SCHEDULE FOR TO-DAY.

At Double Creek—Double Creek vs. Chestertown High.

At Church Hill—Church Hill vs. Barclay.

At Centreville—Centreville vs. Millington.

C. I. 4. C. H. S. 3.

The Chestertown Invincibles, a much smaller and unpracticed team, defeated the High school team last Friday by the score of 4 to 3. The features of the game were the pitching of Blackway and the fielding of C. Duyer, for the Invincibles and the all around playing of Robinson for the High school.

Coulbourn, one of the star pitchers of the Washington College team last year, has signed for the season with the Norfolk team of the Virginia League. Coulbourn was one of the most promising pitchers Washington College ever had, and his many friends here are glad to hear of his good fortune.

Washington College will have as their opponents this afternoon the strong Baltimore City College team, and it is hoped that the weather will be sufficiently good to permit of the opening of the season. The game between Washington and Johns Hopkins scheduled for last Saturday was declared off on account of the weather. The game this afternoon should prove an interesting one and it goes without saying that Washington will win.

All games in the Inter-Scholastic League scheduled for last Saturday were declared off, and the boys are hoping for clean skies today to take the kinks out of their pitching arms and throwing wings.

Arbor Day Exercises.

Arbor day was most beautifully observed at the Sassafras School on Friday afternoon last, and too much praise cannot be given to the teacher, Miss Mabel Price, and her well-trained scholars. The day was an ideal one and the teacher and her scholars seemed as bright and happy as the beautiful sunshine. Mrs. W. S. Morris presented to the school a beautiful flag, given under the auspices of the Jr. O. U. A. M., which floated from the flag pole of the school, and Mrs. Morris made very beautiful and appropriate remarks in her usual and bright manner which was most pleasing to all.

The following programme was rendered: Singing by the school; recitation, by Louis Johnston; recitation, "A Wish for Rain," by Katherine Adams; recitation, "Dolly's Lesson," by Mary Colgaine; song, "Don't Kill [illegible] Birds," by a class of girls; recitation, "What the Sparrow Chirps," by Louise Morris; recitation, "Should we Forget," by Myrtle Morris; recitation, "The Scarecrow," by Irene Hendrickson; reading, by teacher, Miss Mabel Price; dialogue, "School Improvement Club," by a class of girls and boys; recitation, by Evelyn Slidham; recitation, "Planting a Tree," Julian Rosin; recitation, "Tidings of Spring," by Lineta Morris; recitation, "Planting Himself to Grow by Mother Earth," by a class of little girls.

And I feel that particular mention should be made of each one of the scholars that took part in these exercises, for they all did most excellently. Ice cream and cake were served in abundance to all present.
