales for 1930.

Already dates are being marked on the calendar and thousands of dollars worth of property will go under the hammer.

For many years August has been a popular month for sales of personalty and this year probably will prove no exception.

Maude and Jennie, the familiar mule twins and various other items on the sale list will be back again to attract spirited bidders from ambitious owners.

The Chestertown Volunteer Fire Company Band won a $25 prize at Greensboro Wednesday night for best band.

SPECIAL EVENT SET

A special match race will be staged between the Chesapeake Bay Log Sailing Canoes "Island Blossom" and "Mayflower" off the Chester River Yacht and Country Club on the morning of July Fourth. The race will probably be started about 10 A. M. Arrangements for the match were completed at a meeting presided over by Captain Ned Emory.

The "Island Blossom" is owned by Stanley Evans, of Elkton, and sails under the colors of the local club and is manned by a crew of local sailing enthusiasts.

The "Mayflower" was recently purchased and reconditioned by Howard Strong, of Chestertown. It will be manned by a crew of Rock Hall sailors.

Wheat is pouring into the markets and the price is around 80 cents. The old cry of "no money in wheat at that price" is heard on all sides. The marvelous thing about it is that they continue to do the same thing. A friend of the farmer remarks, "One of the two things is sure. Either the farmer does not know which he is making money or else his business ability needs sharpening."

A successful business man would never think of restocking his shelves with merchandise on which he could not make a profit. He changes off for something that he can make money on and this should be the aim of the growers if they lose money in growing it.

Wheat was quoted at 81¼ cents by local buyers yesterday.

NEW FERRY FOR QUEEN ANNE'S

A driving wind out of the northwest, bringing sheets of rain, descended on the 10,000 persons gathered for the new ferry service between Annapolis and Matapeake, on Kent Island, and drove them to their automobiles and to the few stands erected for the occasion.

As the last fleet of the pageant passed the reviewing stand, the black clouds, which had been gatheirng since early afternoon, opened up and a blanket of water descended, turning costumed pageant participants, gaily dressed women and immacuately garbed men into just so many wet bedraggled humans.

There is many a speech that has gone unsaid, many a tribute left in the mind of the speaker to be brought out and dusted off for a later occasion. For all of the speeches scheduled for the conclusion of the pageant for and conclusion of the pageant were called off.

Governor Ritchie; former Governor Emerson C. Harrington, of the Claiborne-Annapolis Ferry Company, sponsors of the fete; Charles Deb Claiborne, only lineal male descendant of Capt. William Claiborne, the first white man to start a trading post on Kent Island, and others prominent in political and social life on the Eastern Shore literally were made speechless by the storm.

Before the rain broke up the afternoon schedule, however, a gleaming warm sun had cast its spell over the thousands who were determined to enter into a carnival spirit. The John M. Dennis, which brought most of the spectators to Matapeake from Annapolis, was filled with a gay throng, among whom were politicians from the Shore and Baltimore.

In fact, the conversations on the boat largely were political and many a Democratic heart beat contentedly at the sight of Governor Ritchie, former Major Howard W. Jackson and Philip Perlman chatting on the forward deck. It was not long before former Governor Harrington drifted over to the group with Eugene H. Beer, Democratic leader in the Eleventh Ward, Baltimore.

Whatever rift there might be in the Democratic ranks, it was forgotten for the afternoon as politicians, humble and important, gathered around the Governor.

As the Dennis cut through the choppy waters of the bay, preceded by the State steamer Governor McLane, bearing the foreign dignitaries and their parties, two flying boats of the navy gracefully circled the ship, dipping in salute and flying so low that pilot and observer could be discerned easily.

The navy craft soon were joined by a third plane, the Maryland Free State, piloted by J. B. Scholte and G. J. Geysendorffer and containing Van-Lear Black and his party from Baltimore. The huge tri-motored craft, with its wings of gold and blue fuselage, swooped over the Dennis and McLane and flew on to Matapeake, only to return its salutations a number of times as the ships steamed across the bay.

As they neared Matapeake gayly decorated craft came out to greet the steamers and escorted them into the newly completed slip.

Aboard the McLane were representatives of four nations.

The ambassadors and their parties were met by automobiles and taken to the reviewing stand, where Governor Ritchie. Mr. Harrington, Mr. Caliborne, Dudley G. Roe, Senator from Queen Anne's county and master of ceremonies; Swepson Earle, State Conservation Commissioner; J. Frank Harper, member of the Public Service Commission and a Centreville native; Representative T. Alan Goldsborough, of Detnon; Harry C. Flowers, of Queen Anne's, and E. H. Brown, Jr., of Centreville.

Past And Present Linked.

The pageant combined the present with the romantic past of the Eastern Shore. The first float contained the Queen of the pageant, Miss Edoise Anne Palmer, Stevensville High School, attended by her maids of honor, Miss Addie May McFarland, Church Hill High School, Miss Susanna Bramble, Centreville; Miss Ruth Sewell, Tri-County High School, and Miss Isabelle Faith Raughley, Sudlersville High School.

The State Conservation Commission depicted in its float the growth of the fish and shell industry of the Chesapeake Bay. King Neptune, with a fair-haired mermaid, dominated the picture, while at their feet the fish, the crab and the oyster, which have contributed to the fame of the Free State, crawled. This float won second prize of $25.

The Jeff Davis Post of the American Legion, Centreville, followed in line and pictured a gun emplacement of the American Expeditionary
