Despite the efforts to find a substitute, elbow grease is still the essential of industry.

Rise in the purchasing power of money doesn't help much unless you have some of it.

Voters Must Make Declaration In Order To Vote

No doubt a number of Kent county voters, whose names appear on the registration books of the county, who made affidavit to their presence in the state for more than a year, but failed to make their declaration of intent, thinking it not neccesary, will be disfranchised and ineligable to vote in next year's primary and general election, unless they make their declaration before November 3, 1931.

This startling upset in registration laws is the result of a ruling just made by Attorney General W. Preston Lane, Jr., and necessitates prompt action on the part of all voters who have registered after coming into the state of Maryland without making a declaration of their intention to continue their residence here.

It is estimated that approximately 50,000 Marylanders now on the registration books will be effected by this new interpretation of the law and all must make their declaration prior to November 8, or they will be automatically disfranchised and unable to participate in either the primary or general election in 1932.

Two years ago the Legislature repealed the "declaration of intent" law and substituted the method of making affadavit. Through some flaw in the law, it has been set aside, and the old law was automatically becomes effective.

In an opinion handed down last night, Attorney General William Preston Lane, Jr., declared that a Court of Appeals ruling invalidiated the right of persons to remain on the registration books who had sworn by affidavit to their presence in the State for more than a year.

The opinion was forwarded to Franklin Upshur, attorney for the Worcester county Elections Supervisors, who raised the question.

Attorney General Lane pointed out that the 1929 session of the General Assembly had attempted to repeal the law by which a non-resident who moved into Maryland was required to declare his or her intention to become a legal voter at least a year before the election.

The substituted legislation for voters to swear they had been in the State for a year or more was declared unconstitutional by the Appellate Court and the old declaration of intentions act still remains in existence.

Must Appear Again

The Attorney General said:

"It is therefore, clear, under the law as it now stands, that no person who has moved into Maryland from another State is now entitled to registration unless he or she has complied with the above requirements of the law."

Persons who were able to get on the books under the act which was declared unconstitutional later must appear before a clerk of the court in the city or in the respective counties before November 3 to declare their intentions. The date is exactly one year from the Presidential, Senatorial and Congressional elections in Maryland.

The same persons, however, will be permitted to participate in the primary elections next May.

THE CAUSE OF THE LANKFORD DELEGATION GOING BEFORE THE BOARD OF EDUCATION LAST WEEK.

Messrs. Editors of KENT NEWS:

If we had been given the bus service that had been promised there would not have been any delegation before the Board of Education last week. The way the bus route is at this time, three of the patrons would have to carry their children from about one and one-half to two and one-half miles to meet this bus at Lankford when they had been promised bus service at their gate.

Under the present school laws we are compelled to educate our children but whenever it is asked at a meeting "What the Normal Graduates Will Do If All the Little Schools Are Closed, the Answer Is:" The Board of Education is not supposed to find employment for school teachers if this is true why are they supposed to find jobs for bus drivers.

In this paper jusly 18th a statement came out that the action of clossing this school came as a result of petitions from the patrons of the school who requested that it be abandoned. We have eight patrons at this school and an enrollment of 20 pupils. Four of the patrons, who have over half of these pupils never signed any petition to close this school. One of these was never asked to sign it by Prof. Robinson. One patron who did sign the petition was promised by Prof. Robinson that there would be three teachers at Fairlee if this school was closed but we noticed in this paper when the appointment of teachers was made that Fairlee only has two.

If the rural schools are not any good, why have the leading citizens of Chestertown or any other town come from the rural sections. The most prominent lawyers, bankers, merchants and other business men of this county started their schooling in rural sections, these people were men and knew the value of an education before they went through college.

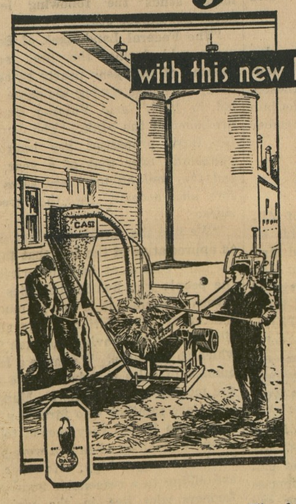
Save On your feed costs



with this new Hammer Feed Mill

IT pays to grind at home and feed the crops you grow to milk or meat producing animals. You can always have fresh feed, of known ingredients, balanced exactly to your requirements. With only high protein supplements to buy, your cash outlay for feed is greatly reduced.

In the new Case Hammer Feed Mill, we have the right machine for the job: It's a high quality mill . . simple, practical and so unusually well equipped to grind grain or roughage that it just naturally does it better.

The feeder is controlled by two governors for uniform feeding and better grinding with less power. The hammers are of the straight type, of heat treated steel, semi-rigidly mounted. This is the simplest known method, free of complicated parts, assuring long service. A high quality speed jack with trouble-free, multiple V-belt drive comes with the mill as regular equipment. This permits the use of a large pulley and puts an end to excessive belt slippage.

• All these new features mean low-cost grinding. You'll get more out of your home-grown crops—and you'll save on your feed costs. This is worth looking into. Let's talk it over.
