Trout and Warner M. P. Ministers Die

The Rev. Dr. J. W. Trout, one of the three Maryland retired ministers of the Maryland Annual Conference of the Methodist Protetsant Church, died in York, Pa., Friday while on a visit to his sister, Mrs. Ella Shelly there. He was a resident of Washington, D. C., but had served in Kent County, at Easton, and other places.

He began his career in 1876 as a circuit rider on the Kent and Baltimore circuits of the Maryland Annual Conference. He then served as pastor of North Carolina Avenue Church, Washington, and Eutaw Church, Baltimore. In 1882 he went again on a circuit, this time in Howard county, but returned after two years to the pastorate of North Carolina Avenue Church, Washington.

In 1889 he was assigned to a pastorate in Easton, and from there came to Broadway, Baltimore. For ten years he was pastor of the M. P. Church at Elizabeth, New Jersey, and was for eighteen years pastor of St. Luke's Church, Philadelphia. He then served in Kennedyville, Md., from 1923 to 1926. His last pastorate was Hawley Memorial Church near Pen Mar, Pa. He was considered one of the ablest orators of the conference. His wife was the beloved Miss Rose Wyatt, of Chestertown.

Following a lingering illness, the Rev. Dr. Luther Farwell Warner, pastor of Linthicum Heights M. P. Church and former pastor of churches at Dover, Del., and Salisbury and Easton on the Eastern Shore of Maryland, died Friday morning at his home in the parsonage adjoining the church. Stricken in his pulpit in November, his condition did not become serous until about a month later, when he was given a leave of absence by his official board.

After his return from Florida, a cable was sent the Rev. Paul F. Warner, his son, a missoinary in Japan. Young Mr. Warner sailed on the first eastbound ship to rush to the bedside of his father, arriving March 4, after having traveled 6,000 miles over land and sea. He has been at the bedside of his father almost constantly, and has taken over the pulpit at Linthicum Heights Church.

The father had placed at his bedside a world map, and recorded the movement of his son's progress thru the medium of a miniature ship.

Dr. Warner was one of the most prominent ministers of the Methodist Protestant Church in the United States. He had served in the leading churches in Maryland and, for three years, was president of the Maryland Annual Conference.

Besides his three-year term as president of the conference, he also was delegate to the general church conference four times.

He was married in 1893 to Susan V. Gardner, of Frederick county, who survices. Also surviving are two sons, the Rev. Paul F. Warner and C. Gardner Warner, of the department of pathology of the University of Maryland; a daughter, Mrs. Milton L. Pope, of Salisbury, and four brothers—Dr. R. A. Warner, George T. Warner, Frank Warner and Edgar Warner.
