THE BEST COMPANY IS THE COMPANY THAT DOES THE MOST GOOD.

A GOOD RECORD IN THE PAST IS THE BEST GUARANTEE FOR THE FUTURE.

Mutual Life Insurance Co.,

of New York,

RICHARD A. McCURDY, President.

J. HERMAN IRELAND,

SPECIAL REPRESENTATIVE,

837 Market Street, - Wilmington, Del.

For Your Consideration.

To be happy you must be contented; to be contented you must feel that your home is secure, and your family provided for.

Have you a mortgage on your property? If you have you may be able to pay it off in time. If you die before it is lifted—who will pay it?

Would not a Life Insurance Policy be a good thing for you to carry, so that whatever happens, your property will be secure?

Most men work hard and take but little present comfort in order to secure future wealth. Yet 95 per cent. of men in business are not successful. Think of it!

Do not leave this matter of the future welfare of your family in doubt. Decide now and take a $5,000, $10,000 or $20,000 policy on your life, payable to yourself at 60 or 65 years, if you are then living. If you die before that time your family and business are protected. If you live, you will be well provided for. Meanwhile you can enjoy your present income, and at the same time leave your family provided for. Having paid your Life Insurance premium, you can freely spend the remainder of your income without the haunting fear of future want to the wife and children.

I will be pleased to make you a proposition for an investment contract in the largest and oldest Life Insurance Company in the world.

J. HERMAN IRELAND,
m19-tf. 837 Market Street, Wilmington, Del.

Wellman's Artic Expedition.

Authentic news has lately been received by the American North Pole exposition, known as the Wellman exposition.

The Wellman party sailed on the steamer Ragnvald Jarl from Bergen, Norway, three months ago. The steamer went to the edge of solid ice, off the coast of Spitsbergen, where the party set out over the ice in sledges for a lively sprint to the north.

Wellman had with him, among others: Professor Owen B. French, of the Coast and Goedetic Survey; Dr. Thomas B. Mohun, a surgeon; Charles C. Dodge, a constructor in the United States navy, and a party of scientific graduates of the University of Christiania.

August 2, the fishing vessel Malygen arrived at Tromso from North Spitzbergen with Captain Bottolfsen and three seaman of Wellman's steamer Ragnvald Jarl.

They report that, after several struggles in the ice, the Ragnvald Jarl arrived on May 12 at Table Isle, one of the Seven Islands, situated off the northeast coast of Spitzbergen, in latitude between 80° and 81° and east longitude between 20° and 21°. The ice compelled the party to return to Walden Isle.

On May 24 Wellman set out with thirteen men, forty dogs, and provisions for 110 days. May 28 the steamer Ragnvald Jarl was crushed by ice and was totally lost. Only some stores were saved. A message concerning the disaster was sent to Wellman, and it reached him on Martens Island, near Seven Islands.

Wellman, Dodge, and two others returned to Walden Island. They built there a solid house of the wreckage. The house accomodated the majority of the crew, and would afford ample shelter to the explorers should they be compelled to winter on Walden Island.

Wellman departed on May 31 for Martens Island. The last news from him was received on June 17, when Winship and another left the expedition six miles east of Platen Isle, which is not far from Seven Islands. There the party had come upon an impassable ice field. Wellman was waiting for the opening and all were well.

Upon Winship's return to Walden Island, Bottolfsen and some others journeyed southward in aluminum boats, hoping to meet fishing vessels. Thus they met the Malygen.

A new vessel will be chartered to bring back the expedition. Meanwhile Wellman and his companions are crossing the ice, probably in the direction of Gilleiland.

The ice conditions in the early part of the exposition were exceptionally unfavorable. Trygve Heyerdahal, the young philosophical student who accompanied the expedition, has gone to Danes Island to join Penter Oyen, the geologist.

THE CRAZE FOR PINK.

A Walk Up Lexington Street Gives Astonishing Figures.

How many pink shirts can be seen in a walk from Charles and Baltimore streets to Lexington and Eutaw? Well! If you go early in the afternoon you may see many more than you had supposed, but if you go between 5 and 6 o'clock you will be astounded at the number. So far 73 is the highest number reported. To count 50 is easy. Blue comes next, a good second.

These statistics were firts brought to notice the other day by a young married couple living on West Fayette street not far from the corner of Calhoun. They had their first falling out over a pink shirt. Mrs. ——; it wouldn't do to tell names, bought a fetching pink waist, and her worthy lord scorned her taste.

"Too common," he said, "go and walk down Lexington street and you will see a pink or blue shirt on every other man and woman you meet."

She did so. The first man she met was an Italian bannana vender; there was the pink shirt. Then came the Chinaman, who plies his trade not far from her own house, there it was again.

"And there goes Mrs. Brown's cook with a pink waist," she whispered to herself.

Then came a Maryland Club society swell with Lord Craven's famous color beneath his coat. The lady did not know him, but he was a handsome man, and she was partly consoled. Then a giddy bevy of factory girls swept around the corner. "Six pinks, four blues and a white," she counted.

As 6 o'clock approached the $8-a-week men came hurrying from work, as did their sisters of industry, and the place was alive with pink shirts, waists, neckties and skirts. She went home mumbling, "They may be common, but they are pretty," and she was quite right, too.

"SAM," said an old colored man down at the postoffice to another old codger, "what is de meanin' of visa virsa?" "It means tother from which," answered Sam, with great dignity. "I dunno," said the first one, "I think it means upside down." "No," retorted his friend. "I'se dona suah it means hind side befoah." A third old fellow came by just then, and they appealed the question to him. "I cannot desplain pezactly," he said, "so to meet wid your comprehension, but wiser wersa am a propriation from de Latin, and means wuss and wuss and mo' o it. I 'member stumbling over it at college. It am a hard word to pronounce." He ambled along with his buckaw, and the two who had referred to him, looked after him with respect and admiration, wondering how that "one small head could carry all he knew."

A YOUNG society gentlemen of Elkton accompanied by his young lady went to the Episcopal Church on Tuesday evening last to hear the Bishop. When the collection was taken up he deposited upon the plate what he supposed to be a dime, but in striking his cash balance that night he found that he was $2.40 short, and that a $2.50 gold piece was missing. He realized at once the mistake he had made and hunted up the church treasurer early the next morning to get back the gold he had inadvertently loaned the Lord.

The above story is told by an Elkton paper, but alas for the novelist he does not tell his readers whether the hero succeeded in recovering his lost bride.

Death Lurks in the Grass.

William Cullen, a well-known farmer residing near St. Georges, has lost six cows within the last few weeks for a disease that seems to be the result of a certain kind of grass in the pasture field. The deaths have occurred at intervals of a few days. The cows had not decreased in their milk supply and the only way in which the malady manifests itself is in the swelling up of the animals, and their death which follows shortly afterwards. Mr. Cullen believes the trouble to be due to a certain variety of grass in the pasture field, and will take steps to see that no further ill effects result from it among his herd.

TEA FROM RAINWATER.—"They say" that tea made from rain water is incomparably the best. Many of the fashionable housekeepers keep a stone jar in readiness to catch the rain, which, when obtained, is securely bottled and put on ice, to be used when needed. Says one of these: "The water makes far more difference than the mere leaves. I could make good tea out of anything with pure rainwater."

A MICHIGAN girl told her young man that she would never marry him until he was worth $100,000. So he started off with a brave heart to make it. "How do you get on, George?" she asked, at the expiration of a couple of months. "Well," said George, hopefully; "I have saved up $22." The girl dropped her eyelashes and blushingly remarked, "I reckon that's near enough, George."

MISS BEACONHILL:—"Are you interested in physical matters?"

Charley Bleeker:—"O, yes! I spend havlf my time on a wheel."

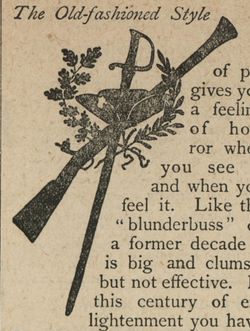
The Old-fashioned Style



of pill gives you a feeling of horror when you see it and when you feel it. Like the "blunderbuss" of a former decade it is big and clumsy, but not effective. In this century of enlightenment you have Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, which cure all liver troubles in the most effective way. They're not easily seen for they're small as grains of mustard seed, but the effect is lasting and the cure complete. For Indigestion, Constipation, Bilious Attacks, Sick and Bilious Headache, nothing has been found to equal these pills of Dr. Pierce's invention. They give such complete relief that their makers promise that they'll give you satisfaction or your money will be returned.
