Job-Printing, such as Hand-Bills, Cirulars, Blanks, Bill-Heads, &c., executed with neatness and dispatch at satisfactory prices.

CHESTERTOWN, MD., - - MARCH 9 1895.

EDITORIAL JOTTINGS.

CONGRESS is adjourned. The country will now, freed of its encumbrance, rush on to a career of prosperity. The uncertainty of legislation has hindered progress.

Suits for damages on plots of grass, wheat, fences, etc., have already been entered in Cecil county in consequence of the snow blockade. In Queen Anne's the fences have been put in place and travel by road is indeed difficult.

The marriage of Miss Helen Gould to Castellane has been the theme of conversation the past week. The Count received $3,000,000, for his title from his bride. The presents amounted to several millions. What fools we mortals be. Some girls sell themselves for a title, others for objects equally empty and sordid.

A well-posted Republican says their party will have a ticket this fall, and of the men will be Capt. W. D. Burchinal for treasurer; Mr. James H. Baker, for commissioner, in the fourth; Capt. Columbus Leary for Senate; Mr. Chas. England, for commissioner in the second. But, says he, if you nominate such men as John P. Nicholson, Thomas Skirven, Wm. E. Keyser and others the Republicans will not be in it.

A voter elsewhere names Mr. James M. J. Byron for commissioner in this district. He possesses all the qualities therein mentioned, and if the Democratic convention shall see fit to nominate him every good citizen can conscientiously support him.

Mr. W. W. Hubbard returned from a trip down the Peninsula Friday. He was in Salisbury Thursday night when a big fire broke out in a large wheelright shop, destroying the shop and a stable. Loss about $2,000. The fire box in the engine fell out, the people ran about the streets in night robes and consternation prevailed for awhile.

A well-known figure in local politics remarked Tuesday that it was as quiet as he had ever known it. "Indeed," said he, "I never knew a time when there was such little caucusing on the green as there has been the past winter."

A petition in favor of the nomination of Hon. Isidor Rayner has been circulated at Rock Hall and received about fifty signers. Most of the voters prefer to wait, however, and see who is to come out for this important office.

John F. Godwin, Esq., was in town Tuesday. He has been assigned Delaware as his field of labor. The papers there are very much incensed that a Marylander should be appointed to collect their income tax. They forget, however, that a Delawarean heretofore collected our taxes. Turn about is fair play.

The Baltimore papers Sunday all speak very kindly of our worthy Comptroller. The American contained the following reference:

Probably the one man in the State who views the political future with most equanimity is Comptroller Marion De Kalb Smith, whose familiar features are shown on this page. Whatever else may happen, Mr. Smith is pretty certain to be renominated for the position he has so ably and acceptably filled for two terms. The great contest this year will be over the governorship, and that is occupying public attention to a predominant degree; but into all calculations upon this score Mr. Smith's name figures as the candidate for comptroller. It may be possible, in the shifting of events, that candidate for Governor will be chosen from the Eastern Shore, in which case the comptroller may hail from this side the bay; but this is not regarded as very possible. Mr. Smith was first elected comptroller in 1891, and re-elected in 1893. Few public officials have gained such widespread popularity and more firmly entrenched themselves in the good-will of the public.

Mrs. Wm. K. Vanderbilt has been granted an absolute divorce and allowed $300,000 a year. All divorces, however, do not carry such a fine salary with them. The inducements are great now in some cases, and many take advantage of them, but it is well for society that no greater benefits are added.

THE NEW KENT NEWS.

With pardonable pride we think we may note the changes in the NEWS. Within a few weeks of its 55th anniversary it takes a new departure. It strikes out into new, but thoroughly tried and successful paths. Every intelligent patron will readily discover the advantages gained by both advertisers and subscribers. We leave others to judge of the new materials used and the general make-up.

For a long time we have felt the need of more space for our advertisers, and in trying to accommodate them, we have deprived our readers of much that they should have had. What to do was the question. The present sheet was already too large and required to be folded or doubled in some manner to be satisfactorily read or handled. After visiting many well-known offices, corresponding with able publishers, visiting large factories and other research we decided to adopt this, in our judgment, the latest and best improved form of newspaper.

We have been aided very much by the investigations and experience of the Cecil Whig, than which we regard, typographically, there is no prettier county paper in the State. We could have printed an 8 page folio without changing any part of our machinery or material, but the paper would be fatally defective in not having the pages cut and pasted. Our folder was the first ever used on this Shore. It is a gem of perfection and simplicity. Every newspaper office ought to have one, provided they hold to the old form. Its one deficiency, that to paste and cut rendered it useless to us in our ideas of an improved country newspaper. We therefore determined to make a thorough change, and have purchased, not only a new power press, but the best folder we believe, in the market, and also other machinery, and every line of type is every inch. The paper, as it appears to-day, is every line set for this office, of type just received, and the entire outfit from the foundry.

To any merit in facilitating the ranging of headings, is due to the type, or Foundry, E. P. Suter, Esq., and John Ryan ent, who took the complete order and filled it with commendable promptness.

The success of the NEWS has been simply wonderful. Our circulation today is larger than ever before in the history of the paper; while its advertising patronage is everything that its publishers can desire.

To our old friends and to our new made acquaintances we express our warmest appreciation of their friendship and favor, and trust that we may still merit your good will and valuable assistance as in the past.

We take fresh hold to-day. Our encouragements are greater, and our prospects brighter for the increased usefulness and influence of the NEWS than ever before, and we propose even more zealously than heretofore, to make the NEWS worthy the support so liberally accorded in the past.

HERE AND THERE.

The idea of teaching school children economy would be better if men in high places would set them the example.

Sixteen States and two territories were represented Tuesday in a conference of Democrats who are in favor of Free Coinage. They have issued an address to the country and invite all believers in silver to join them. The states represented are Missouri, Texas, S. Carolina, California, N. Carolina, Louisana, Ohio, Mississippi, Alabama, Tennessee, Illinois, Michigan, Kansas, Nebraska, Wyoming, West Virginia.

Mr. C. B. M. Bryan, sheriff of Queen Anne's, has put his resignation in the hands of Governor Brown, to take effect on the appointment and qualification of his successor. He was elected in November, 1893, and his term would expire by limitation at the next election, when a new sheriff for the county will be chosen by the voters of the county. A delegation from Queen Anne's waited on the Governor and urged the appointment of Mr. J. L. Rhodes as sheriff. Mr. Rhodes is one of the bondsmen for Mr. Bryan.

The President, accompanied by Dr. O'Reilly, his physician; Commander Geo. F. F. Wilde, of the Lighthouse Board, and Commander Lamberton, inspector of the fifth lighthouse district, left Tuesday morning on the Violet for ten days' shooting on the inland waters of North Carolina. Col. Howard and others state that the Violet is nothing but a buoy boat, slow and poorly fitted up for pleasuring. They have seen her often.

The committee appointed to select a site for the Exposition to be held in Baltimore in 1897 have reported in favor of Clifton. The bill allowing foreign exhibits to be entered free of duty was vetoed by President Cleveland and the citizens of Baltimore are justly incensed. The same right was accorded San Francisco, Atlanta and other places. The location is desirable, the promoters active, the press in sympathy and the outlook is for a gigantic exhibition. Kent will be represented, sure.

TEXAS proposes to tax bachelors $50. Some bachelors would think the exemptions cheap at that price.

A Public Convenience.

Repeated efforts have been made to remove the telegraph office into the town, but owing to the limited receipts of the office it would not justify an operator in attending to the duties, therefore for the present it is useless to continue the effort. But another thing can be done—a telephone line can be erected from the town to the office at the depot, and this will prove of great convenience to persons having messages to send or having business with the operator or freight agent. Postmaster James A. Shaw has kindly consented to allow an instrument to be placed in his office, and as it is centrally located, and is kept open, in most cases, so long as the operator is on duty, it is thought proper to establish the postoffice as headquarters for the phone. To secure the two instruments and erect the line, will cost about $30. Are the business men of the town willing to contribute this much money for such a convenience? We think so, and on this belief a solicitor will visit our citizens next week to secure this amount.

COMMENDABLE PROMPTNESS.

STILL POND, February 6, 1895.

WM. C. [illegible] ESQ., Manager Mutual Reserve Life Association of N. Y., 212 East German St., Baltimore, Maryland.

Dear Sir—We beg to acknowledge the receipt of checks in full for our insurance $2,000—wife and daughter of Geo. O. Roeder, late of Still Pond, Md.

Wishing the company every success, we remain. Yours truly,

RACHEL [illegible] B. ROEDER.

P. S.—If the late George O. [illegible] had taken an ordinary life policy, in [illegible] other Company, and paid the same premiums as he paid the Mutual Reserve, heirs would only have received $876 in [illegible] $2,000. Gain by being insured in the Mutual Reserve $1,124.

Office of the Local Board of Health!

CHESTERTOWN, MD., Feb. 28, 1895.

It is necessary to take the greatest care and precaution to prevent the spread of contagious diseases, especially diseases of so serious and much to be dreaded a character as scarlet fever and diphtheria. The observance of the rules of sanitation, antisepsis and quarantine will quite surely result in the protection of the well and limit the number of cases of such diseases.

The State law imposes a penalty on all parents or guardians who heedlessly or carelessly expose those under their care suffering with contagious diseases, and while the sick, of course, do not attend school, the other children are, too often, allowed to continue at school. The teachers being in entire ignorance of the existance of contagion at home. This with other instances of willful and careless exposure and disregard of the welfare of others is greatly to be condemned, and teachers, parents and guardians are requested to assist in the enforcement of Sec. 3, Chap. 155, Laws 1882, which section has especial reference to the above referred to.

Whenever a case of scarlet fever or diphtheria occurs it should at once be isolated in a room most remote from those occupied by the family, the rooms of the family should be selected. All articles of furniture, carpets and curtains removed, mattress and bed-clothing that may be disposed of or thoroughly disinfected—a bed and a table is all the necessary furniture in the room. The care-taking and nursing should be the only person to enter the room. Disinfectants should be freely used about the room, the patient and the nurse. The doctor will order such as he considers most effective. Cloths wrung out in Bi-chloride solution, Platt's Chlorides diluted, Chloride of Lime, Carbolic Acid or other suitable fluids should be hung about the room and wetted at regular intervals. As the disease subsides and the "peeling" stage goes on the patient should daily be annointed with vaseline charged with some disinfectant, this not only hastens the exfeliation, but helps to destroy some at least of the germs so well known to be living on this dead skin. All spoons, glasses, cups, &c., used by the potient should immediately be put in boiling water. All clothing, napkins, towels or clothes should be disinfected by immersion in Bi-chloride of Mecury 1-1000, Carbolic Acid 1-40, or other solution, then boiled. Such as are of small value or not likely to be wanted again, should be burnt.

After convalescence is complete and the peeling entirely done, the patient should be freshly dressed and placed in another room, the sick-room fumigated by sulphur, secured with Bi-chloride solution 1 to 2,000, the wall whitewashed and thoroughly aired for several days. Bedding, if a cheap mattress, had better be destroyed; if valuable it should be exposed to air and sunlight for days after having exhausted all means of cleanliness. The bedclothes should be treated as the cloths and napkins above mentioned.

The same directions may be followed in diphtheria.

Of course to follow the above will give work and trouble, the expense, however, is slight, and however much trouble or work may be caused, the benefit accruing therefrom are so manifold and so reassuring as to warrant any amount of trouble.

The occurrance of a few cases of any contagious disease does not necessarily mean anything alarming. "To be forwarned," however means to be "forarmed."

Should death occur from scarlet fever, diphtheria, small pox or any malignant contagious disease, there should by no means be a funeral. The body should be wrapped in a sheet or other article saturated with Bi-chloride of mercury 1 to 500, placed in a coffin and quietly and privately buried.

Children and others who have had either diphtheria or scarlet fever, or who have been exposed to the contagion of either, should not go in public places, church or school until three (3) weeks have elapsed since complete desquamation or exposure, and teachers should not readmit to school except upon certificate of physician that such admission is safe and prudent.

The Secretary of this board would be greatly obliged to physicians, parents, teachers and others if they would at once notify him of the occurrence of cases of diphtheria, small pox or scarlet fever. Stress should be laid upon the fact that mild cases may be the cause of the most severe and malignant, and that what is sometimes called "Scarletina" is Scarlet Fever, even though it be light or mild, as the technical name of scarlet fever is Scarletina.
