County Commissioners not Liable.

The suit of James F. McKelvey to recover $1,500 against the County Commissioners of Cecil county for damages on account of the raise of the grade in front of his property on the public road leading from Rising Sun to Cathers Corner was decided in favor of the County Commissioners in the Elkton court this week.

The plaintiff claimed that the raise in the grade destroyed the enjoyment of his house, as it had been before the macadam road was built. The county maintained the theory that it was not liable for any change in the grade of the road unless it had been negligent in the plan and construction. The court ruled that the county was not liable. The control of the construction and permanent improvement of the public roads in Cecil county is now vested in a board composed of seven members, four of whom are appointed by the Governor.

According to the ruling of the Court, the permanent improvement of the public roads, if the work is done by persons over whom the County Commissioners have no control, is a matter for which they are not liable if damage is done.

This ruling of the court is extremely important in that it makes the State who appoints the County Road Engineer here, liable for any damage suits.

Still Pond Notes.

Mr. Charles Jewell spent Wednesday in Baltimore, getting repairs for his automobile.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Thompson and daughter, Mrs. Fred Ford, visited Baltimore on Wednesday.

Mr. Ben Quimby, of Seaford, Del., spent several days with his sister, Mrs. Lizzie Bowers.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hackett spent Thursday at her home in Worton.

A delightful birthday surprise party was given Mr. Clarence Ford at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ford, on Monday night, Sept. 26. A good crowd was present and all spent a delightful evening. Among those present were: Misses Daisy Severson, Marion Hackett, Jennie and Anna Bowers, Helen Hackett, Ethel Robinson, Louise Toulson, Katie Capps and Elizabeth Hague, Messrs. Clarence Ford, Harry Jones, Charlie and Wallace Ford, Howard Toulson, Harry Ricards, Willie Ford, Elon Beauchamp, Charlie Hague, Harry Stanley, and others.

The fire in Chestertown caused quite a great deal of excitement in our town Monday evening. We could see the flames, several teams and automobiles left our town and witnessed the great conflagration, which was certainly a sight to see.

Church Sunday, both morning and night.

In Memoriam.

In memoriam of our baby who died one month ago to-day, age 7 months and 11 days, William L. Sewell.

God needed one more angel
To join his heavenly band,
So He looked down upon us
And clasped our darling's hand.
William's little crib is empty now,
His little clothes laid by;
A father's pride, a mother's joy,
In death's cold arms doth lie.
