SATURDAY MARCH 28, 1931

The many crime commissions attempting to curb the present epidemic of lawlessness in the United States are attacking the problem from two distinct angles. They are first attempting to do away with vicious social conditions which establish breeding places for criminals. And they are tryng to give convicts a motive for good behavior while in prison and the hope of some future happiness when they are released.

C. H. S. LIVE SCHOOL NOTES

The three one-act plays given by "Footlights and Fancies" at William Smith Hall last Thursday, were well attended. After paying all debts, the club has a splendid balance in the bank. That is, it is now in the bank, but not for long. One-third is to be given to The Dragon, another one-third to be used for next years' senior expenses and the remaining one-third in "Footlights and Fancies" own treasury.

Each and every senior girl has heaved a happy sigh. Why? Because each and every one of them has finished writing her essay on meat. There is only one thing to be awaited for now—the award. We're sure one of our seniors is going to win-

I wonder how many realize that just two and one-half months more, and then graduation. (For the seniors, of course.) The blusterly March winds have not discovered them idle. Already part of their graduation [illegible] has arrived. And that is not all! The class has selected royal blue and gold for its colors.

The commerce department is the busiest place. Why, nearly anytime that you enter that particular room something new is just bound to happen. Take for instance, this week [illegible] living on the scene with pen-[illegible] discovered the most at-[illegible] on the dresses of some of the girls. It took only a very few seconds to find out that they were the awards given by a Typewriting Company for speed in typing. And then Miss Fitz showed me two new records. These records were for shorthand. They can be set at a certain rate of speed—and presto—the girls take dictation!

THIS AND THAT

Eddie Harris got "Pink-eye" in school. Reginald Cooper can be counted on to get a laugh from any audience. Under Miss Bryan's direction the plays proceed without any difficulty. Alice Marian Sterling can dance. Baseball practice is beginning. Master Elmer Brice is one of the politest boys in C. H. S. Mabel Smith is always happy.

Mr. Duyer is sowing grass seed on the front lawn.

Mr. Stenger is teaching Physical Education to the Freshmen, Plants to the Sophomores, and all about Iron and Steel to the Juniors. Personally, I wouldn't mind a bit if I were a Sophomore and be able to study Plants. But when the Bug time comes—well Iron and Steel will do-

SPRING BRINGS US BASE BALL

At an enthusiastic meeting of baseball fans held in Rock Hall last week an association to be known as the Rock Hall Baseball Association was organized for the purpose of giving the people of the lower section of the county a better brand of baseball during the coming summer. Clerk of the Circuit Court Robert A. Shallcross, who resides in Rock Hall, was elected president of the association. Other officers are: Secretary, John W. Harman; treasurer, S. Elwood Burgess; managers Thomas Tucker [illegible] Williams. The Rev. W. S. Grant, Fred Williams, and Frank O. Puppe were named as board of directors, while Fred Williams, Joseph Galgaski, and Maurice Jones comprise the finance committee. Coach J. Thomas Kibler, of Washington College, has been elected coach of a team which will be selected from the best material in the Rock Hall High School squad and from players in the town. Whether Rock Hall will become a member of the Chesapeake Bay League which is composed of teams representing Newark, Middletown, Dagsboro, in Delaware, Cecilton, in Cecil County, Kennedyville and Galena, in Kent, and Church Hill in Queen Annes county, or whether a County League, composed of teams at Rock Hall, Chestertown, St. James, Betterton, Still Pond and Millington will be organized, has not been determined. It is certain, however that the movement inaugurated at Rock Hall will shortly be followed by othe towns in the county and it is certain that Kent county will have a good brand of baseball during the Summer notwithstanding the fact that Washington College has dropped baseball from its sports schedules.
