Samples will be sent upon request. State the kind of material preferred, whether silk cotton or wool, the colors desired, and about what price you care to pay.

Information as to the latest styles in outwear, footwear and all accessories will be gladly given to those who favor us with an inquiry.

The Strawberry Industry

The strawberry idea is spreading in Queen Annes county, near Millington. While the small farmer has grasped the idea of planting a crop that brings the early cash the larger farmers are satisfied to follow suit, as an early crop is needed to help finance the later crops. This point is important.

Mr. Bruce Massey, one of the leading farmers of upper Queen Anne's, is pleased at the strawberry raising on a large scale. Only a few years ago Mr. Massey sold $150 worth from one-eighth of an acre. And berries were so much cheaper then. Mr. Massey claims there is not any better land in the world than we have right here to grow them.

Mr. T. M. Jefferson, a farmer from Crumpton, will become a larger berry man. Only last year Mr. Jefferson sold off of an old patch of one acre $400 worth. His intention now is to plant 5 acres.

Mr. J. E. Higman, a prominent mill owner and farmer, will plant from 10 to 20 acres in strawberries this spring. Mr. Higman has waited for 25 years for the change that is being made now. He advises the farmers to get in line and grow enough berries to create a market in Millington.

Mr. W. Biggs, one of the largest land owners of upper Queen Annes, is gratified at the stand the farmers have taken. He talked berries for years and he knows the land from Millington to Double Creek as well as at Pondtown and knows it can be made profitable.

Mr. Sam. T. Smith, while only on a small farm, has succeeded in this undertaking. Mr. Smith plants what his land will grow and geenrally gets good results. He has a quarter of an acre in berries at present, but he is ready to plant as high as 5 acres if others will grow them and create a market. Mr. Smith claims the berry is the most profitable truck that he grows and all the land surrounding him will produce good results.

The Millington Board of Trade will do all it can to bring fruit buyers right to Millington.

Victory Buttons To Ex-Navy Men.—Discharged sailors are now obtaining Victory Buttons from the Navy Recruiting Station, 125 E. Baltimore St., Baltimore. It is necessary to produce discharge, which will be stamped, showing the issue of the button. Men on inactive duty in the Naval Reserve Force will obtain Victory Buttons through the Commandant Fifth Naval District. Owing to the limited supply on hand the men still on active duty will be supplied at a later date. All discharged navy men will be promptly and courteously looked after when they apply at the Naval Recruiting Station.

Kent Co. Exhibit Dec. 9, 10 and 11

Have you a Premium List? If not, get one from your County Agent or ask your neighbor to let you see one. There are 1500 of them scattered about the county. Look at the big list of 218 different products and articles to be exhibited by our people of Kent Co. What can you bring to help swell the size and quality of your show and our show?

There are many premiums of good value, besides lots of small money prizes. How many can you win? Yet the spirit of the Exhibit is to bring something, the best you have, and all you can to make the Exhibit a big success even though you may not win a small prize, which, if won, would not pay you for your effort. The greatest return expected from an Exhibit of this nature is not a personal one; it is to make Kent County a better Kent County.

Educate your children by bringing them to the Exhibit where they will see what we raise, and what varieties are best, and what particular articles are best in each variety, so they will know the best when they see it and always work for the best. This opportunity should not be missed by anyone in Kent County who makes his living from the soil or who makes his living from the farmer. All business men and professional men are especially invited to spend a few minutes at the Exhibit to show their interest in their county and the people of Kent Co.

Remember, bring your exhibits to the Chestertown High School Auditorium, the place of the exhibit, anytime Saturday, Dec. 6, or Monday, Dec. 8, so that they will be in place for the Exhibit which will be Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, Dec. 9, 10 and 11. Admission is free. Come one, come all, and everybody be sure and see them.

STATE GRANGE HERE NEXT WEEK

Preparations Completed To Make The Event A Successful And Attractive One

The local stage is all set for one of the most important events that has been held here in recent years—the annual meeting of the Maryland State Grange—which will be held in Chestertown next week.

Mr. James T. Anthony, State Grange organizer, noted for his progressiveness along these lines, and County Agent Derrick, a wide-awake and up-to-the-minute agricultural agent, have, along with their co-workers, been tireless in their efforts to make the event the greatest one of its kind ever held in Chestertown. That success will crown their efforts we have no doubt.

Apparently the State Grange is preparing for the most constructive meeting it has held in years. It is coming to realize the various ways in which its activities must increase, and that through better organization of committees and with constructive leadership in each will come results which it has heretofore been unable to attain.

Whether or not the members of this great body in Maryland will give an attendance which the occasion merits is yet to be seen. Only the meeting will show this, but the indications point to the largest State Grange meeting in years.
