UNITED States Senator Isador Rayner will please accept our thanks for a quantity of garden seed, which we shall plant and see how they grow.

ONE of the most terrible explosions of dynamite in the history of the world occurred on a railroad pier in Jersey City on Wednesday, causing the death of 50 people, injuring a hundred others, and damaging property to the extent of a million dollars.

IT doesn't make any difference whom the Organization decides to run for the Senate and House of Delegates, they are indissolubly tied to high taxes and bad laws. They can talk all they please about paying a part of next year's debts, but in the absence of the facts to prove such a statement, the tax-payers have lost confidence in their arguments. If the Organization is allowed to send your representatives to the Legislature, you may expect to have a continuance of high taxes and bad laws.

SENATOR SLAY did not make the road law an economical law. That was a part of the Caroline Road Law. The only thing that Senator Slay did to the road law was to take the appointment of the road engineer out of the hands of the County Commissioners, thus making the tax-payers of the county pay the bills without having any voice in the management of the roads. Under the present road law the tax-payers have nothing to do with the roads except to pay the bills. It is all right to talk about economy in January, brother, but keep it up in April, May and June, and then you'll make your hit that will be a ten strike.

VIEWED from a purely disinterested standpoint, Senator Wm. M. Slay is the logical candidate of the Organization for the State Senate. Senator Slay's career in the Senate was thoroughly in harmony with the wishes of the Organization leaders, and no man could have more accurately represented the Organization than did Senator Slay. We believe that certain leaders of the Organization were favorable to Senator Slay's renomination, and the Kent News went so far as to say, after the Legislature adjourned, that Senator Slay was the logical candidate of the Organization for renomination. We believe that Senator Slay would like to have been returned to the Senate, and we cannot help but think that his disappointment is keen in being turned down by those whose every wish he endeavored to gratify. Why did they not take the Senator? Is it because of a lack of gratitude for what he did for the Organization, or is it because they feel that they have made about all the use they can of the Senator, and when he has no more to give, they want nothing more to do with him, it makes no difference what he did for them in the past. Of course, we are not selecting candidates for the Organization, but it strikes us as peculiar that the Orgaaization does not seem to be as grateful as it should be of past services rendered.

HOW THE TAX-PAYER STANDS.

In view of the number of economic (?) laws, which the Organization forces passed in the last Legislature, it would not be a bad idea for the tax-payers of the town and county to take stock and see how they stand at the end of the first year of the enforcement of those laws. This is the season of the year when our merchants are taking stock, and it is not a bad idea for the tax-payers to do the same thing. In straightening out the debit and credit sides of the account, we find the tax-payers to be situated about like this:

DEBIT.	CREDIT.
A tax rate of $1.85.
Road Engineer law that is doing the tax-payers no good.
New assessment to cost from $10,000 to $12,000 and no benefit to tax-payers.
Indexing records in the Clerk's Office to cost tax-payers over $3000.
Bonding Chestertown for $10,000 to provide no better fire protection than we already have.
Live stock, wool and fur law costing each one engaged in the business $25 and 50 cents costs every year.
An unnecessary expense of nearly $15,000 to go in the levy of 1911 which ought never to have been imposed upon the people.

This is the way the account stands, and it looks like the tax-payers of the county are in a bad fix. Not a single entry on the credit side of the account; everything is a debt. Who is responsible for this? The Organization that is making a strenuous effort to capture the legislative part of the ticket in the next primaries in order to pass the same kind of laws, and to keep the above on the statute books.

THE fur buyers of this county are very bitter against the law passed by the last Legislature requiring a license of $25 before they can do business. They say the law subjects them to an unnecessary inconvenience in carrying on their trade, and causes them and the man who sells the hides great loss of money and annoyance. The Anti-Organization has been blamed for raising the tax rate, but they did not pass such a law as this, any more than they raised the tax rate.

A WELL-KNOWN tax-payer and man of affairs, one who has been intimately connected with his county government for years, in conversation in our office this week, made this serious statement: "If I were a young man 25 years of age, and thought that Kent county finances were going to be run in the future as they have been for the past fifteen years, I would sell every dollar's worth of property I own and leave the county." That is the way the people feel about this tax rate business. They know who made the debts which are responsible for the people's burdens now, and they'll never be fooled in the world by the humbuggery that a part of the money has been taxed to pay next year's debts. It is too serious a matter upon which to deceive the people. They know who spent their money, and you'll never fool them in the world, no matter how desperately it may be tried. Tell the truth about the matter and help to right the wrong that has been done our tax-payers.

A SLAP AT OYSTERMEN.

For several weeks past the daily papers have been printing a lot of sensational stuff about the oysters of the bay and tributaries being affected by a mysterious disease, and some of those who are responsible for such a statement as this are also responsible for the statement that the cull law is being properly enforced. It is the consensus of opinion among our oystermen that the one great reason for the condition of our oysters, and one which is affecting the price of oysters is that the state authorities are not properly enforcing the cull law. All such statements and all such refusals to enforce laws, are a direct thrust at the oystemens' financial interests. The oyster buyers for financial advantage can put in circulation a report that oysters are diseased and then go out on the bar and tell the oystermen that there is little demand for Chesapeake bay oysters because of this disease, and the oystermen are compelled to take just what the buyers will give them and have no other redress. This is one bad effect of a monopoly of the eastern shore trade which the great packers of Baltimore conduct with our oystermen. If the people of Rock Hall had a railroad to their town it would at once open up the markets of the north to fish, crabs and oysters and they would not then be at the mercy of the fellow who circulates a discouraging report as to the condition of oysters simply to control the wholesale market. So it is with the law requiring the packers to pay 2 cents a bushel tax on all oysters they buy. This law was passed by the State with the understanding that the shells would be put back on the bottoms in order to increase the supply of oysters. But in not one instance have any shells been returned to the bars. Mr. Joseph Downey, of Rock Hall, the only large packer in Kent County, paid his tax to the state treasurer last week, and the very day after he had paid his tax he received notice from the Packers Association to refuse to pay the tax because the association intends to make a test of the law. Our oystermen should be protected and their interests should be preserved, but we fail to see how such unwarranted statements as to the condition of oysters and the neglect to enforce the cull law can do them any good.

PEOPLE'S COLUMN.

☞ The columns of the TRANSCRIPT are open to the proper discussion of all topics of public interest or importance. Whether the editors agree with the sentiment expressed or not, the people should and may be heard through the TRANSCRIPT's columns—the paper will be the People's Forum from which they may be heard on all subjects—purely personal matter excepted. The Editors are not responsible in any manner for articles that appear in this column.

EDITORS TRANSCRIPT:—While I believe that an intelligent public has become so accustomed to reading grossly exaggerated and unreliable editorial compositions of a factional character published in your paper with weekly regularity that they have such small influence in forming opinion that they should be ignored, yet I feel that the public at this time should know the truth and the facts concerning the Stock Dealers License which passed the last General Assembly of Maryland. This Bill, as originally introduced by Cecil County, was titled "Non-Resident Stock Dealers License for Cecil and Kent Counties" and provided that no non-resident could buy live stock or wool in either county without taking out a license. It was intended to protect our licensed dealers and merchants from non-resident transient dealers without license coming here and competing with dealers who had paid for the privilege. This, in my judgment, was only fair and reasonable and I gave my approval to it. When it finally imerges, during the last weeks of the session, it reveals itself a troublesome mongrel which nobody had asked for, and so far as I know, nobody wanted, and which should never have become a law by the signature of the Governor; but it did slip by us, much to my regret and chagrin, and I am willing to bear my share of the just censure of the public for failing in my duty to fully protect their interests, which I tried faithfully to do. But, sirs, I am not willing to submit without protest to your unjust and untruthful charge, that it was a measure of my or my colleague's creation, or that we had any desire or motive in allowing such an obnoxious and unjust measure to be placed upon our people. It was our desire and effort that each and every measure passed for the county should be for its present and future benefit, and all attempts at legislation against the interests of any section met our united opposition, and it seems to me, if your editorials had more the stamp of Democracy and fairness, and less of the demagogue, our county, as a whole, would be benefited.

H. C. WILLIS.

[We cheerfully give space to Mr. Willis to set himself "straight" with the people of Kent county. Mr. Willis has very decided views as to the duty of a newspaper in its relation to the people, but presumably he feels that a Legislatureman's duty to his constituents is altogether a different matter. All we have to say in reply to Mr. Willis is that his letter incriminates him all the more. It was his sworn duty to protect the interests of his county people. He admits that he knew such a law as we referred to affecting the people of his county was in course of passage by the Legislature, and knowing this it was his sworn obligation to watch the proceedings of this bill in order that it contain nothing detrimental to his people's interests. The fact that he allowed the law to "slip by him" does not excuse him. The people of Kent county did not send him to the Legislature to let such unjust laws "slip by" him. They sent him there to protect their interests, and he, knowing that a law affecting the welfare of his own county was in course of passage, it was his greatest duty not to let it "slip by" him, but to follow it and see that it did not injure his people's welfare. We say this with all due respect to Mr. Willis because we like him very much. But it is simply another case of "slip," but, Mr. Willis, "slippin'" don't count. If the TRANSCRIPT's editorials have no influence in forming the opinions of the people, why did Mr. Willis take the trouble to answer what he absolutely admits is a truthful statement by the paper, although he charges the contrary? Look out, Mr. Willis, you are "slippin'" again. Mr. Willis admits that he knew that the law had emerged in a mongrel form during the last weeks of the session, and yet, knowing this, and having plenty of time to have the bill reconsidered, when he found it to be an unjust law, he allowed the law to stand, and we will wager everything we have that if the TRANSCRIPT had not exposed the law, nothing would ever have been heard about it, except from the people all over the county who are justly censuring the Organization for passing such a law. What do we care who created the law; if Mr. Willis allowed such a law to "slip by him," it makes his responsibility just as great as if he had framed the law, and so it goes. The more they try to explain their acts, the more they put their "foot in" it.—EDS.]

More Contributors.

The "Extravagance Fund" is still receiving contributions from the tax-payers of the county. You know that $35,000 spent by the old Board of County Commissioners in the last six months of their term from June 12, 1909, to Dec. 1, 1909, has got to be paid for, and this is the way the tax-payers are compelled to pay for it:

Mr. Benj. W. Duling, of the First District, paid in 1909.

County tax..... $23.25
1910.
County tax..... 38.22

Mr Duling's contribution to the "Extravagance Fund" is $14.97.

Mr. John A. Bottomley, of the First District, paid in 1909.

County tax..... $14.31
1910.
County tax..... $24.88

Mr. Bottomley's contribution is $10.57.

Mr. Wm. A. Crew, of the Third District, paid in 1909.

County tax..... $15.63
1910.
County tax..... 23.13

Mr. Crew's contribution is $7.50.

Mr. Samuel T. Moffett, of the same district, paid in 1909.

County tax..... $9.73
1910.
County tax..... $14.40

Mr. Moffett's contribution is $4.67.

These four tax-payers are compelled to contribute $37.71 towards the payment of back debts, and they will be compelled to pay more in $1911 to help pay for the extra $13,000 or $15,000 which the passage of bad laws in the last Legislature will add to the 1911 levy.

Dunn's Report of Eastern Shore.

The annual report of R. G. Dunn & Company regarding business conditions in Kent and the other thirteen counties of the Delaware-Maryland peninsula shows nine more failures this year than last, with the total liabilities slightly higher and the assets considerally lower. The corresponding figures are: 1909, failures, 59; liabilities, $311,911.05; assests, $213,956.32; 1910 failures, 68; liabilities, $319,181.46; assests, $164,203.34. The agency reports no heavy failures in the territory during the year and says that business prospects for the new year indicate a fairly good trade. Wholesalers report collections better than last year. The oyster trade was not altogether profitable, small returns having come from the poor quality of oysters dredged. The potato crop was large, and the fruit crop was fair and good prices were obtained. The conditions of the canned goods market was practically the same as last year, except for peas, of which there was a shortage with corresponding high prices. The tomato yield was from 60 to 70 percent. below that of the previous year and prices boomed.

Eastern Shore Politics.

From Talbot county comes the interesting information that the Democrats of that county are urging Gen. Joseph B. Seth to accept a nomination for the House of Delegates. Coincident with this announcement is a movement for the nomination of former Governor Warfield for Governor.

There is also a concerted movement down in Wicomico for the nomination of Senator Jesse D. Price for State Comptroller, based upon the assumption that the candidate for Governor will come from the Western Shore.

Up in Cecil county it is intimated that Albert Constable, Esq., will be a candidate to succeed Chief Judge Pearce.

To say the least, the fellow who's responsible for this has given us something to talk about.

We Have One Nice Large Mare

FOR SALE. She is 12 years old, pulls anywhere and is a right fair driver. Mr. James Bramble has her colt, which sold for $200. Raised by Mr. Geo. Faulkner, at Fairlee. The reason for selling is because I have too many. Will sell her at a reasonable price on a note for twelve months.
