Mr. Baker had driven his car to the store in the village of Fairlee to get some provisions. He returned about 9 o'clock and put his car in the garage. As he came out of the garage and was about to close the large door a man stepped out from behind and hit him on the head a terrible blow. The Chestertown Fire Company has been kept on the jump recently and have done fine work under adverse conditions.

The home of Edward Patrick, on West High street, near the cemetery, was badly damaged by fire of an undetermined origin, which Saturday night threatened to spread to several large oil tanks belonging to the Texas Oil Company.

By running two long lines of hose from the nearest fire plug at Culp's factory, 300 yards away, the Chestertown volunteer firemen checked the flames before the building was entirely destroyed. Damage was placed at about $1,000. There was no one at home when the fire was discovered and the interior of the house was ablaze when the alarm was given.

HEALTH WEEK GREAT OCCASION

Another important event in the history of the Kent County colored race occurred this week. This was Negro Health Week. It opened with a most creditable parade Monday night in Chestertown. Much credit is due Miss Forte, the colored health nurse.

Teachers and students worked out an elaborate program for the parade under the direction of Miss Majory Forte, county nurse. At the invitation of the Kent County Public Health Association which fosters every movement for the betterment of health conditions in Kent, the Chestertown Firemen's Band led the health army in its line of march. Next in line was the Public Health Association's car with Miss White, the county nurse, and the officials of the Association; this car was preceded and followed by flag-bearers. Then came the other county nurse's car which was followed by the ambulance and the ambulance corps with one little colored child posing as a patient. Three well-planned floats depicted various phases of work and cleanliness, many colored schools in the county were represented by numbers of students and teachers in gaily decorated cars. Some 50 cars were in line and the lighted torches added much to the scene.

The parade ended at Bethel Church where exercises were held. The speaker of the evening was Dr. Paul E. Titsworth, president of Washington College and president of the Kent County Chamber of Commerce. Dr. Titsworth spoke on the relation of cleanliness to health among individuals in body and mind and how community cleanliness can make for community health.

Dr. Lucius Butler who is acting as dental clinician for Kent this week, gave a brief talk on the object of the Negro Health Week and a second talk on the importance of Oral Hygiene.

Quartettes from the Garnet High School and the Sharptown Elementary School entertained with several numbers as did two of the prize speakers in the recent Declamation Contest given at Garnet High School.

A SPLENDID RECEPTION

The Kent County Musical Society gave their sacred concert in the New Theatre, Easton, Sunday afternoon, to more than 700 interested listeners. The concert was sponsored by the Euterpean Choral Society, of Easton. Mrs. Robert Harris, president of this society, made an appropriate opening speech followed by Dr. Paul E. Titsworth on behalf of the Chestertown singers. Mrs. Cleveland S. Smith was in charge of the chorus with Dr. W. R. Ferris guest director.

The chorus was composed of mixed voices, including a double male quartette from Washington College, who repeated their fine rendition of the "Old Rugged Cross." Wm. Rogers Phillips lent his extraordinary talent as the producer of the three tableaux —Penitence, Pardon and Peace— which was posed by Misses Virginia Hughes and Mary Anne Cowmon, of Easton. The soloists of this concert were W. R. Hubbard, Floyd J. Morgan, Elwood Wagner, Mr. Nordstedt, Roy Schmidt, Mrs. Fred. G. Usilton and Mrs. Cleveland S. Smith. Miss Lauise B. Russell was accompanist, and Dr. F. G. Livingood directed the orchestra.

The Euterpean Choral Society was much pleased to bring this neighboring musical organization to Easton, and gave them an appreciative and inspiring audience Sundoy afternoon.

ROTARY NOTES

At the regular meeting of the Chestertown Rotary Club at Maryland Inn last Monday night, Dr. Clarke Fontaine, superintendent of High Schools for the Eastern Shore, gave a most enlightening address upon the High School of the past, present and future. He will continue his talk next Monday night.

W. Robert Huey, has been elected delegate, and Clinton C. Jones, alternate to represent the Chestertown Rotary Club at the 34th District Conference of Rotary International which will be held in Hagerstown, April 27, 28 and 29.

THE ALARM WORKS

The burglar alarm on the Chestertown Bank went "off" at 10 P. M. Thursday and for 15 minutes continued to alarm. Sheriff and officers came with guns, pistols, etc., and a crowd collected to see the capture. The "robber" proved to be James W. Crouch, teller of the bank. He had business in the bank and accidentally touched one of the wires running to the alarm. The blushing teller was embarrassed at the result of his touch.

WM. R. PRICE'S WILL

The will of the late William R. Price was admitted to probate in the Orphans' Court for Kent County last Tuesday. It was dated November 14th, 1927, and witnessed by James T. Stahr and the real estate to W. R. Price, son of C. Henry Price for life and at his death to his youngest son as it is his desire to keep that part of Stoneton in the Price family.

At the death of Ethel M. Stahr he directs his Trustees to sell all personal property and divide equally among children of C. Henry Price.

Should one of the Trustees die or be unable to serve he names Wm. T. Jewell to serve.

Miss Nancy Baker Price is willed his collection of guns excepting rifle and shot gun that were left Henry S. Stahr during his life and then go to Miss Nancy B. Price.

FOUR FIRES APRIL FIRST

April 1st proved no fool's day for the Chestertown Volunteen Fire Company, because they were called out four times during the 24 hours and did good work each time.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Percy V. Hendrickson, at Pomona, took fire at 6 A. M. Tuesday and burned to the ground together with furniture, clothing and valuables. The fire started in the bedroom of an 8-year-old colored boy and spread rapidly. Mr. Hendrickson was at the stable and was notified by a passer-by. He called to his wife and daughter who made their escape with part of their clothing in their arms. Miss Eugenia had time to only put on one shoe while Mrs. H. did not even have a chance to get her glasses.

The loss is put at $5,000 with $1500 insurance on building and $1,900 on contents. Among the losses were two valuable silver services which were family heirlooms. The building was a landmark at Pomona and for years was the only store, postoffice, etc. It was erected by the late James H. Baker and S. Frank Smith was among the carpenters who worked on it. John C. Davis, C. N. Satterfield and others lived in the building some years ago.

At 11.00 o'clock same evening the firemen were called to fight a blaze which broke out in the town dump, which threatened nearby dwellings, and at 3 P. M. they were summoned to fight a chimney fire at the home of John H. Moffett, near Lynch, six miles from here.

The fourth call came from Queenstown when fire companies from Chestertown, Easton, Church Hill and Centreville were summoned to aid in fighting a blaze which destroyed a vacant three-story frame house, owned by Michael Aker, and damaged two adjoining structures. Origin of the blaze was undetermined.

Two outside firemen were called to render aid when it appeared that the blaze would get beyond control.

The Queenstown ice plant, owned by John Bishop, and the home of John W. Nelson were the structures that were damaged.

About 7 A. M. on Monday the firemen were called to the new home of Albert Rawleigh on Cannon street when a laundry stove in the basement exploded. No damage resulted from fire but windows were broken, boiler broken and bricks in the building blown loose from the force of the explosion.

At 8 A. M. Thursday the firemen were called to extinguish a chimney fire in Queen Anne's on the Klinefelter farm tenanted by Henry Smith.

The firemen answered nine calls in March and started April with a record of five alarms. Thus far in 1930 the firemen have been called out about 26 times.

Parents Day At The College

The annual observance of Parents' Day was held at Washington College Thursday.

The program began at the weekly assembly of the students at 11 A. M. in William Smith Hall, which was attended by more than one hundred of the parents. Following an address of welcome by President Paul E. Titsworth, response was made by Rev. John White, father of one of the students. The principal address of the morning was delivered by Reginald V. Truitt, who is known as the father of the sport of lacrosse at the University of Maryland, who spoke on "Lacrosse as a College sport."

During the program a number of musical selections were played by the college orchestra under the direction of Dr. Fred G. Livingood, and Mrs. Fred. G. Usilton, mother of Frederick G. Usilton, Jr., one of the college freshmen, and Roy A. Schmidt, of Elkton, rendered solos. The Rev. Charles L. Atwater, rector of Emmanuel Protestant Episcopal Church, and father of one of the freshmen co-eds, conducted devotional exercises.

At noon the visitors and members of the Oxford-Cambridge lacrosse team were guests of the faculty at luncheon in the college commons. Following luncheon the visitors were conducted on a tour of inspection through the college buildings and grounds and at 3 o'clock they witnessed the lacrosse game between Washington College and the famous Oxford-Cambridge University lacrosse team of England on the college athletic field.

In the evening an informal reception was tendered the visiting players followed by a dance in the gymnasium. The members of the Oxford-Cambridge team were entertained overnight in the homes of residents in the town. The observance of Parents' Day has been one of the most important features of college activities throughout the administration of President Titsworth and it is becoming more popular each year.

$60,000 FARM TO A NEW YORKER

Announcement was made by the Eestern Shore Estates Co., composed of Oliver C. Jones, of Centreville, and Sterling G. Harris, of New York, of the sale of "Cheston-on-Wye" one of the most historic and picturesque of Queen Anne's county water front estates. The sale price is reported to have been aroond $60,000 and the new owner is a prominent New York financier.

Tht purchaser requested that his name not be disclosed, but Mr. Jones stated that the new owner will develop "Cheston-on-Wye" as a stock farm. On the spacious lawn will be erected a new brick dwelling of colonial design. The barns, stables and outbuildings will harmonize with the home structure.

The farm consists of 760 acres including 200 acres of forest land on the estate. Bridle paths will be constructed throughout the woodland and the shore front.

This estate for mony generations was the ancestral home of the De Courseys, one of the oldest families of the shore. It was an original grant from Lord Baltimore to one of the DeCourseys, who came to America as a titled Irishman.

ENGLISH WIN GAME

A fine crowd braved the rain to see the Englishmen and Washington College play a game of lacrosse. Most of the crowd were in autos.

The Oxford-Cambridge team stepped out to a good lead in its quest for the international lacrosse championship and the Flannery Cup when it trounced the College twelve by an 18-to-0 score.

This victory, the first of their itinerary of 14 games scheduled against American teams, gives the English stickwielders a margin of 13 points in the cup chase. They earned two points while being beaten by St. John's, 7 to 2, in the first contest. The aggregate scores of games played on this tour will decide whether the Oxford-Cambridge outfit carries back the trophy now held by Syracuse. Chief Beatty, who by the way, is to leave us this year, has done well with his raw recruits and gave a splendid exhibition of the coming sport.

The Dewberry sale Wednesday was largely attended and fair prices realized. Cows brough $50 and $60; horses $100. Tilden Story will tenant the farm.
