DR. COOK'S VISIT TO KENT

Kent County Chamber of Commerce,

Chestertown, Md., May 18, 1931

The Editor,
Chestertown, Maryland.
Dear Mr. Editor:

Every citizen n Kent county should have listended to Dr. Albert S. Cook's discussion when he was guest speaker at the banquet of the Kent County Chamber of Commerce on Wednesday evening, May 13.

It was for the purpose of discussing what the schools of the State are trying to do, how they are achieving their objectives and how better means of school support can be devised that the Chamber invited Dr. Cook as speaker at the recent dinner.

The most impressive part of Dr. Cook's discussion that evening was his suggestions about decreasing school taxes without reducing the efficiency which our schools have already achieved.

Owing to the persistent misunderstanding of the purpose of Dr. Cook's visit to Kent—a misunderstanding which having gotten into print is, nevertheless, based not on fact but on conjecture I should like to state that the object of his address was very much larger than the consolidation of schools.

Every citizen of Kent county is interested in having our schools run with increasing effectiveness and with less and less waste of money and human material. Back of every discussion of school improvements should stand the idea that the children of the county must be served. It is for them that the schools exist.

Incidently, it is Dr. Cook's view that how and when schools are to be consolidated is a matter for the local school authorities and public opinion in Kent county to determine for themselves.

Very truly yours,
PAUL E. TITSWORTH,
President.

About ten days ago Mr. Stenger and his Giology Class went in search of a few tad poles—they returned with the tad poles and a crayfish too. The crayfish died soon after his capture, but the tad poles are living on—and you should see them swimming around in that jar in the science laboratory. This same class also has a large sized box planted with bean plants. A bottle has been placed over one of these, while the rest are being allowed to grow naturally. The class wants to find out the effect of light and ventilation on the growth of plants. It is certainly an interesting way to find out.

When I went into Miss Gessford's room Tuesday morning in search of news. MissGessford reported that the most important news was that every one was sunburned after Rally Day. However, on looking around I saw some drawings on the wall, and on inquiring, found that the 8A English section had drawn them to illustrate Washington Irving's stories which they were studying. The various pictures were entitled "Stage Coach," "Yule Singers," "The Revenge," and "The Little Revenge and the Big Toe."

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

Three charts were given to the Physics Department by the Chicago Apparatus Company? These charts represent the Iron Vane Movements, D'Arsonal Movement, and the Dynameter Movement?

Tuesday morning Mr. Perkins, of the State Conservaton Department, delivered a delightful address on bird life. The address was made additionally entertaining by the lovely lantern slides shown throughout the talk.

..Between the acts of the Senior Class play you're going to view a fetching little gypsy sketch called "The Jolly Gyysies." Miss Gessford has charge of the dancing, while Mrs. Green is coaching the singing.

Eloise Hepburn won the Eastern Shore Historical Contest for Kent County. She will receive a twenty dollar gold piece which will be presented to her in Baltimore on May 29th.

Fine Picture At Movies

Climaxing a series of smashing dramas, "Street of Chance," "For the Defense," "Shadow of the Law," William Powell comes to the New Lyceum Theatre on Monday and Tuesday, May 25 and 26, in "Man of the World," considered the most intense and colorful drama of this suave actor's astonishing career.

As the gentleman blackmailer, snared by a past he wants to forget, stirred by a love he is forbidden to tell, Powell gives a stirring portrayal in an exciting and moving plot. Supporting the star in the leading feminine role, Carole Lombard, blonde beauty seen in "It Pays to Advertise," "Fast and Loose," adds a piquant charm to the tragic demands of her part. Wynne Gibson, who showed to advantage in Jack Oakie's "June Moon," is the "other" woman, an intriguing character, neither all good nor all bad, which Miss Gibson brings to life with remarkable truism.

"Man of the World" presents Powell as the under-cover editor of a Parisian gossip-newspaper whose chief revenge is obtained from wealthy Americans anxious to keep their gay doings from their friends at home. As a blackmailer, Powell is ruthless; but manages to keep his identity so well hidden that even his victims believe him their friend.

When Powell falls madly in love with an American girl whose uncle has contributed to his hush fund, he realizes the depths to which he has sunk. The girl confesses her love for him, and, even when Powell tells her his story, she refuses to give him up. Giddy with this unexpected, unhoped for love, Powell attempts to throw over his past, and, with it, the woman who has worked with him and who loves him. But the past proves too strong, and, to save the girl he loves, Powell forces himself to enact a bitter disillusionment.

CAPTURE ELEVEN MEN TWO LARGE TRUCKS

The most spectacular seizure the Eastern Shore has witnessed since the enactment of the federal prohibition laws resulted in the capture of a rum laden caravan, its armed convoy and a large speed boat near Cambridge on Tuesday.

Eleven men were taken prisoners. Seven. heavily armed, were captured with the illicit cargo and four others later made prisoners on the vessel from which the liquor was said to have been unloaded.

The prisoners were taken to jail at Cambridge and were arranged before U. S. Commissioner Louder T. Hearn in Salisbury, on Wednesday.

Swooping down from ambush upon the caravan the officers seized 250 cases of high grade liquors, loaded on a truck and an automobile, consisting of champaigne, benedictine and whiskey of imported brands.

The scene of the seizure was on the road between Cambridge and Taylor's Island, near the head of the bridge which connects the island and the mainland. The seven prisoners, all of whom gave New York and Pennsylvania addresses, offered no resistance when they found themselves surrounded by the nine enforcement officers.

After the prisoners, liquor and confiscated motor vehicles had been taken to Cambridge the officers returned to Taylor's Island and seized a high-powered motor boat 69 feet long, capable with its three 400-horsepower Liberty motors of a speed of 50 miles an hour. Four men were arrested on the boat, which was at anchor off Spillman's point.

Earrings may be barbaric, but if they are big enough they certainly are imposing.

Ohio Rotary Hoe
New Idea Tomato Transplanter

What a Rotary Hoe can do for YOU:

Perhaps the greatest use of the Rotary Hoe is in the breaking of surface crusts and the killing of weed seedlings before and after the crop is planted.

With a Rotary Hoe you can give your crops an early start and keep weeds from gaining a foothold.

And you can do it much faster and far better than can ever be done by shovel cultivation.

The numerous pulverizing teeth or fingers penetrate to a uniform depth and thoroughly stir the surface soil.

A Rotary Hoe can be used without damage to the crop until the plants reach a height of 8 or 10 inches, and even higher under favorable conditions.

New Idea Tomato Transplanter

Increase yield and quality, gives roots plenty of room to grow, saves time and labor.

The New Idea way of planting so closely approaches natural conditions, few plants are lost, growth begins immediately and crops mature several days earlier than those set by other methods.
