BUSINESS as a whole seems to be improving throughout the country. We do not hear as much talk of hard times and money shortage as was circulating several months ago. The prospects are bright for a good wheat crop and if the price holds up until after harvest our farmers should be in a better condition than at any time in the past eighteen months.

THE Republican Congress has called a halt to the investigation of the Department of Justice and War fraud cases. The Democratic minority has been insisting on such an inquiry, but has been blocked by the large Republican majority. Those Republicans who were so insistent on an investigation of the past Democratic Administration are very much opposed to such an investigation of the Department of Justice under the Republican Administration and the people are wondering what has caused this sudden change of mind on the part of the Republican members.

THE spirit shown by the American Legion in the Decoration Day exercises at Chestertown is one to be commended. Too much honor and respect cannot be shown to those who made the supreme sacrifice in the late war and any movement which fosters this idea should be encouraged. The patriotic and inspiring addresses made at the cemetery by Rev. O. E. Jones, the chaplain of the American Legion, by Rev. L. B. Sheen, as representative of the Army, by Dr. C. P. Gould, as representative of the Navy, and by Mr. Edwin Brown, of Centreville, as representative of the civilian population, who backed up the army and navy, were the best heard in Chestertown in recent years. The spirit of Americanism and self-sacrifice for country was especially emphasized by the speakers.

MEMORIAL DAY CELEBRATED

American Legion Carries Out Program That Pays Fitting Tribute To The Occasion In Many Ways

Memorial Day, the time when the nation lays aside its duties for a while and does reverence to its soldier dead, was celebrated in a most fitting manner in Chestertown last Tuesday.

The observance of the occasion was begun in Chestertown M. E. Church last Sunday, when Rev. O. E. Jones, pastor of Chestertown M. E. Church, and a member of the Frank M. Jarman Post, American Legion, preached an appropriate sermon to the members of the Legion. About 40 attended and listened to Rev. Jones' discourse and to the excellent music, rendered by Mr. William Wallace, the leader, assisted by the choir.

The day was an ideal one for the celebration and the town was crowded with people from far and near, who expressed themselves as well pleased with the celebration.

The Chestertown Band, under the direction of Mr. Arthur Bacon, made its first public appearance in the parade, which began at 10.30, and which was the first feature on the program. The parade consisted of autos, the American Legion and the National Guard Company, in full uniform, the Chestertown Band, the High School children and the Elementary School children, which made a most impressive pageant, as it wended its way to Chester cemetery, where excellent speeches were delivered by Rev. O. E. Jones, Dr. C. P. Gould, Mr. Edwin Brown, of Centreville, and Rev. L. B. Sheen. Following this, beautiful flowers were placed upon the graves of soldiers.

The automobile parade was held at 1.30. Many beautifully decorated cars were in line. The prizes were won as follows:

Mr. Norman Lee, in his new Buick, took first prize; Mr. Neavitt Stafford, in his Chevrolet, took second.

The baseball game resulted in a victory for Kennedyville, 7-3.

The raffle of the Ford car, which the American Legion has been conducting for some weeks, resulted in Mr. F. J. Schale, 444 Brick St., Kennett Square, Pa., an employe at the local milk station, being the winner.

One of the biggest events on the program was the field and track meet. It was watched with interest by a great crowd and resulted as follows:

One Mile Run, open—H. Wheeler, W. C., 5 min. 2 3-4 sec.

Running Broad Jump—Avery Story, Sudlersville, 20 ft. 1 in.

440-yard Relay—Centreville, 50 3-4 sec.
