LOCAL MATTERS.

The Grain Market Yesterday.

Prices furnished by H. M. Brown: Wheat, No. 2 red, 71c.; steamer, 66c. Baltimore quotations, 66 to 73c., as to quality. Corn 36½c.; corn (barrel) prime new yellow, $1.60.

First Yellow Corn.—A sample of the first receipts of yellow corn of this year's crop was exhibited on Change, Baltimore, on Wednesday of last week. The corn went from Westmoreland county, Va., and sold at 34 cents a bushel. The first arrival of yellow corn last year was grown in St. Mary's county, and sold at the same price.

Western Maryland Peach Crop.—The peach crop in Washington county is about over. The crop was about one-third. Joseph Stottlemyer gathered 2,500 bushels from his orchards, near Beaver Creek. The old John Brown fruit farm, owned by Dr. V. M. Reichard and Daniel W. Reichard, produced about 4,000 bushels, which sold for, on an average, $1 a bushel. Pry Bros.' orchard of 50,000 trees, near Keedysville, yielded a fair crop at high prices.

Contract Awarded.—The Kent and Queen Anne boards of county commissioners met in joint session in Chestertown yesterday. The principal business was the awarding of the contract for building a bridge over Turner's mill branch, head of Chester river, between the two counties. The structure is to be 132 feet long by 16 feet wide. The bids were: Booker, $450; Hayes & Cole, $550; R. N. Boston, $545; James Clough, $390. The contract was awarded to Mr. Clough, of Queen Anne.

Horses Broke Their Necks.—Two of the most valuable horses belonging to Mr. John P. Vandyke, living near Locust Grove, broke their necks on Friday night. The animals were securely haltered in their stalls the night before and no reason can be assigned for the singular accident. Upon entering the stable on the following morning some one on the farm found one animal dead hanging to the halter with its neck broken. The other horse had broken its halter, but its neck was broken and it died in a short time.

Body Found.—The body of George S Liggins, a Queenstown oysterman who was missed from his home about ten days ago, was found floating near Buoy Rock, in Chester River, off East Neck Island, on Friday. There were marks on the body that indicated foul play, and an investigation is being made. Liggins was in Queenstown till a late hour Saturday night, and was drinking freely of an article sold under the name of pear cider. Sunday morning his boat was found on the shore, near his home, with some provisions in the bottom of the boat, which he had bought.

An Accounting Asked For.—Hiram M. Brown, by James P. Gorter and Hope H. Barroll, attorneys, has filed a bill in the Circuit Court of Baltimore city against John K. B. Emory, for dissolution of the partnership of J. K. B. Emory & Co., grain merchants, and an accounting. The firm, the bill recites, was formed prior to 1894, grain to be solicited by Brown, and to be sold by Emory, and the plaintiff alleges that in 1894-1895 he purchased and consigned to the firm 274,381 bushels of grain, and that he has not received his rightful share of the profits, to the amount of $485.95.

Wreck on the B. & D. B. Railroad.—A bad wreck occurred on the Baltimore and Delaware Bay Railroad near Black's on Saturday. The train, consisting of engine, tender and twelve cars was coming south and when near Black's station the weight of the engine broke a piece out of one of the rails about three feet long. However strange it may appear, several cars went over this place while several left the track and were ditched. The rear cars, when forced from the track drew the cars which had passed the most dangerous point from the track, making as it were two distinct wrecks. The track was torn up for a distance of about one hundred yards. The seven cars which left the track were all more or less badly damaged, though the baggage car was most seriously broken. The engine and five cars did not leave the track at all. A large force of hands was promptly put at work and completed repairs to the road and cleared the track about four o'clock on Monday morning.

Reported Favorably.—Messrs Wm. S. Walker, W. E. Jarrell and George L. Beck, the board of examiners appointed to make a report on the proposed change of the road between Still Pond and Betterton, have made their report to the county commissioners recommending the change. They say among other things; we "Beg leave to say that in our judgment the improvement should be made in the interest of the public generally and especially for the safety and convenience of those using the road." The estimated cost of making the road is put at $2,500. The road as straightened and changed will commence at the hill at the cemetery, near Still Pond, and passing through the lands of John Dorsey, colored, W. G. Rasin, Mrs. Florence Wroth, Thomas Hill, E. M. Bonwill, J. E. Bryan, R. T. Turner, Jr., Harvey Brice, Mrs. Hannah Sykes will "end at a point near the door of R. T. Turner's office," Betterton. The distance will be three and twenty-two one hundredths of a mile.

In Curfew Times.—Mrs. Thomas Hill, at a meeting of the Woman's Literary Club, Baltimore, last week, read an interesting paper reminiscent of life in Chestertown fifty years ago. Mrs. Hill described the Chestertown of that date as a community where the curfew sounded at 9 P. M. in winter and 10 P. M. in summer; where the arrival of an excursion boat from Baltimore was heralded by the music of a brass band. It was a town where front doors stood hospitably open from morning till night so long as the weather permitted, and where ladies sent shopping commissions by captains of the grain boats that traveled weekly, until the ice came, to the metropolis of Baltimore. Loaf sugar was the only white sugar procurable and it was broken in small bits by sharp hammers to use in teacups, or crushed on marble slabs for frosting pies. Mrs. Hill said she distinctly remembered her first rubber overshoes, which were made like Indian moccasins and required a violent expenditure of strength to get them on the foot.

Kennedyville News.

Much interest is being manifested and preparation is being made for the convention of the Kent County Sunday School Union, which will be held in this village on Wednesday and Thursday of next week, Oct. 26 and 27. The Presbyterian and M. P. Churches are united in the preparation for the reception and entertainment of the delegates to this convention. The committee on entertainment from the M. P. Church is: Misses Anna Shafer, Bertha A. Redmile and Emma Clendaniel; the Presbyterian Church is represented by Mrs. Rachel Hill and Miss Hettie Bennett. HUGO

LOCAL BRIEFS.

Bits of News and Gossip Gathered Here, There and Everywhere.

† An interesting account of the anniversary services of Christ M.P. Church, is carried over to next week rather than cut it to meet the requirements of a lack of space.

† A fifth district farmer during the last moonlight nights, was awakened by the striking of his clock. He heard the last four strokes of twelve o'clock, and being an early riser he quietly got up, milked his cows and strained away the milk, but seeing no one else stirring around, looked at the clock and discovered his mistake.

† Messrs Stavely & Bowers, contractors, have raised the new store of Messrs. Turner & Boyles, the hustling Worton merchants, and the work is progressing. The merchants will move into their new quarters about the middle of November.

† Kent county has three and Queen Anne one game Warden. Baltimore has twenty-two.

† Two Queen Anne pears weighing one and a quarter pounds were exhibited on change in Baltimore last week. A pound and a quarter Keifer pear creates no wonderment in Kent.

† Prof. E. J. Clarke witnessed the exciting foot-ball match at Annapolis on Saturday, between the cadets and the Princetons. The score stood 36 to 0 in favor of the New Jersey team.

† Mr. William N. Sherwood, of the Sassafras school, is making an effort to secure an assistant at his school. The attendance of scholars has so increased that an assistant is needed.

† The steamer Corsica ran afoul of a hidden pile at Indiantown on her trip over on Wednesday of last week, and knocked a hole in her bottom. After temporary repairs she returned to Baltimore and the Gratitude made her trip. She is now making her regular trips.

† In his official report relative to Centreville's impure water supply, Dr. John S. Fulton made the following reference to the Chestertown system: "The Chestertown Water Company have a good well not more than 15 feet deep at their pump house yielding an abundant supply out of clean, white sand. If you should not find good water within thirty or forty feet, or if you should not obtain a sufficient supply, your next resort would be to deep boring."

† Mr. John Stoops, son of Mr. Webster Stoops, Broad Neck, while overturning a boat on Tuesday, had his leg broken between the ankle and knee.

† A woodcock flew against the telephone wires in front of the office of Dr. J. A. Catlin about noon one day last week and was killed.

† Messrs. Crane, Trenchard Bros. have commenced the foundations of two large warehouses at their Scott's Point basket factory.

† Mr. Alday Clements, of near Chestertville, has seeded one thousand acres in wheat.

A TERRIFIC STORM.

Some Thrilling Experiences of Kent County Oystermen.

The storm of Tuesday is declared by Kent county oystermen as one of the most severe experienced on the Chesapeake for years. About one hundred Rock Hall captains went out on Swan Point bar before sunrise, little imagining what was in store for them. As the sun rose the storm set in, increasing in severity until it had reached terrific intensity. All of the boatmen, and many of them are as nervy and expert as ever hoisted a sail, made for safety. Many of them occupied a position which enabled them in their staunch craft to make harbor, while others, because of less favorable situations, fought a desperate battle throughout the entire day. The steamer Susquehanna picked up the men from one boat, and the B. S. Ford and Gratitude each rescued the crews of two other boats sunk and floating in the bay. In each case the canoes were allowed to go adrift. The most intense uneasiness existed as night drew on, the storm showing no signs of abatement. A few boats came in late, but at ten o'clock about thirty boats had not returned to their anchorage at Rock Hall. Several are known to have been blown across the bay, some returned after the abatement of the storm to the nearest shore, as were shown by a beacon light seen on the shore at an early hour yesterday morning. A number of the missing boats belonged to colored men, and it was feared yesterday that some loss of life had resulted, as some of the boats had not then been heard of and in many cases the men were poorly provided and inexperienced sailors. Capt. Thos. N. Colyer states that on his large canoe he could carry but three rings of one sail. Capt. Charles Judefind took all day to make harbor. Capt. Bartus Wilkins' boat was overturned but he reached harbor with the aid of others. All of the boats caught out were more or less damaged.

No dredgers dared leave harbor, and the police schooner was forced to seek shelter at Rock Hall. Capt. Colyer states that he never saw more thrilling scenes among the Kent county oyster fleet than he witnessed on Tuesday.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mrs. George Bell and Mrs. Julia Walls attended the marriage of Miss Ellen Mar Couby and Mr. Walter L. Alexander, at St. Luke's P. E. Church, Baltimore, last week.

Mr. Samuel J. Hill, one of the old and highly respected citizens of the county, has been quite sick for three weeks past with sciatica.

Mrs. Thomas Hill and Miss Anna Hill, of Baltimore, have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Slay. Mrs. Hill is widely known by her researches and writing bearing upon folk-lore and local history, as well as her notes of foreign travel.

Mr. and Mrs. Williamson, of New York, are guests at the home of Mrs. Carolene Hynson, Water street.

Harry H. Hyland will remove his family to Delaware City, where he is employed under the government at Fort Delaware.

A quiet but pretty home wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Peregoy, on Mill street, at an early hour on Tuesday morning. The contracting parties were Miss Minnie Peregoy, and Rev. William A. Melvin, of Worcester county, but now stationed in Virginia. Mr. and Mrs. Melvin took the steamer for a trip before returning to their southern home.

Rev. D. L. Greenfield, wife and son, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Bacchus during their stay in town the past few days.

Miss Ida C. Bramble has entered the Delaware Hospital, Wilmington, to take a course of training as professional nurse.

Mr. Morris Hoffman, president of the Chestertown Electric Light Company, is visiting Mr. Tracy. Mr. Hoffman is just home from a protracted tour of Europe.

Mr. E. C. Cooper, of the Globe Clothing House, Baltimore, is in town with a full line of samples. Mr. Cooper is well and favorably known throughout Kent, and his association with the Globe has so far proven pleasant and profitable to all parties. Mr. Cooper is already an expert in his new business.

Rev. D. L. Greenfield, the ministerial Isaak Walton, enjoyed rare sport yesterday on Chester bridge. He hauled in about a half bushel of fine fish.

TOURNEY AT GALENA.

Dr. A. E. Scott, Knight of Galena, Crowns Niss Addie Woodall Queen of Love and Beauty—Msis Bramble, of Chestertown, a Maid of Honor.

In spite of chilling winds and threatening weather, the tournament given under the auspices of the Galena band, on Saturday, was a decided success. All of the morning gaily costumed knights dashing at full speed gave an air of unusual interest to the general air of quiet in Galena. The tilting commenced in the early afternoon, and from three to five hundred people witnessed the spirited contest of ye gallant knights. Shortly after noon, headed by the Galena and Crumpton cornet bands, the knights and a long procession of carriages repaired to the field of Mr. F. P. Cochran, where a large judge's stand had been erected and all arrangements completed for the tests of horsemanship, and skill in poising the lance. C. C. Hopper delivered the charge to the knights.

The following knights contested: R. T. Cochran, Knight of Schley; Paul Pennington, Knight of Frederick; J. E. Ferguson, Knight of Dewey Park; G. W. C. Cox, Knight of Coxey's Army; H. C. Vansant, Knight of Green Lawn; W. M. Spry, Knight of Black Hills; E. S. Hurtt, Knight of Woodland Hall; John Benson, Knight of Maryland; R. A. Shallcross, Knight of Castle Carey; W. T. Wood, Knight of Oriole; E. T. Massey, Knight of Dixie; C. Brice, Knight of Sassafras; Dr. E. A. Scott, Knight of Galena.

The score was as follows:

			To'l.
Schley	1	1	1–3
Frederick	0	2	0–2
Dewey Park	1	2	2–5
Coxey's Army	0	0	0–0
Green Lawn	1	1	1–3
Black Hills	0	1	1–2
Woodland Hall	2	1	1–4
Castle Carey	1	2	1–4
Oriole	0	2	0–2
Dixie	1	1	0–2
Sassafras	2	0	0–2
Galena	1	3	1–5
Maryland	0	2	2–4
Bohemia	0	1	2–3

The riding resulted in a tie between the Knight of Galena and the Knight of Dewey Park for the first prize, a handsome set of harness, and the honor of crowning the Queen of Love and Beauty. It was mutually agreed that the one taking the greatest number of rings in the first ride off should win first prize, the second prize, a gentleman's saddle, to go to the loser. The first tilt resulted in a tie, each knight taking but one ring. In the second tilt the Knight of Galena took two rings and the Knight of Dewey Park but one, giving the first prize and honor to Galena, and the second prize and honor to Dewey Park. The Knights of Woodland Hall, Castle Carey and Maryland tied for the third prize and the honor of crowning second maid of honor. In riding off the tie both Woodland Hall and Castle Carey took two rings, losing to the Knight of Maryland, who captured three of the coveted circles and with them the third prize, a handsome blanket, with right to crown the second maid of honor.

In justice to the riders it should be said that the wind swept over the course with such force at times that it was found almost impossible to keep the lance in rest. All things considered, the riding was excellent and the contests extremely interesting. Frank P. Cochran was Chief Marshal; Aides, Ed. Ross M. S. Ford, W. Davis, Howard Owens, H. Rowen, C. H. Hurlock, J. T. Quinn, Chris. Conner, G. L. Chrisfield, R. W. Comegys, T. A. Godwin, A. T. Laws, P. G. Wilmer, J. Archibald; Judges, J. T. Pennington, Z. P. Lusby, R. Lockwood; Flagmen, J. McGugan, J. Pennington.

Immediately after the tilting Rev. Father Miles J. McManus delivered an eloquent coronation address, after which the Knight of Galena crowned Miss Addie Woodall, of Georgetown, Queen of Love and Beauty; the Knight of Dewey Park crowned Miss Annie Jones, of Cecilton, first maid of honor, and the Knight of Maryland placed a beautiful chaplet of flowers upon the brow of the second maid of honor, Miss Maud Bramble, of Chestertown.

The costuming of the knights was handsome and in several instances extremely elegant.

A grand ball took place at night in Galena town hall.

OBITUARY.

CAPT. THOMAS NUMBERS.

Captain Thomas Numbers, an old and highly respected citizen of Millington, died at his home on Saturday night of a general giving way of the constitution, aged seventy-four years. Capt. Numbers was, before the civil war an ordained minister the M. E. Church and a member of the Wilmington Conference. At the breaking out of hostilities his strong Union sympathies induced him to enter the army in the capacity of chaplain. As a young man he lived for some years in Caroline county where he married his first wife. At the close of the war he returned to Millington but never reentered the ministry. He was until the end of his life noted for the vigor and beauty of his prayers and his strong convictions on all subjects. In politics he was a republican until recent years when he became in close sympathy with the question of temperance and prohibition.

He leaves a wife who was a Mrs. Talbot, and one son, Mr. Fred Numbers, agent and telegraph operator at Massey.

REV. THOMAS NUMBERS.

Mr. Numbers was born at Massey, this county, Sept. 5th, 1822. He served an apprenticeship with Doughten & Miller, carriage builders, Odessa, Del., was converted while there at the age of 19, and about two years afterward joined the Philadelphia Conference and was located at Denton, Caroline county. For several years he was in the itinerant ministry, after which he resigned and was made a local preacher for life. He was a member of the Local Preachers' Association of the Wilmington Conference, and held an office in that body. When the civil war broke out in 1861 he enlisted and was made captain of Company T, First Regiment of Maryland Home Guards, and served throughout the war. After the war he located at Denton, Md.; moved to Massey in 1869.

In 1870 he moved to Millington, where he spent the remainder of his life. Mr. Numbers was postmaster at Millington sixteen years under four Presidents, Grant, Hayes, Garfield and Arthur. He also carried on the wheelwright and carriage building business.

In 1895 he married Mrs. Matilda Talbott, daughter of the late J. W. Jarman, of Millington, who, with one son, Mr. F. C. Numbers, agent P., W. & B. R. R. at Massey, survive him. In 1896 Mr. Numbers was made Justice of the Peace, which office he held for two years, being compelled to give it up on account of feebleness. He was a class-leader in the M. E. Church for several years and up to the time of his death, and being a man whose whole life (but a few years of his youth) had been spent in doing all he could for God and the good of mankind his advice was well worthy of heed. He was loved and respected by all.

The funeral took place Tuesday morning. Services were held at the M. E Church, interment in the Millington cemetery; services were conducted by Dr. D. F. Waddell. Mr. J. L. Smith, undertaker, had the funeral in charge. The pall-bearers were Messrs. Jos. Mallalieu, T. J. McWhorter, J. H. Weist, F. S. Bottomley, H. T. Cook and E. W. Spear.

TEA AND MUSICALE.

A Delightful Social Function in Behalf of the "Old Town Square."

The Japanese tea and musicale held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hope H. Barroll on Friday and Saturday afternoons, in behalf of the "old town square," in addition to being a decided success from a financial standpoint, was one of the most charming social events of the season. Because of the inclemency of the weather on Friday afternoon and evening, two afternoons were devoted to the pleasant programme. The spacious parlors were beautifully decorated with Japanese lanterns and draperies, while in different corners were the tables presided over by Mrs. Barroll and her assistants. Chocolate, tea, wafers and dainty frozen refreshments were served to the guests by fascinating Japanese maids arrayed in all of the gorgeous colors and graceful costumes of the land of tea. Mrs. Barroll was assisted by Mrs. James G. Beck, Mrs. W. W. Hubbard, Misses Jennie Vickers, Clare Vannort, Amie Shaw, Nellie Valiant, Hallie Westcott, Freddie Strong, Laura Thomas, Bessie Stuart and Ethel and Eloise Ringgold. Master Wethered Barroll acted as door-keeper and the gallant little page to do the bidding of the court ladies and guests. The musical and literary programme was given in the elegant hall Miss Katie Duckett sang several solos in her rich, sweet alto, Prof. E. J. Clarke gave one of his finest readings and Master Wethered Barroll gave a fine recitation.
