Church Entertainments.

Beautiful Christmas carols and a splendid program of recitations and exercises were rendered by Christ M. P. Sunday School last Sunday evening. An orchestra composed of Messrs. T. Kemp Bordley and Warren C. Hurlock, violins; Arthur Bacon, cornet, and Foster Cannon, trombone, with Miss Clara Usilton, organist, rendered delightful orchestra music, and added spirit and volume to the music. The program was as follows: Overature, orchestra; opening chorus, school; responsive reading; Lord's prayer; singing, school; address of welcome, Norris Reed; singing, school; recitation, Lillian Sheats; singing, school; recitation, Catherine Lambert; exercise, "The Evergreen," eight girls; singing, school; exercise, "The Christmas Window," twelve children; singing, school; collection; announcements, Dr. Graham; recitation, Walter Barnes; closing chorus, school; benediction.

Tuesday evening, under the direction of Miss Isabel Beck, the primary department of the Sunday school of Emmanuel Church held an interesting playlet entitled, "Catechism and the Child." The annual Christmas treat and tree was also held Tuesday night.

The M. E. Sunday school enjoyed its annual Christmas treat on Tuesday evening. Boxes of candy, nuts, etc., were given to the scholars and teachers, and everyone had a most enjoyable time.

Christ M. P. Sunday school held its annual treat on Tuesday evening. Mr. Joseph N. Wheatley represented Old Kris to perfection, and distributed a box of candy and nuts to every one present, about 300 in all. A novel feature of the occasion was a Christmas tree upon which was hung a present for the pastor, superintendent, assistant superintendent and every teacher. The pastor received a $5 gold piece, while the teachers received toy horns, butterflies, doll babies, coal scuttles, etc. Mrs. A. M. Bowers, who has been superintendent of the primary department for forty years, and Miss Mary Davis, one of the oldest and most faithful teachers, received a box of handkerchiefs. The school recognized the superintendent's fondness for neckties and gave him a pretty one, while the assistant superintendent was given handkerchiefs. The occasion was one of the most enjoyable ever held in the church.
