FOR SALE—SHARP'S ISLAND.

Old Advertisement Shows Rapid Wear Of Choptank Islet.

Judge William R. Martin brought to Easton the clipping of an advertisement which appeared in the Easton Monitor during the year 1809. It is for the sale of Sharp's Island and reads as follows:

"Sharp's Island, containing about 700 acres, for sale. This valuable body of land is situated in the Chesapeake bay, about 50 miles from Baltimore and 25 miles from Annapolis, near the mouth of the Great Choptank river, in Talbot county. About one-third of the island is in wood, principally oak and pine, among which is a considerable quanity of ship timber. The soil is very productive for the cultivation of hemp, tobacco, barley, corn, wheat, etc., and stock of every kind may be raised on it to great advantage. Fish and wild fowl are in great abundance.

"The Improvements are a comfortable house, three large barns and other necessary buildings. This valuable island is in a state of profitable cultivation. For terms, which will be made onvenient, apply to Philip Thomas, No. 27 Hanover street, Baltimore."

Sharp's Island lies in the Choptank river, just below Black Walnut Point, and belongs to Talbot county. It has gradually washed away until what was 700 acres 100 years ago is scarcely 30 acres today. It is gradually disappearing, and 100 years hence will scarcely be remembered.

NEWS FROM CLEAR CREEK.

A Rock Hall Resident Writes From The Mining District, on Top The Rockies.

EMPIRE DAILY MINING DISTRICT,
ON TOP ROCKIES, CLEAR CREEK COUNTY, COL., March 11, 1906.

Dear Papa:—This leaves me in the best of health, hope all are well at home. This is one of the worst days I ever saw, the wind is blowing so hard we wonder if our cabin will stay on the mountain or go down one board at a time, it cannot all go at once for the reason that its foundation is six feet down in the rock. while I write this letter I do not know if I will be able to get it down the mountain on the morrow for the mail. A man was here today with thirty pounds on his back and covered with a solid coating of ice, the wind blew him down a number of times he finally reached the cabin by crawling a considerable distance, the wind blew me down and I just laid still until the squall blew over. I will now try to tell you about our trip here, we left Denver at 8.10 A. M. on Jan. 30th, arriving at a mountain town called Empire at 11.30 where we dined. This town is 8000 feet above sea level, after dinner we took a rig with four horses and started up the mountain pass and covering eight miles we struck deep snow and was compelled to get out of the wagon and walk, the horses having all they could do to pull the wagon with about 200 pounds of grub aboard, we had to wade through snow for four miles reaching a saw mill at 6 P. M. and determined to bunk there for the night, we asked no questions simply stating to the proprietor that we were there for the night and wanted supper, lodging and breakfast which we got we were then in fine white pine timber at an elevation of about 10,000 feet and our destination Capt. Billy Mack Mine on Denton Mountain at an elevation of 13000 was three miles further on, next morning we left the mill with thirty pounds of grub on our backs getting along nicely for about a mile on a big road then we struck snow thirty feet deep and waded through it up to our waists requiring six hours and a half to make two and a half miles, frequently we found ourselves in snow to our shoulders helping one another as best we could, after getting above the timber line we got along O. K. for the snow was crusted sufficiently to bear us.

Arriving at the cabin we found it filled with snow the works having been closed for a month, we cleared out the cabin and built a fire and cooked some oat meal but I was so played out that I could eat but a very small portion, I then turned in but could not sleep because of my fatigue. The next morning however, I was feeling fine and have been working ever since, ours is a splendid property, there are thousands of tons of ore in sight.

We have a tunnel in the mountain 500 feet long and 300 feet further we will strike a cross vein where we will get a larger body of high grade ore. The ore we are now taking out is good and is known as Galena ore, turning out from $25 to $35 to the ton and some as high as $50. The promotors of this property Messrs. Lansig and Sadler are gentlemen of the highest type who are selling stock to mine. With love and best wishes to all will say good bye from your son, E. H. APSLEY.
