NEGRO HEALTH WEEK HERE

The national observance of Negro Health Week will begin in Kent County on April 5 at 7.00 P. M. when the health parade of the negro schools will form at Garnet High School and go through Chestertown and end at Janes M. E. Church.

A public spirited citizen of the County has offered a cup to the negro school having the most unique health display in the parade. The presentation of the cup to the winning school will be made by Dr. Paul E. Titsworth at the end of the program in the church.

A splendid program has been worked out for that evening by the health nurse, Miss Majorie Forte. The chief speaker of the event will be Dr. J. H. Mason Knox, Jr., Chief of the Bureau of Child Hygiene of the Maryland State Department of Health. Following Dr. Knox, Dr. Lucien Butler, Dental Hygienist. Other speakers are Mr. J. D. McVean, County Agent, Miss Helen Schellinger, and Dr. R. G. Beachley.

Last year Kent won the award for the best rural work in the United States. The nurse is anxious to have Kent again lead in this.

PARTS TAKEN BY AMOS N ANDY

The Postoffice Department, from clerks on up to assistant postmasters general, has been embroiled in bitterest controversy.

One wing contended Amos only was versatile, the other that Andy also spoke in multiple.

After several weeks of arguing, Isaac Gregg, a postoffice official who used to be a newspaper man, thought of getting the matter settled by mail.

A 2 cent stamp brought this reply from Amos N' Andy head quarters.

"Andy. Mr. Correll, takes the part of Lawyer Snoop, Lawyer Collins, traveling man, Van Porter, court clerk.

"Amos, Mr. Gosden, takes the parts of Brother Crawford, Lightnin', the Judge, Jasper, Kingfish, Lawyer Smith, Pat Pending, and last but not least, Madame Queen."

EGG PRODUCTION FORMULA

Determine when Profit may be made.

Divide cost of 50 lbs. mash and 50 lbs. scratch by the price of eggs per dozen. Mutiply the quotent by 3 to reveal the percentage of eggs to be laid to pay for feed. Production over and above this percentage requirement is profit. Example- Assume 50 lbs scratch costs $1.00 and 50 lbs. mash costs $1.25-total for 100 lbs. $2.25.

This divided by 15 cents the assumed price of eggs gives quotent. Fifteen multiplied by three equals forty-five, the percentage of hens which should be laying every day to cover cost of feeds.

Idea of Franklin's

Benjamin Franklin devised an implement for reaching books on high shelves. A long wooden handle had two hinged clasps affixed. They were controlled by a pull of the strings held in the hand.

Sausage Long Known

Sausages are mentioned by Athenaeus in the Deipnosophistai, A. D. 228, the oldest cookery book which has come down to this day. He says that sausages were mentioned in a play written about 500 B. C.

ADVERTISE IN THE KENT NEWS

TAKE CARE OF YOUR EYES

No organ in the entire body means as much to human happiness as the human eye, and yet no other organ is treated with grosser neglect.

Societies have been established in the United States for the purpose of making the public "eye conscious". The Eyesight Conservation Council of America, the various societies for the prevention of blindness, and societies for the care of the blind have tried in various ways to educate the public on the extreme importance of eye hygiene and the necessity of periodic eye examination.

It is the duty of every public-minded citizen who is placed in a position that brings him into contact with many others of the community to disseminate warnings against careless treatment of this organ of sight.

Let us say again, sight is man's most precious possession, yet it can easily be destroyed or severely harmed by excessive reading, faulty illumination, faulty posture, improper typagraphy on paper, careless removal of foreign bodies and the insanitary habit of using public towels. Sight is too precious to man for him to permit carelessness to destroy it.

Because certain eye defects do not cause pain, do not interfere with bodily movement, do not always interfere with the driving of vehicles, do not always interfere with the reading of books, magazines and newspapers, it is easy to understand why these defects are often neglected.

Owe! Owe!

ACRE EARNINGS

Farmers are interested in the earning of their acres—surplus over cost of production. Production without regard to earning is detrimental—this causes over-production. The above holds true at any time, but especially so in time of depression and low prices. Farmers in order to thrive must reduce the cost of the unit of production. Good production. Good tillage, suitable tested seed, modern tillage implements, adequate fertilization, less labor costs all enter into lowered costs. Farmers should consider each factor carefully.

Jamaica's Mementoes

Jamaica is filled with interest for the tourist. Kingston, the capital and principal city, is the usual port of call for ships. Here, in one church, are the burial place of Morgan, one of the most famous of the buccaneers that roamed the Spanish main, and the coat of arms of Admiral Nelson, who once made his headquarters at Kingston.

MUNICIPAL FREE EMPLOYMENT SERVICE.

If farmers have difficulty in securing labor locally, there is a free employment service bureau in Baltimore which desires to bring together the farmer in need of help and the farm worker who needs a job. A list of prospective workers with reference etc., is available to those needing labor. Ask County Agent for address.

Preserving Wild Life

There are almost 10,000,000 acres of wild life reservations under the national parks service of the United States, and under the national forest service almost 1,500,000 acres more.

IMAGINE... NO TELEPHONES!

WHAT confusion! What chaos! One simply can't imagine a world without telephones. We are so accustomed to seeing them everywhere, to using them for every conceivable purpose, that they seem to have become a very part and parcel of the life of today.

Yet this vital public service could never have come into such universal use unless the prices charged had been so low as to place it well within the reach of all. No service or commodity furnished the public today, when compared to it in usefulness, costs as little as telephone service.

There's a class of service to fit every need and a price to fit every pocketbook.
