BALTO. 1864 SADLER'S BRYANT AND STRATTON COLLEGE

FOUNDED 1864 by the present executive—Occupies four buildings—Unrivalled in facilities for educating YOUNG MEN AND WOMEN for success in life. The outlook for THE New Year is most favorable for business opportunities. The demand for our graduates is unprecedented. No vacation; pupils can enter at any time with equal advantage. Never attend a school because the tuition is cheap, for CHEAP is very dear; it means cheap surroundings, inferior facilities, and offers NO opportunities for securing POSITIONS for its pupils and graduates. This school, owing to its HIGH standard of excellence, has placed in business more young men and women from Md., Va., N. C., S. C. and Ga. than all similar institutions combined. Catalogue and particulars mailed. W. H. SADLER, Pres.,—F. A. SADLER, Sec'y, BALTIMORE, MD.

Stick to it!

Sometimes you may have to wait. The troubles that have been years in gathering can't always be cleared away in a day. For all the diseases and disorders peculiar to womanhood, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the surest and speediest remedy. You can depend upon that—but if your case is obstinate, give it reasonable time.

It's an invigorating, restorative tonic, a soothing and strengthening nervine, and a positive specific for female weaknesses and ailments. All functional disturbances, painful irregularities and derangements are corrected and cured by it. All unnatural discharges, bearing-down sensations, weak back, accompanied with faint spells and kindred symptoms, are corrected. In every case for which it's recommended, "Favorite Prescription," is guaranteed to give satisfaction, or the money is refunded. No other medicine for women is sold on such terms. That proves that nothing else offered by the dealer can be "just as good."

THE COLLEGE TEAM.

What Spectator Says of Their Playing—What is Needed.

The Washington College baseball team played its first game of the season with the nine of Delaware College on Friday of last week. The visitors brought with them a very strong team. They were enabled to do this from the fact that they make no preparations whatever to put in the field a club composed entirely of bona fide students. Just how far this principle was made use in the make-up of their organization is not known, but it is known that McLaughlin, the officiating pitcher for that day, is one of the finest pitchers that stands upon the amateur diamond of today. He was a member of the famous Riverton club, which was at one time almost invincible, owing to McLaughlin's efficiency. He has played for the past two years with the Atlantic City team, a semi-professional club of that famous seaside resort, and has been the terror of all the batsmen who faced him. The college boys had him shaved up, and that, together with his small boyish figure, enabled him to pass for a student very well. But such a shining light in the amateur baseball world could not be very well concealed, and he was recognized by more than one. It was reported by some one that it was Dailey, a former National Leage man, but that is conceded by all to be a mistake. With such a pitcher then to face for the first time, the home club can congratulate itself on not being subjected to a shut-out. The remainder of the Newark team may or may not have been composed of bona fide students. They performed whatever they had to do, very well, although McLauglin's work prevented many difficult jobs in the field. The home team, for the first game, acquitted themselves very creditably, although some glaring errors marred the generally good work. Burris, the Washington College pitcher, pitched a fine game. Some had difficulty in deciding which was the better of the two men—Burris or McLaughlin. Taking the batting strength of the two teams into consideration, there was but very little difference in the pitching strength of the two men, McLaughlin, perhaps, excelled a little. As a catcher, Martin of the visitors, was not in the same class with Zarfoss, the home man. These two, Burris and Zerfoss, have been secured by the College Athletic Association to represent the institution on the ball field as pitcher and catcher. It may be said by some that they are not bona fide students. That is a mistake. They are. Their expenses at college are paid by the students, but that makes them none the less bon fide students. Both are taking special courses, and moreover are manifesting a decided interest in their work. Burris proposes to come back next year, and both will remain till the end of the term. McLaughlin was hired by the Delaware College team for three games and given $75. The Washington College boys are not doing business on that line. Of the battery for Washington College no criticism can be made. They are a fine pair, and will give any team trouble. Of the team back of them much can be said. They are weak at certain points, which, if new material cannot be secured, must be strengthened by diligent and constant practice of the men already filling the positions. Clarke, at first, played a respectable game on Friday last, but needs better judgment on ground balls, and must take special care to conquer the habit of carelessly handling thrown balls, of which he feels an absolute certainty of holding. This was specially noticeable last year, and the professor must always squeeze the ball hard, on all occasions. He can be relied upon, however, to do his best. Atkinson, at second, another new matriculate, is a quick, active man, and has the material for a first-class player in him. The captain, must, however, improve in his throwing. He had a nice chance to catch his man at the home plate on Friday, but threw wild, allowing a run to be scored. He made a fine catch, however, of a hard liner which caught the crowd. The captain will do for the place with good conscientious practice. Gould, at the third, is no man for the place. The position, which requires perhaps, the quickest playing, is filled by, likely, the slowest, clumsiest man on the team. Third base, by reason of its being the most distant from first base requires the quickest throwing and most accurate fielding. It requires a level-headed man, and one to understand the game from start to finish. Gould, while being able to put plenty of speed in a ball cannot be relied on for accuracy as shown on Friday, the one to first, the other to second—both costly errors. His movements for a ground ball are far too slow. A skilled batter can put him slow grounders which he would never get to first, and if the college has another man for the position it had better make a change at once. Shortstop is a position as yet unfilled. George Brice played it on Friday afternoon and played it well. The fly he took in short center was a beauty and would have done credit to a professional. But he is too valuable a man to be taken from the outfield. The field is not safe without him especially now that Bullock is about to go home. Of Brice's playing nothing can be said. He is one of the solid men, and can be relied on. Who then must fill shortstop? Polk has been tried, but he is backward on ground balls, and has a bad arm for throwing.

Carter is the next best man, and should be tried. He can be relied on for good solid work in the practice line and that is the all important thing. Blackiston is a good center-fielder. He captured a fly on Friday which gained him the plaudits of the crowd, even after he had come from the field. Rightfield can be filled either by Polk or Gould. If nothing better can be done Brice could be put at third, Blackiston at left and Polk and Gould in centre and right. Carter at short. Above all practice. Burris should pitch at the men in the batter's box. A system of signs should be adopted amongst all the players. The shortstop should be able to cover second, to catch a player trying to steal, as often as the second basemen. The infielders should use judgment in getting a ground ball on the proper bound and not wait till it rolls to them. The out-fielders should learn to run otherwise than backward in getting under a fly ball. The college will lose a good man in Bullock. He is a hard hitter and sure fielder. He left college last Monday. This critism is made by one who is a lover of baseball and who has the interest of the college athletics at heart. Let no one take it amiss. The game on Friday should have been captured by Delaware by a score of 5 to 2 instead of 10 to 2. Gould's bad play at 3d cost 5 runs after a chance had been given to retire the side with a goose-egg. Practice! boys, and give the boys from Baltimore a hard job to win today.

Father—"You think so?"

Mother—"I am almost sure of it."

Mother—"I have thought of that and have hit upon what I think is an excellent plan."

Father—"Yes. What is?"

Mother—"We must tell her that we want her to marry him."
