Kilbourn & Bramble,

FAIRLEE, MARYLAND.

ON THE GO, TO AND FRO.

Prof. Jump, of Tilghman's Island, has been the guest of friends here during the week.

Mr. Beaumont proprietor of the Voshell House will remove to Greensboro the first of the year, where he will engage in the hotel business. We regret very much to lose Mr. Beaumont and his estimable family, but wish them much success in their new home.

Quite a number of prospective land buyers have been in Chestertown during the past two weeks looking for desirable locations and we may expect to hear of a number of transfers of property in the near future.

Mrs. Charles deVere Drayton, of Washington, D. C., is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Eliason.

Mr. Eben F. Perkins, the efficient teller in the Third National Bank, has been enjoying a pleasant visit at the home of his wife's relatives in Calvert county during the week. Mr. Perkins has been enjoying the fine gunning in that county.

Mr. Philip G. Wilmer, who sustained a fracture of the limb in a football scrimmage at Washington College some weeks ago, is rapidly improving and has been able to be around with the aid of crutches during the week. Mr. Wilmer is very popular, and his many friends were glad to see him out.

Senator and Mrs. Garrett Foxwell spent Thanksgiving with relatives and friends in Wilmington, Del.

Hon. and Mrs. Joseph A. Wickes have closed their town house and removed to Baltimore for the winter.

Mrs. Mollie Farringer has been quite sick during the week.

Misses Maude and Rose Duyer and Nettie Sutton are guests of relatives and friends in Baltimore for Thanksgiving.

Mr. Victor Hendrickson continues poorly, though he has been able to sit up in a chair during a part of the day.

Mrs. Edward C. Cryer, and son, Frederic, of near Arlington, Va., are visiting Mrs. H. R. Graham, on Water street.

MONEY FOR FARMERS.

An Interesting Programme Has Been Arranged.

"Every farmer in Maryland who attends the Maryland Week Exposition will receive twenty five dollars. Suppose the State Horticultural Society were to make such an announcement, the big armory building in Baltimore would not hold the crowds," said H. J. Patterson, Master of the State Grange a day or two ago; "And yet", he continued, "every farmer who attends the sessions of the affiliated associations, listens to the lectures and addresses, and sees the exhibits will undoubtedly find that he has received not only $25 but hundreds of dollars, in the knowledge imparted to him which he only needs to apply in a practical way on his own farm to realize the cash."

J. H. Hale, the "Peach King" who raises and ships more peaches than any other man in the world, and who has been raising peaches and apples since 1869, will give those who visit the exposition the benefit of his best experience in "Growing and distributing the peach."

Will Otwell, who superintends the work of nearly 40,000 boys in raising corn for premiums, will be on hand to tell in detail how to get the largest number of bushels from the acre while conserving the land for other crops.

Then, there is the man from the Hood River Valley who will lecture on and demonstrate how to pack fruit so that it will bring the hightest market price.

Another man, H. Huston, of the Indiana Experiment Station, who will tell "How to raise more fruit and less wood in the orchard."

F. A. Waugh, the fruit tree sharp, head of the Division of Horticulture of the Massachusetts Agricultural College, who writes books on fruit growing, and who will discuss "The variety problem with special reference to apples."

Some other subjects that will be handled by men who know are: "Some problems in market gardening, and how to solve them." "Preparations for the honey harvest," "Beekeeping in Southern Maryland," "How to improve the methods of the production of milk," and many other matters that enter into the practical life and work of the farmer.

During every minute of the exposition which begins on December 4 and ends December 9, there will be something new to instruct, entertain and amuse. Aside from the exhibits, which will be the largest and best ever shown in a similar exhibition in Maryland, after the serious business of the meetings during the day, there will be entertainments at night, every night.

President Taft has promised to be at the exposition, and many distinguished personages connected with the national government at Washington, all of whom will speak; and it is more than possible that Former President Theodore Roosevelt will be there.

A couple dozen governors of as many of the United States will be on hand, and not less than a couple of dozen presidents of the big railway and steamship lines, all interested in how to make bigger and better crops and a more prosperous country.
