WE are glad to welcome to Chestertown the clergy and lay delegates representing the parishes of the Protestant Episcopal Church on the Eastern Shore of Maryland and the visitors and speakers from other parts of the country. We hope that they will be pleased with our town and community.

THE announcement by Gov. Ritchie that he will not be a candidate for the U. S. Senate to succeed Senator France is the outstanding development in state politics this week. Gov. Ritchie has announced his intention to run for re-election as governor and, if re-elected, he will be the first governor to serve two successive terms. We have elsewhere in the paper an article published in the Baltimore Sun as to probable candidates for the U. S. Senate.

LISTS 9 DEMOCRATS AS SENATE TIMBER.

Political Talk Centers On Five Men From City and Four From Counties

LEWIS ONLY ONE IN RACE

Coady Awaits Organization Support, And Norris Is Expected To Enter in A Few Days.

Discussion of aspirants for the Democratic nomination for United States Senator now centers around nine men, five from Baltimore and four from the counties, as follows:

Charles P. Coady, former representative from the Third Congressional district; William I. Norris, President of the State Senate; David J. Lewis, former Representative from the Sixth Congressional district; Hugh a McMullen, of Cumberland, former State Comptroller; W. Mason Shehan, of Talbot county; Joshua W. Miles, of Somerset county, former Collector of Internal Revenue; Robert E. Lee chairman of the State Industrial Accident Commission, and William Milnes Maloy and W. Cabel Bruce, chairman and counsel, respectively, of the Public Service Commission.

Only One Formerly In Race.

Of these nine Mr. Lewis is the only one who has avowed his candidacy, and this week political leaders over the State have been receiving personal letters from Mr. Lewis asking support for his candidacy.

As Mr. McMullen and Mr. Lewis are very close friends, politically and personally, it is almost certain that they would not fight each other for the nomination. But yesterday's gossip centered on the possibility that if organization forces lined up behind some other candidate than Mr. Lewis and a bruising primary were in prospect, Mr. Lewis' friends might be able to effect a compromise agreement on Mr. McMullen, whom Mr. Lewis, it is understood, would support warmly.

Mr. Coady's friends declare that he will not embark on a primary fight unless assured of full organization support. It is because of this, it is said, that Mr. Coady's announcement has been withheld.

Norris Expected To Enter.

The chances of the entrance of Senator Norris into the contest grow daily Senator Norris may make an announcement of his intention within a few days, and those interested in Mr. Coady's candidacy are awaiting with interest such an announcement as Senator Norris also is from East Baltimore, Mr. Coady's political stamping grounds.

Mr. Shehan's name figures in all discussions, but those closest to the Talbot countian declare that he will not, under any circumstances, make the fight. Mr. Miles' friends make no secret of his ambitions, but, so far as is generally known, they have been able to line up little organization support even in his home section, the Eastern Shore.

Lee Well-Known Over State.

Mr. Lee is being discussed frequently. Although a city man, he is well-known in the counties, particularly as a result of the State-wide campaign trips he has made during the last eight or ten years.

While Mr. Maloy's name is mentioned in virtually all discussions of the probable nominee, his friends declare that he has no desire to make the fight, but prefers to continue his work on the Public Service Commission.

Mr. Bruce, who lost to Mr. Lewis in a fight for the Senatorial nomination six years ago, is understood to be willing to try again.

The Republicans are not discussing the Senatorial situation as much as are the Democrats. There is just as much quiet discussion of a probable opponent, to be backed by G. O. P. organization forces, against United States Senator Joseph Irwin France for the Republican nomination.

John W. Garrett Mentioned.

Outside of the announcements of Edward C. Carrington there has been no opposition expressed publicly to Senator France's renomination, however, by any Republican leader. John W. Garrett's name is most frequently mentioned in Republican circles, and occasionally the name of Morris A. Soper, former chief judge of the local Supreme Bench, is heard.—Balto. Sun.

McFadden Introduces Bill To Punish Persons Guilty of Circulating False Statements Regarding Banks

Rep. L. T. McFadden, Chairman of the Committee on Banking and Currency of the House of Representatives, has introduced a bill providing for the punishment of any person who shall wilfully and maliciously make, utter, publish, circulate or transmit to another or others any false or untrue statement, rumor or suggestion written, printed or by word of mouth, which is directly or by inference derogatory to the financial condition or standing of any national banking association, bank or trust company, which is a member of the Federal Reserve System, or any other banking institution which is subject to the supervision of the Comptroller of the Currency, or who shall counsel, aid or procure, or induce another to start, transmit or circulate any such statement, rumor, or suggestion, and that he shall be adjudged guilty of a felony or misdemeanor. The bill also provides that upon conviction such person shall be punished by a fine of not more than $5000 or imprisonment for a term of not more than five (5) years or both.

Mr. McFadden says that this is the first attempt to cover by a national law punishment of persons who issue derogatory statements affecting banks. While many of the states have similar laws, it is important, owing to the circulation of false rumors in regard to banks generally, that a national law be enacted.

The bill, which follows, carries the approval of the Comptroller, the Federal Reserve Board and the Treasury Department.

A BILL

To make punishable by law the offense of spoken, written or printed derogatory statements or suggestions affecting banks.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That any person who shall willfully and maliciously make, utter, publish, circulate, or transmit to another or others any false or untrue statement, rumor, or suggestion, written, printed, or by word of mouth, which is directly or by inference derogatory to the financial condition or standing of any national banking association, bank, or trust company which is a member of the Federal reserve system, or any other banking institution which is subject to the supervision of the Comptroller of the Currency, or who shall counsel, aid, or procure or induce another to start, transmit, or circulate any such statement, rumor or suggestion shall be guilty of a felony (or misdemeanor), and, upon conviction thereof, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $5000 or by imprisonment for a term of not more than five years, or both.

Lecture At the College

Dr. R. V. D. Magoffin, associate professor of Ancient History at the Johns Hopkins University, will speak on some archaeological subject at the College next Thursday evening at eight o'clock.

Dr. Magoffin has spent a great deal of time abroad in study and is thoroughly acquainted with both ancient and modern Italy. He is the author of a number of works on archaeology and other classical subjects. Last year he was the Director of the American Classical School of Rome, and since his return to America he has been elected to the presidency of the American Archaeological Society.

Dr. Magoffin has made a large number of excellent slides illustrating many phases of Italy and its ancient remains.

The public is cordially invited to attend the lecture.

Bubbling with comedy, yet fraught with pathos. You will find it the ultimate of the comedy drama. A picture of tenderness, laughs and thrills.

THE BILLBOARD, in reviewing "Molly O" when presented in New York, says: "'Molly O' is a bromide of joy. The big picture came to town tonight and won New York by a greater plurality than was accorded Mayor Hylan in the recent election. The packed theatre resembled the Peace Conference with a unanimous agreement as to the tremendous success scored by Comedienne Mable Normand."
