Thieves raided the meat house on the farm of Howard D. Rees, near Fairlee, and carried off more than $50 worth of meat including several large hams and shoulders recently.

J. Arthur Cooper and J. Waters Russell, auditors of the Chestertown Water Board, have submitted their annual report of the financial condition of this part of the town government. The report shows that the total receipts for the past 12 months collected in water rents by Superintendent Charles S. Smith, together with a balance of $5,550.31 as of Decembtr 31, 1928, were $19,464.9i. During the year $13,914.64 was collected in water rents, while only $976.60 remained uncollected on December 32, 1929.

Postmaster William G. Smyth announced today that he had been notified by Washington authorities to defer charges which he has recommended in the rural route service until June 1. Changes recommended by the postmaster include the consolidation of several of the rural routes emanating from the Chestertown postoffice reducing the number from six to five and giving the territory now served by Route No. 5 to Routes, Nos. 2, 4 and 6. No action has been taken yet by the Post Office Department regarding changes in the local city delivery service recommended by the postmaster.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Robert Huey entertained the teachers and officers of Christ Methodist Protestant Sunday School at a cafeteria conference at their home on Mt. Vernon Place on Tuesday for the purpose of discussing problems pertaining to the welfare of the Sunday school of which Mr. Huey was recently elected superintendent.

KENT COUNTY, MD., ABSORBED IN ESTATES

Kent County, Md., is rapidly being absorbed by wealthy "outlanders" attracted by the beautiful terrain and the charming water vistas of the Chesapeake Bay and its tributaries. Chestertown announces the purchase of eight farms a day or two ago by George B. Muth of Philadelphia. They include 2,300 acres of water front on Worton Point on the big bay and the purchase price is said to be $250,000. The farms will be brought into one unit—an estate—and will be improved with a large mansion and the usual groups of buildings that are a part of such extensive holdings. The acreage exceeds that of the Catlin or Clothier estate, and makes Mr. Muth the biggest owner of land in Kent County.

More pertinent, perhaps than the individual transfer of the properties is the fact that the farms of that charmed section of Del-Mar-Va are attracting the attention of men of wealth, who find the Chesapeake and its rivers the prettiest of water scapes in our country. There too are wil dfowl in great abundance, and fish and vivalves for the shooting and catching. Down there also grows pretty nearly all the plants of the field, vegetables of the garden and fruits of the orchard.

Those who forsee the beauty and the possibilities of the superb tracts with their expansive water views are wise to possess them, for in a score of years the farms are likely to have given way to these large estates and all that section will be thickly dotted with splendid homes of people attracted from other States to spend part of each season in surroundings that please all the senses.Every Evening, Wilmington, Del.

Because of the increasing interest which the Kent County Chamber of Commerce is manifesting in the economic, industrial, and agricultural life of the community, it is growing in membership. Mrs. Nell C. Westcott, executive secretary of the chamber, reports several additions to the membership during March.

As an evidence of the interest already manifested in the coming season's turkey crop for Kent county and other sections of the country, announcement has been made that Walter M. Kenley, president of the Maryland Turkey Growers' Association of Kent County, Md., and proprietor of a large hatchery near Rock Hall, will shortly set close to 8,000 turkey eggs in his large incubators to supply orders for young turkeys.

Mistress—I am a woman of few words. If I beckon with my finger that means come.

New maid—That suits me, ma'am. I'm a woman of few words myself. If I shake my head that means I a'n't comin'.

STOLEN CAR RECOVERED

The theft of Conyln E. Noland's car from the front of his store at 11 A. M. Monday was the theme of conversation here for a few hours. Officials were notified and a search begun. Clark Davis, the eagleeyed machinist of the Volunteer Fire Co., was driving the ambulance to Easton when he recognized the car on the roadside at Wye Mills. He notified the Sheriff and within a short while Mr. Noland had his car. It was not damaged in any way.

The thief, it is thought, came over on the Tolchester Ferry, drove the car until it ran out of gasoline and then abandoned it. The culprit is still at large.

LATEST ENEMY DEFEATED

"Hard carbon," soys Mr. Robert Wier, Jr.,Sun Oil Company's local branch manager, "is the latest enemy of the motorist to have been defeated by modern research.

"I don't have to describe all the woes caused by hard carbon," continued Mr. Wier, "but the way in which it has been overcome is very intersting.

"The reasearch work was done in the laboratories of the Sun Oil Company, where finaly the Sun engineers discovered a method of destilling such a pure motor oil that they could guarantee it comjletely free from parafine, which is the chief cause of hard carbon.

"Eventually this motor oil, in all the necessary grades, was put on the market under the name of Sunoco Motor Oil. When it is regularly used it is a common occurrence for a car to go twenty, thirty and even forty thousand miles without any necessity of having the carbon removed.

"For fleets of trucks or busses whose profits lie in low cost of operation, the exclusive use of Sunoco the distilied motor oil, has kept thier motors out of the repair shop and on the road."

Benjamin F. Rash, of Worton, Md., says that prospects were never brighter for a bumper crop of all kinds of fruit. The growers are busily engaged in giving their peach orchards their first spraying and last week apple orchards were given first treatment. About the middle of April it will be apple and pear blossom time in Kent, when more than 40,000 pear trees in the orchards of Mrs. Evelyn S. Harris, near Betterton, will present a gorgeous sight.

Pound net fishermen in the Chester river report having caught unusual quantities of hard crabs of good size in their nets. They declare that nets are literally clogged with thousands of small crabs, indicating an abundant supply during the Summer.

FULL TIME HEALTH POST

The Kent County Public Health Association has requested the county commissioners to appoint a full time health officer for Kent county.

A delegation representing the association, which requested the commissioners to take action, was composed of Mrs. Nora E. Maxwell, president of the association; Mrs. John H. Clendaniel, Mrs. E. Clarke Fontaine and Mrs. Charles W. Whaland.

Dr. R. G. Beachley at present is serving as deputy State health officer for both Kent and Queen Anne's counties. Under tht full-time plan urged by the association the health officer would devote his entire time to health work in Kent county.

The delegation told the county commissioners that the granting of their request would not increase the cost of health work in the county, but would result in more efficient service.

The plan to give Kent county full-time health officer service, it was pointed out, is in line with a policy adopted by the State Board of Health to give the service to each of the twenty-three counties in the State. The board took the request under advisement.
