Husband and Cake Disappear.

A well-know lady and gentleman, of Chesterville came to Chestertown last week and secured a marriage license. They were later married in Queen Annes, after having engaged a Kent preacher to tie the knot, and making considerable preparations for a fine wedding reception. Three large cakes were made ard everything was in readiness for the reception, when, lo! and behold, the husband disappeared. The bride took matters philo-ophically and told those whom she had invited to the reception that it would be held whether the groom came back or not. As the day wore on the bride changed her mind, and taking the cakes hid them in what she thought to be a safe place in the parlor, and nailed down the lower sash of the windows to prevent any one getting in. She then notified some of those who were to be present at the reception that it would not be held, and when the shades of night had fallen, several mischievous men, among whom was a Chestertown gentleman, went to the house, pulled down the upper sash of the parlor windows, got in, stole the cakes, and ate them, and now the poor bride is wondering who got her husband and wedding cakes.

To Stay on De Sho'.

They say that my old friend "Mike" Thompson will not don the blue suit of a big league "Um." but that he will stick to his berth at Washington College. It tickeled me that my old "college chum" had been slated for the job, for I knew that with him callin' balls and strikes much possible foolishness would be eliminated from the game. The ex-Georgetown star is known all over the country as one of the fairest officials who ever refereed an athletic event and if "Mike" has really refused to fill Hurst's shoes, the American League is the loser. The Eastern collegians will undoubtedly hail "Mike's" decision to "stick" with much joy.—Balto. News.
