THE LARGEST STOCKS

—OF—

General Merchandise
In Kent County

You who deal here know that our store is full–always is–we keep it that way, but in this case we have literally taken our building already full and propose to put another large stock in a share already occupied–there is one way to do it sell the stock as fast as moved. We cannot have the stock ready this week but next week the goods will be displayed as fast as our clerks can handle them. If you need money bring one dollar where you expect to use two.

Now Note:

We do not intend that any misrepresentation shall be allowed by any one. If you buy anything that proves to be not exactly what you expected, come here, explain the error and get your money back.

Easter Sunday was not an ideal day for pretty Easter costumes and morning services generally were very much hindered by the rain.

Fairlee Merchants did a very good business during the holiday advent. Mr. Walter B. Barnes is painting Mr. Walter Sparks' new dwelling.

Farmers are getting back with their work, due to the continuance of wet weather.

The abundance plum, a very profitable variety of fruit around this section, bids fair to be plentiful this season.

Fish are plentiful, we had the pleasure to take an outing to Capt. James Middleton's fishing shore on Tuesday and accompanied the genial Capt. out to fish his vast number of nets located off the Fairlee farm shore. That morning quite a nice lot of fine shad were caught and about 20,000 herring in his pound seemed an enormous quanity of fish. When we reached the shore we found a number farmers with wagons after herring which are disposed of at one dollar a thousand!

It is rumored that our village blacksmith has fishing rigs in Fairlee Creek. It is also reported that he has chartered the "Chester," fomerly of Chestertown, now the fine gasoline launch belonging to Smyth & Keyser, to run his fish to market. The larger portion of the fish it is said are mullets.

Mr. Herman Klein is painting Mr. L. B. Kilbourn's out building.

CLIFF CITY NEWS.

I noticed in your Cliff items of last week an article stating that the fishermen were doing well. They only wish they were doing half that good. The river is full of "slur," and in a few hours after setting the nets, pounds, fykes, &c., are completely closed up with the drifting filth, and in that condition it is impossible to catch any fish, Most of the men have moved their traps up the river in hopes of having better luck. The oystermen are working the same grounds over and over, and as soon as an oyster gets nearly the 2½-inch size it is captured. They have also had a poor season, but hope to make it up depleting the river of seed oysters. Then we will have the same old cry next fall of the scarcity of oysters. The only time we have a full crop is when the Legislature is agitating a planting law. Then, according to the oystermen, we have more oysters in sight than will supply the world, but they don't materialize.

Capt. Clark with the old tub, "St. Mary" couldn't get within ten feet of the Spaniard point wharf on Monday, he got his bow line fast to the wharf but the boat would'nt drift in, so the Capt. sailed away leaving ten passengers on the wharf, all of them from Kent.

The peach crop is about ready to fail again, just in nice condition for a frost to nip.

Philip E. Bowman, of the Baltimore City Court his wife and son spent Easter with Mrs. John D. Carter at the Cliffs.

It is reported that Mr. Wm. Brown has purchased Cliff wharf.

Rock Hall is looking for a rare treat in the form of a lecture by Prof. Ko-Kichi Moromoto A. M., of Tokyo, Japan on Thursday evening April 26th, at 8 o'clock. The subject of the lecture will be "Russo-Japanese War and Japan" illustrated with unique motion pictures and views of Japan. The Professor will appear in full Japanese costume. This lecture is pronounced by all who have heard it to be first class in every particular, and highly instructive and entertaining.

THE NEW WAISTS WE ARE SHOWING
Are Daintier Than Ever Before

"Just a simple little white lawn waist," says a man—and wonders what all the fuss, and the price, is about But every woman reads the story of intricate embroideries; of laces caught together with finest crocheted threads; or whipped to the sheer fabrics so patiently and closely as to simulate a cord effect; of medallions filled in with cobwebby hand stitches; of pin tucks so fairy fine that they look like thickened threads in the fabric, and over them—tossed on, it seems—sprays of embroidery.

At $2.00. Women's Waists of sheer Persian lawn; front and back of yoke of tucks and German Valenciennes insertion. Others of lingerie mull, with front of allover embroidery; long or elbow sleeves, daintily finished with lace.

At $1.00 Women's Waists of India lawn; yoke of tucks and Valenciennes insertion. Others with front of allover embroidery; tucked back; long or short sleeves, finished with lace.

Town-and-Country Shirts—A Novelty

A very practical novelty, by the way—and bound to become very popular. They are ideal for outdoor sports, and yet careless enough in appearance to lounge around the house in.

Of union linen—white—with yoke back, detachable laundered collar, sleeves with gusset bands and laundered cuffs, front pleat, trimmed with white pearl buttons, and patch pockets. $1.00.

Thin Underclothes for Women

Cotton Underwear for Women has arrived in all its new beauty, full of dainty charm. Made of soft finished cambric, the softest, finest nainsooks, these summer underclothes will be cool and comfortable in the warmest weather, nor will they irritate the most sensitive skin.

Trimmings have borrowed much of the daintiness and charm of French underclothes. Fine little blind embroideries, flimsy laces; medallions set amid a sea of tucks and foamy lace, give a bewitching fascination, that appeals to all that is feminine in a woman. This is particularly true of the corset covers, which seem to have appropriated quite the prettiest conceits of Fashion's cleverest moods.

Corset Covers of nainsook; front and back trimmed with lace insertion and edging. Others trimmed with embroidery. 50c.

Corset Covers of nainsook, trimmed with four insertions of lace and edging. Others trimmed with embroidery medallions and lace insertion. $1.00.

Gowns of nainsook; neck and sleeves trimmed with embroidery and drawn ribbon. Others trimmed with lace. $1.50.

Petticoats of cambric; deep flounce, with cluster tucks, lace insertion and wide edging. $2.00.

Petticoats of cambric; with hemstitched tucking and deep flounce of embroidery. $3 50.

Little Allen Johnson the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Johnson, near town, came very near being killed on Monday afternoon, by being too small to ride a horse; he rode in town for the mail and on his return his horse run off and he could not control it. The horse threw the little fellow in the stream of water near the creamery. It is the greatest miracle the horse did not kick the child as I could see the horse's heels flying high in the air, or the child might have been drowned, for where the little fellow fell the current is very strong.

Rehoboth church here to a large delighted congregation, his theme and delivery was fine. His many friends wish Mr. Clift every success through life, his sister, Mrs. Frank Ballett, sang and played very beautifully and our fine organist Mrs. John F. Ernest, assisted in her usual happy mood.

Mr. I. Jacobs who resides with his daughter, Mrs. Wm. Davis, below Sassafras, is lying critically ill. Tuesday morning being so beautiful and bright it made him feel young again, so he rode a young colt, unfortunately for him, for the colt threw him and injured him very seriously. Dr. I. J. Wright has just left town tonight and says his case is serious, he was going back to remain with Mr. Jacobs, and we fear the result as it is a grave case.

At a meeting of the Caroline School Board held recently, it was decided to close the colored schools of the county on April 12 and the white schools on May 25
