Call them what you will, but at the prices we have pinned on them we call them cheap, and so does the public, judging from the way they are getting into them. Now is your opportunity to fix up very, very cheap. Splice out the coat and vest with a pair out of this lot.

Overcoats and Suits all go now, and we still have a fair line. These reductions of ours are recognized as REDUCTIONS. Think of this.

THE HAND OF DEATH.

Wallis M. Maslin, a well known waterman of Chestertown, died at his home on High street Tuesday night, aged 61. The deceased had been sick with a complication of diseases for many months and has been a great sufferer. He married Miss Minnie Coleman, who has been his faithful companion for many years and has been his constant nurse night and day for a long while. He leaves three boys, viz., Millard, Snowden and Clyde. He was a member of Christ M. P. Church and the P. O. S. of A. He lived for some years in Broad Neck, but has spent the most of his life in Chestertown. The funeral took place yesterday afternoon, interment in Chester cemetery, Dr. D. L. Greenfield officiating; J. N. Dodd undertaker. The honorary pall bearers were W. P. Milby, James Cooper, W. Ambrose Carroll, Jas. M. Bartley, Samuel Cooper, Earl Barnes. The active pall bearers were Wm. H. Lambert, John C. Davis, Wm. Malin, Cordray Loud, Allie Robinson, W. S. Carroll.

Joseph Simmons Trew died at the home of his son, Joseph, early Thursday morning. He had been a great sufferer from asthma for years. He was 70 years of age and has been one Kent's well-known farmers. He was of the old and honored Kent family of Trews who have been conspicuous in Kent for years as among our best citizens.

He leaves four children, Joseph, Mrs. Virgil Kendall, Miss Etta and Miss Mary Trew, also one brother, Thomas B. Trew, and one sister, Mrs. James H. Baker. The funeral will take place today at 2 o'clock with interment at the old family burying ground on the Bartus Trew farm, near Pomona. The bearers will be Thos. B. Trew, Bartus Trew, James H. Baker, C. C. Brown, Virgil W. Kendall and Thos. Meeks. Rev. A. H. Covey will officiate.

John Morris, one of Cecilton's oldest residents, died at his home on Monday morning, the result of a sudden attack of pneumonia, aged about 78 years. He was in the undertaking and furniture business. He is survived by a widow and four children, Mrs. Wm. H. Alderson and Mrs. John Coppage, of Cecilton; Mrs. Thos. Van Buskirk, of Baltimore, and Wm. Morris, of Wilmington. His funeral took place at the home on Wednesday at 2 o'clock. Interment in Cecilton Cemetery.

Catherine V., infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Davis, of Betterton, died on Sunday of colitis, aged fourteen months. Funeral was held on Tuesday afternoon, Rev. Robert Roe officiating. Interment in Still Pond, Undertaker W. H. Krusen in charge.

John Taggart died at Hahnemann Hospital, Philadelphia, Thursday, aged 75. The funeral will take place at his father-in-law's home in Swedesboro, N. J. His father-in-law is over 100 years old and is enjoying good health. The deceased had served as assistant postmaster at Tolchester Beach for 21 years and was a "grand old man." He was a familiar figure to the thousands who visited the great resort and beloved by all who knew him. Mr. and Mrs. Noland made him one of their family and his demise will be greatly regretted by them. He leaves one daughter, Miss Ella, of Philadelphia.

In another column will be found a full account of the death of Judge Brown. With the solemn and impressive rites of the Episcopal church the remains of the late Judge Edwin H. Brown, Sr., were laid to rest in Chesterfield Cemetery at Centreville on Wednesday. The burial services were held in St. Paul's Protestant Episcopal Church, of which the deceased jurist was a vestryman and senior warden. The pall bearers were Messrs. Harry Frazier, James Brown, W. T. P. Turpin, Walter T. Wright, Clayton Wright, Kennard Brown, Drs. Caball and James Bordley and Rev. Joel T. Brown, all relatives of the deceased. The services were conducted by Rev. James A. Mitchell, rector emeritus, assisted by Rev. W. B. Stehl, the rector, during which the vested choir sang as an anthem "Asleep in Jesus" and as the recessional "Peace, Perfect Peace." The choir preceeded the hearse to the cedar strewn grave, where it sweetly rendered "Abide With Me."

No funeral in recent years has gathered such a distinguished body of citizens in Centreville. Represenative men from all over the Eastern Shore and other parts of Maryland came to pay their last respects to the deceased judge, with nearly all of whom he had been on terms of intimate friendship. The members of the bar of every county in the Second Judicial Circuit attended in a body, while every Court clerk was also present.

The floral tributes were both profuse and handsome, and among them were beautiful designs from the bar associations of the Eastern Shore, other courts and personal friends.

Among those from Chestertown who attended were Messrs. Marion deK. Smith, L. W. Wickes, H. H. Barroll, W. W. Beck, Herbert E. Perkins, H. W. Vickers, Jr., R. Groome Parks, Dr. J. W. Cain, J. T. Dixon, C. L. Dodd, C. H. Hurlock, Harry Nichols and others.

Dr. B. S. Roseberry, who was born and educated in Kent county and Baltimore city, graduating from the Maryland University of Medicine in 1874, died at his home, Gardner, New Mexico, on the 28th day of March, after a lingering illness against which he fought to the last. He leaves a widow, one son, one daughter and two grandchildren.

WORTON ITEMS.
