VITAL MEETING HERE WEDNESDAY

A convention and mass meeting will be staged next Wednesday, April 22, in the Chestertown M. E. Church, under the auspices of the Kent County Woman's Christian Temperance Union. The mass meeting, open to the public, will begin at 7.30 P. M.

At the afternoon business session, Mrs. Mary R. Haslup, state president of the Union, will preside and deliver the principal address. This meeting will be in the nature of a business gathering for the Kent members of the body.

Harold D. Wilson, Deputy Phohibition Administrator for Delaware, will be the speaker at the mass meeting in the evening. Prior to the evening session supper will be served at the church for 35 cents.

In addition to special music at the mass meeting awards of $25 and $15 will be made to Washington College students declared the winners in the essay contest conducted by the Woman's Christian Temperance Union. The prize winning essay will be read by the writer.

NAMED AS FIELD MAN

Norman E. Pennington, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar R. Pennington, of near Kennedyville, has been named as field man for Inter-State Dairymen's Association. He will succeed the late Mr. Bishop, of Chestertown. The new appointee is well equipped for this position. He is a graduate of University of Maryland and recently was cow-tester for Kent county under the Extension Service direction. He has a pleasing personalty and raised on a farm where he won the State record for Holstein cow. This cow is said to have paid for Mr. Pennington' tuition at college.

COMMENCEMENT DATES

Washington College authorities have announced the dates for the various features of the Washington College commencement exercises, which will be of an elaborate character this year. While the exact date for holding the June Fete on the college campus has not been definitely determined yet, it will be staged by a large cast of coeds under the direction of Miss Doris P. Bell, director of physical education for girls at the college, and will be one of the outstanding features of the June Week exercises.

The following are the dates: June 6, 8 P. M., annual meeting and banquet of the Alumni Association; Sunday, June 7, 11 A. M., baccalaureate service, sermon by President Titsworth; Sunday, June 7, 4 P. M., sermon to Young Men's Christian Association; Monday, June 8, 10.30 A. M., commencement exercises in William Smith Hall.

Wade G. Bounds, of Baltimore, president of the Alumni Association, and Dean J. S. William Jones, secretary-treasurer, are planning a program of class reunions for the annual alumni banquet, which promises to bring to the college for the week's exercises the largest number of graduates and former classmen in the history of the college. The commencement speaker will be announced later.

The Right Reverend George W. Davenport, Bishop of the Diocese of Easton, made his annual visitation to Emmanuel Church, Chestertown, on Sunday morning. The Reverend Chas. L. Atwater, rector of the Parish, has been holding instruction classes since the beginning of Lent and presented seven candidates for confirmation, five girls and two boys. This historical rite of "the laying on of hands" is one of the most beautiful rituals of the church and the church was well attended for the service.

The sale of furniture of the late W. M. Slay and sister took place on Saturday. A large crowd attended H. E. Perkins, Esq., was the purchaser of ten shares of People's Bank stock at $50 per share, par $25.

Shad sold as low as 13 cents per pound in Rock Hall Wednesday and white perch at six cents. It is said that the glut was caused by pound-net fishermen at Crisfield catching shad by the hundred. One boat alone caught over 8,000 pounds.

The State session of the Jr. I. U. A. M. will be held at Frederick City, Md., on April 21 and 22. William F. Malin, Past State Councillor, Rufus Collins and Lloyd Porter, Representatives from Chestertown Council No. 177 and Charles N. Satterfield, Past State Councillor of Rock Hall Council will leave on Monday to attend the sessions.

PLAY BALL IS THE CRY!

All attendance marks for the opening day of the major league baseball season went by the boards Tuesday as a total of 245,000 persons jammed the parks in eight cities. The best previous total opening day attendance was 233,000 in 1925.

Babe Ruth got a homer. Jimmie Foxx made a run and Flowers played a good game. The Athletics beat Washington in a 11-inning game.

Tentative plans have been made to form a new baseball league, to be known as the Kent County Amateur Baseball League. Only teams of the county are to be in this new circuit and one of the principal features is that every player on each team must be strictly an amateur, as no player is to receive compensation of any kind. One of the biggest drawbacks of other leagues that have been formed locally is that one or two players of each team have been receiving $5 to $10 each game, and the balance of the team playing for the love of the sport. It has also developed that no matter which team player was with last season he will only play with a team or the team that pays him the most money per game, jumping from one team to another. This kind of thing cannot of course keep the interest of the fans to any one team and these leagues have only lasted at most a year or so.

It is hoped that a major league veteran will head this league but that will not be known for another week. Meanwhile the following towns have practically decided to enter teams in the new league. Massey, still Pond, Betterton, Worton, Flatland and West Kent, which is formed by most of the former players of the St. James team, which have played so successfully for the past few years.

A meeting will be held this coming week and some definite action taken as to just how many teams will be entered and a schedule arranged.

The Chesapeake Bay League, composed of upper Delmarva Peninsula clubs, will start off its baseball season with four organizations whether or not Cecilton, Md., and Newark Del., decided to remain in the loop, President Norman Wallen announced today following a meeting of managers. Rock Hall, Church Hill, Kennedyville and Galena will ge ahead with the progrom of schedule making while the other two clubs are deciding on their future action, the circuit head declared and a committee of which Hanson Horsey, of Galena, is chairman has been named to formulate a schedule for the four clubs and it will be reported to a meeting to be held at Millington, April 16. Horsey is a former pitcher for the Reading, Pa., club of the International League and is now an official umpire for the Chesapeake loop.

Church Hill was representel at the parley by Frank Brower, former American League outfielder and manager of the Eastern Shore club while Rock Hall had President Robert Shallcross here for the conference, Lynn Archibald and William Johnson represented Kennedyville and Galena, respectively. Urie Jones, Cecilton manager, expressed doubt that his club will remain in the circuit but would make no definite statement.

WASHINGTON LOSES 8 TO 1

University of Maryland outclassed Washington College in lacrosse at College Park Saturday afternoon and vanquished the Eastern Shoremen, 8 to 1. The Old Liners led at the end of the first half. 4 to 0.

The visitors' goal was scored by Robinson, second attack, seven minutes after the second half started.

Washington's players were, Williams, Phillips, Bringhurst, Sherkey, Hope, Gamble, Gainer, Giraitis, Robinson, Dean, Plummer, Orme.

Washington College played New York University yesterday in New Pork and today play Stevens Institute.

BORROWING BEES

Mrs. Evalyn Harris has over 25000 Bartlett pear trees which she thinks requires the services of bees in order to polenize them. She has accordingly arranged with Spencer Biddle, the "Bee King" of Kent, to transfer about fifty colonies of bees to her orchards. This was begun last night. Mr. Biddle sayshis hives of bees are in poor shape and hopes that this outing will invigorate them to do better work.

Mr. Biddle lives near Pomona and devotes considerable time to bee culture.

The miniature golf course near the Voshell House will open next Saturday, April 25th.

HUNT CLUB LEAVE

Members of five hunt clubs enjoyed a week-end of sport in Kent and Queen Anne's counties as a series of three hunts, beginning Thursday, were staged by the Vicmead Hunt of Wilmington, the Essex Hunt, of Far Hills, N. J., the Green Spring Valley Hunt of Baltimore and the Kent and Corsica Clubs of the two neighboring counties. These hunts rounded out one of the most delightful seasons in the history of the sport.

Two foxes were unearthed in the Queen Anne's country on Thursday the first being started on the Round Top Farm, drawing away over a 12-miles stretch of country toward the Chester and Corsica rivers and finally being brought to earth after Reynard had doubled on the trail and returned almost to the starting point. Several fine runs were made when the fox twice ran into the pack which was broken in order to free the quarry for another run and the fox finally was grounded near the starting place where the pack was again broken, at noon. In the afternoon another fox was unearthed at the Tom Smith farm and was grounded, after a fine run, on the Edwin Corwin place between here and Centreville. About 30 riders and an impressive gallery followed the hounds.

Social functions have followed one after another. Dr. and Mrs. Charles W. Whaland entertained at a terrapin dinner one evening while Lee Robinson and wife gave the visitors an old fashion, honest to goodness oyster scald last Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Brice and daughter and Mr. Lapin left Chestertown Wednesday after a six weeks stay here in the old Judge Jos. E. Wickes home. They have had a most delightful time and their many friends have enjoyed their company.

FARM SALES

Stephen R. Collins, Esq., attorney, offered at public sale Tuesday the George Clendaniel farm near Kennedyville. It was withdrawn at a bid of $7,800, and afterward sold at private sale to Mrs. Annie T. H. Harper for $8,000.

Harrison W. Vickers, Esq., attorney, Tuesday, sold at public sale the water-front home property of the late Leo Plummer, situate on Lankford's bay. It was purchased by J. P. Willheim for $2,450. There was a demand for this property and bidding was lively.

Mr. Vickers also offered at sale three farms belonging to the estate of the late Henry K. Miller. Two of the tracts were withdrawn without bid. The third known as "Little Meadows" was withdrawn at a bid of $2,000. These three farms can be bought of Mr. Vickers at privte sale.

CONFESS ROBBERY

James Gossage, 23, said to have confessed of being one of the two robbers who have committed several burglaries around Chestertown, surrendered to Sheriff John T. Vickers here Wednesday. Gossage is said to have admitted being a party to the recent robberies of the Farm Bureau office and Adam Schaubers here. He implicated another youth, said to be Maynard Lee, of Baltimore.

Gossage, it is said, confessed to stealing an automobile in Baltimore, bringing it here and repainting it. It was the automobile which led local police to cast suspicion on Gossage. The automobile was of one make and the license had been issued for a machine of a different make.

Gossage is being held in the local jail. Sheriff Vickers went to Baltimore and brought young Lee here, whom Gossage has implicated in the robberies. Some of the goods stolen in the two burglaries is said to have been found in the car which Gossage claims to have stolen in Baltimore.

These cases will come before Kent County grand jury next week.

CHAS. ESHMAN MARRIED

Miss Martha Wollaston, of Newark, Del., became the bride of Charles E. Eshman, of Chestertown, last Saturday. After an extended wedding trip thru the South, they will reside in Chestertown.

Miss Wollaston is the daughter of a prominent Newark business man and very prominent and popular in social circles in that vicinity.

Mr. Eshman is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Eshman and is connected with the management of the Voshell House here.

Dr. A. S. Cook, superintendent of State schools, will make an address before the Chamber of Commerce Wednesday evening, May 13th.

The colored schools of Kent held their annual Field Day sports Thursday at Rock Hall.

COURT BEGINS NEXT MONDAY

One of the largest criminal dockets for many years will be presented to the Circuit Court for trial at its April term of Court which convenes Monday, April 20, 1931. There are about 50 cases at present, 14 of which are charges for violation of the local option law and 16 for larceny. All of these offenders are now confined in the Chestertown jail, while about 20 others are out on bail.

Those charged with violation of the local option law are: Lottie Thompson, Ivy Johnson, Leonard Houston, Frank Barnes, Willie Jake, John Sheppard, Steve Bradshaw, Raymond Meekins, George Blackiston, Jeneva Johnson, Sam Linsey, Ollie Dent, Joshua Gains and Martin Stout.

SEVENTH DISTRICT— James B. Newnam Jr., Charles M. Vickers, Edward W. Emory, Thomas W. Trew, Percy V. Hendrickson.

Judge Wickes has excused H. S. Rosin and drawn Lucian Massey instead; Albert Jervis is excused and Elias T. Othoson replaced; S. J. Lee is excused and Walter Crew drawn.

W. L. Fowler was excused and P. A. M. Brooks impaneled.

BIG DAY IN TOWN

A District Men's Council will be held at the Chestertown M.E.Church Tuesday, May 12th. Among the participants will be Bishop William F. McDowell, Clarence True Wilson, Corliss P. Hargraves, Donald H. Tippett, E. Dow Bancroft, Howard A. Musser and Signor Mario Coppelli, celebrated Italian-American concert tenor. Further announcements will be made.

A CLOSE SCOUT RACE

In a relay message bicycle race between members of Betterton Troop No. 64, Boy Scouts and Chestertown Troop, No. 1, Thomas Norris, of Betterton brought in the winning message after traveling over 11 miles of concrete highway from Still Pond to the Chestertown postoffice, beating out his opponent, Robert Moore, by only thee quarters of a minute.

Fifty Scouts followed the race in motor cars and shouted encouragement to their respective racers. Those taking part were as follows: Betterton — Galen Clark, Robert Hopkins, Frederick Cornelius, Baynard Harper, Joseph Harper, Edward Hepbron and Charles Ford. Chestertown—Charles Dole, William Waddell, Rumsey Anthony, Herman Blackway, Jr., William Derringer, Edmund Derringer, and Elmer Harrington. Judges for the meet were Assistant Scoutmaster John A. Wagner and Louis Knox, both of Washington College.

Three recruits began training with the Betterton Boy Scout Troop last Friday evening. They were Walter Harris, Jr., Earl Glenn and Joseph Harper. Barney Cooper, Athletic Counselor, has arranged that three Worton boys receive training at the Betterton Troop. These boys will form the nucleus of a Troop at Worton.

Tucker's Garage, Rock Hall, was robbed of about $68 from the cash register on Thursday last. Sheriff Vickers arrested Godfrey Rickards, a Chestertown colored boy, and found $36 on him. Rickards is now in jail awaiting Court action.
