THE OYSTER QUESTION.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—The enclosed misrepresentation, clipped from the Baltimore American of November 24th, is to say the least misleading:

"Baltimore gets from New York Saddle Rocks, Blue Points and oysters from Long Island Sound and Connecticut; from Philadelphia, Delaware Bay and Jersey coast oysters, all of a different flavor from our Chesapeake Bay oysters."

Where Baltimore gets one barrel from New York or Philadelphia they get one hundred from Baltimore of Cherrystone creek, Nobjack Bay and Chincoteague. On or about the date of the aforementioned publication oysters were a glut in Baltimore, Chester Rivers falling 15 to 20 cents per bushel. Oysters could have been bought at the head of the basin as low as 50 cents per bushel.

The American appears to be trying to educate the people of the inland counties up to their own desire of selling the oyster beds, and do not lose an opportunity of misrepresenting the actual state of affairs, and unless the American people expect to be, "as I guess they do," part owners of the bars, they would not get oysters as cheap as they do now, as in the case of private ownership there would be virtually no forced sales and little competition. We look at the case thus: The oysters are on the bars; the owners know they are increasing in size and quantity all the time. Are they going to take those oysters out of the water, even at a low expense, and run the risk of a market? Not much. An agent, installed in a handsomely furnished office in Baltimore, would sit back and await offers for so many bushels of Chester Rivers, Eastern Bays, Swan Points and other bars; and, if the offers were not high enough, would not take the oysters from their little beds, the owners knowing they were in creasing, cent per cent., as they were. How long would it be before the owners came together in a combine, the same as the coal companies, regulating the output to the lowest amount that would supply the people at the highest price. That combine of the coal companies puts millions of dollars in their pockets. If there was a free output and the coal companies in competition against each other, coal would be at least one-third less in price. The owners of the oyster bars would have this great advantage over the coal mine owners—the oysters are constantly increasing in size and quantity; the coal stands still.

Of what additional value would an advertisement be of a farm with a river front close to the oyster beds? Our own people living along the shores would not be allowed to take an oyster and only permitted to buy them at Baltimore prices when the mighty owners were taking up some for market.

There is some talk that the oystermen themselves would buy and own lots. That is all bosh. A few might at first, if a law was so constructed to divide the bars; but if the bars were sold in a lump to the highest bidder, the tonger would have to move on. They will never see the need of forming a protective association until too late. I was in for it, so we all will say. The people very spoke plainly at the last election. They shouted on the oyster question! It was not Farmer Brown, or any other individual or collection of individuals; it was against the Hodson—American (Baltimore American) idea. We, the oystermen, look to you, our county papers, to watch the Baltimore American particularly, and any other paper or persons, on the oyster question, and give it to them hot and heavy. You need not fear of getting short of ammunition to reply to their shots, as I am satisfied the tongers can furnish a reply to any argument favoring the disposal of the oyster bars.

Eternal vigilance and all that kind of thing is the price of keeping the bars for "we 'uns," and we look to you people for the vigilance part and we will catch the oysters. They are cheaper than beef at 12 cents per pound, even at $1.25 a gallon. They will go further and make more solid nourishment, and if people bought them as often as they do beef and pork they would find it out.

In return to the Baltimore American, why don't they say that the Bay View, Darley Park, Globe and other beer breweries should be placed in some hands, because Baltimore sends to Milwaukee, Rochester, Philadelphia and other places for beer? The same with the Maryland distilleries and our farmers who send clover, timothy and other seeds to market. There is nothing we furnish, no matter how good it may be, but that some people will want the same species, even if not so good in quality, from some other place; and as they are willing to "pay the freight," the dealers supply them. So it is with oysters. Some heavy purses are willing to pay 50 cents a dozen for saddle rocks; of course, they will be supplied. It is a very singular fact though that some restaurants are not strictly honest. I stopped in one in Baltimore and ordered a dozen Nobjack Bays, and recognized the first one as a Chester river mud, and when the proprietor found I knew the "other from which" he weakened, and said it was all in the name to most people.

FOUNDED IN 1864 by the present executive—27 YEARS of continuous and successful management—increased annual attendance—Now occupying four buildings—Stands unrivaled in facilities for educating YOUNG MEN AND WOMEN for success in life. In deciding upon a school for their children, PARENTS should send them to THE BEST, because it pays. It may require the expenditure of a few dollars more at first, but it will prove the cheapest in the end. CHEAP tuition is very dear, because it means cheap teachers, cheap surroundings, inferior facilities, and offers NO opportunities for securing POSITIONS for its pupils and graduates. This Institution, owing to its HIGH standard of excellence, has placed in desirable positions more young men and women from Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia, than all similar institutions combined.
