

Buick Takes Care of Buick Owners

Buick responsibility does not end with the sale of a Buick car. It follows the car throughout its entire life.

That is why Buick has organized a nation-wide authorized Buick service that extends to practically every city, town and village in the United States.

Buick owners do not need service often. But they have the comfortable feeling of knowing that they can always be supplied with genuine Buick parts and have their work done by Buick-trained mechanics wherever they may happen to be.

pavements till his feet ached in protest.

His patience was rewarded. On the second day, while he was gazing blankly at the post a groom brought two horses to the curb in front of the house opposite. One of the horses had a real cowboy's saddle. Johnnie's eyes gleamed. This was like a breath of honest-to-God Arizona. The door opened, and out of it came a man and a slim young woman. Both of them were dressed for riding, she in the latest togs of the town, he in a well-cut sack suit and high tan boots.

Johnnie threw up his hat and gave a yell. "You blamed old horn-toad! Might 'a' knowed you was all right! Might 'a' knowed you wouldn't bite off more'n you could chew! Oh, you Arizona!"

Clay gave one surprised look—and met him in the middle of the street. The little cowpuncher did a war dance of joy while he clung to his friend's hand. Tears brimmed into his faded eyes.

"Hi yi yi! Doggone yore old hide, if it ain't you big as coffee, Clay. Thinks

"Hi Yi Yi! Doggone Yore Old Hide, If It Ain't You Big as Coffee, Clay!"

I to myse'f, who is that pilgrim? And, by gum, it's old h—l-a-mile jes' a-hittin' his heels. Where you been at, you old skeezicks?"

"How are you, Johnnie? And what are you doin' here?"

"You didn't answer my letters, so I come to see if you was all right."

"You old scalawag. You came to paint the town red."

Johnnie, highly delighted at this charge, protested. "Honest I didn't, Clay. I wasn't feelin' so tur'ble peart. Seemed like the boys picked on me after you left. So I jes' up and come."

If Clay was not delighted to have his little Fidus Achates on his hands he gave no sign of it. He led him across the road and introduced him to Miss Whitford.

Clay blessed her for her kindness to this squat, snub-nosed adherent of his whose lonely heart had driven him two thousand miles to find his friend. Her hand went out instantly. A smile softened her eyes and dimpled her cheeks.

"I'm very glad to meet any friend of Mr. Lindsay. Father and I will want to hear all about Arizona after you two have had your visit out. We'll postpone the ride till this afternoon. That will be better, I think."

Clay agreed. With a cool little nod that included them both, she turned and ran lightly up the steps into the house.

"Some sure-enough queen," murmured Johnnie in naive admiration, staring after her with open mouth.

Clay smiled. He had an opinion of his own on that point.

SPORTS

ITEMS OF INTEREST CONCERNING SPORTS FROM MANY ANGLES

Mr. Belt Townshend has taken out rain insurance policies on all the games which the Chestertown baseball team will play here this season in the Tri-County League.

Interest in the Tri-County Baseball League in Chestertown and the other towns on the circuit has been greatly stimulated by the close race which the various clubs are staging. The teams are evenly matched, and, in spite of the weather being unfavorable, the attendance has been fair, with good prospects of improving. The race will, it is quite probable, grow closer as the teams play oftener. This will cause even greater interest and will doubtless result in the league being a success.

Cambridge, composed of several W. C. players, remains at the bottom of the heap in the Eastern Shore League. Johnston seems to be the only one of the crowd that is able to shine brightly.

Much criticism has been directed at the work of several of the umpires in the Eastern Shore League. Especially loud have been the complaints from Cambridge, where they claim they have lost several close games by bad decisions.

The Yanks and the Boston team have traded so often that one often wonders whether or not the names of the teams have not been traded also.

Frank Baker's name appears in the line-up of the Yanks quite infrequently these days. We are afraid Frank has about seen his day in the "fast crowd."

FARMERS' MEETING

Marketing of Farm Animals On The Baltimore Market To Be Discussed

County Agent H. B. Derrick is calling a county-wide farmers' meeting for next Wednesday, August 2, at 1.30 p. m. in the Court House.

The purpose of the meeting is to obtain some facts in regard to the marketing of livestock on the Baltimore market to present at a hearing called by the Secretary of Agriculture.

Farmers, if you have any complaints to make in regard to the charges and the schedule of rates made by the livestock commission firms and others handling livestock on the Baltimore market, this is your opportunity.

Information on the following points are desired:

1. The volume of meat produced in the county by beef cattle, other cattle, sheep, lambs and swine. This may be indicated by car loads, by numbers of animals, or by numbers and weights of animals.

2. Utilization or marketing of meat animals or meat products as practiced at present. In some counties but little meat is marketed outside of the county, and information on this point is desired.

3. Time of year of chief marketing of different kinds of live stock, markets to which meat animals or meat products of each county are sent and the methods of transportation. Reasons for choice of chief markets. Amounts or proportion of live stock marketed at different points.

4. Transportation problems and experiences. Freight rates and service.

5. Stock yard practices and charges.

6. Charges made by commission dealers for actual sales, or purchases, or other service. Copies of accounts sales are desired.

7. Relation of speculators (either country or stock-yards) to the marketing of meat animals or meat products in Maryland.

8. Opportunities for improvement in marketing practices—3, by producer; b, by shipper; c, by commission firm; d, by buyer or killer.

9. The attitude of producers and shippers toward present marketing methods and practices.

10. Any other points that may be of local, state or national importance.

Kent Farmer Makes Record Trip

Mr. William French, one of Kent's well-known and progressive farmers, made a record trip on Wednesday and Thursday of this week in order that he might get his threshing rig started and his wheat crop gotten out.

A few weeks ago Mr. French began threshing and would have completed the job but his steam engine broke down and he was compelled to stop for the time, until he got the new parts for the same, which he did by making a record trip to the factory in Waynesboro, Pa. Then came the rain and for the time that has intervened the crop has been in no condition to thresh.

The dry weather of this week, however, has put the wheat in fair condition and on Wednesday Mr. French resumed the job. Misfortune to the engine, however, played its role again and the operations were again halted.

Mr. French was undaunted, however, and was determined to begin threshing as soon as possible and, leaving on the last ferry from Rock Hall Wednesday he motored from Bay Shore Park to Baltimore; then to the Blue Ridge Mountains, and crossed them to the Cumberland Valley, where nestles the bustling little city of Waynesboro. Here he received the parts needed and returned home, arriving early Thursday morning. Mr. French made the trip without mishap.

This is a sample of how Kent County farmers are compelled to make extraordinary efforts and indure unusual hardship in order to save their crops from being destroyed.
