Kent News

SATURDAY, - - - FEB. 27, 1897.

The St. Paul's P. E. Church organ has been undergoing repairs under the supervision of Mr. Henry Niemann, of Balto.

Digging for Gold.—John Hall, tenant on Dr. McFaddon's farm near the Delaware line, claims to have found gold and silver ore on it. He sent several samples to the Philadelphia mint, and has received a reply that the soil contains gold, silver and iron ore. As a result all the farmers around have gone to digging for gold.

Among the Fishermen.

Capt. John Batchelor, of the pungy Thomas H. Bally Brown, af Baltimore, while dredging caught off Kent Island a rock fish two feet long. Cast. Batchelor received several offers from persons who desired to purchase the fish, which is scarce in those waters at present.

Fish are said to be very plentiful at Crumpton and the first herring were caught on the 17th, earlier than any other year on record.

The first shad of the season, so far as known were caught on Monday last by Capt. Thos. Crockett, of Tangier Island.

Herring are for sale in the Easton market. The first sold eight for a quarter. They were caught in the Choptank.

The Chester river fishermen expect to have herring on the market next week.

Mr. Stephens, of Still Pond, was in Chestertown on Tuesday with a load of perch caught in Still Pond creek.

Church News.

Rev. R. S. Rowe, of the Crisfield M. P. Church has been unanimously requested to return and serve them the coming year.

Rev. Jesse Shreeve, of Kennedyville, filled the pulpit of Christ M. P. Church on Sunday morning. In the evening the pastor, Rev. J. M. Gill, preached a spiritual sermon on the a part of the Lords prayer.

Rev. E. H. VanDyke, well known by many in this county, returned from Japan very unexpectedly last Thursday week. He has been doing missionary work in Shizuoka, Japan and having leave of absence he returned home without letting his family, who live in Centreville, know anything about it. A glad surprise he gave them and a hearty welcome he received.

Bishop John M. Walden, D. D., LL. D., of Cincinnati, and presiding bishop of the Wilmington conference, will spend Sunday, March 14, at Asbury Church, preaching at 10.30 A. M., delivering his celebrated address on "Africa" at 3.30 P. M. and conducting an old-fashion Methodist revival service in the evening. The bishop will be the guest of Dr. Tinker, at No. 222 Walnut street.

One of the pleasing features of the M. E. Sunday School last Sunday afternoon was a delightful talk by Mr. Charles Clements, Superintendent of the Crumpton M. E. Sunday School.

At the Election for Lay Trustees at the Catholic Church, of Galena, last week, Mr. Edward Woodal and P. F. Peirce were elected by the congregation as Trustees for the present year.

We will be able to give the homes of the preachers and delegates, to the M. E. Conference to be held in Chestertown one week from March 17, in our next issue.

A question that is likely to agitate the coming session of the M. E. Conference, to be held in Chestertown on March 17, is the Transfer Question. A brother writes to the Peninsula Methodist as follows:

"We are glad to learn that some of our presiding elders are taking prompt and vigorous action in the matter of the coming transfer to our conference. We trust that all these representatives of our conferance interests will do so. They owe it to the brethren whose interest they represent, and they owe it to the dignity of our conference. The time for trifling or faltering has passed, the time for decided and vigorous action has come. There is no church in this Conference that is bigger than the body of which it forms a part. The wealthiest and strongest deserves no more consideration than the weakest. If we allow wealth or position to deter us from action in this matter we will do so at the cost of our own self respect and our failure to grasp the present opportunity will degrade and belittle us. Let our sub-pastors say to the bishop who holds the Newark Conference, "We claim the same consideration accorded to our sister Conference and respectfully insist that there be no transfer except on the ground of a fair equivalent." The whole Conference will sustain such action and at the same time feel that our sub-pastors are as jealous of the rights of their brethren as the sub-pastors of our sister Conference. Let the test be made. No harm can result, and much good may result. One thing is sure, it will enable us to fix the responsibility, and that will be most desirable. But if the case goes by default because of the failure of our presiding elders, it looks as though the responsibility would come pretty close home. But we do not for a moment think that there will be any failure here. Our sub-pastors have as much manhood and are as true to the interests of their brethren, and the rights of this Conference as are those of other Conferences. We predict from this movement great good. Let the work go on." W.

A GLORIOUS CELEBRATION.

The Mount Vernon Literary Society Commemorates its Fiftieth Anniversary.

A Brilliant Series of Entertainments by the Oldest and Most Distinguished Literary Society in Maryland—Washington College Proud of its Old Society—Full Account of the Four Days Celebration.

Washington College, the old and distinguished seat of learning of the Eastern Shore, has been enjoying a general entertainment which in its mirth, refinement, fruition and educational beneficence has never before been equalled in the history of the institution. The plan of giving the whole school both an educational and substantial treat originated in the minds of Mt. Vernons; by Mt. Vernons it was discussed; by the Brown Ribboners it was adapted; and a general literary and dietary treat was brought into realization by the noble efforts of the sons of Mt. Vernon Literary Society. The society was formed in 1847, since then she has been many times almost rent asunder by internal dissentions, outward hostile influences, combined efforts of enemies bent on her destruction, but so safe and sure did her builders lay her foundations that she, safely passing over all these hostile influences, has reached the most glorious year of her existence—proud of her intellectual prowess, she glories in her achievements which have made her full worthy of the excellent name she bears. Champions of the State in debating, she fears to put herself against none. Twice in the year gone by she has rolled her antagonists in the dust and now on her fiftieth anniversary she holds high her brown banner in the air and stands ready to defend her title. Enterprise, her constitution; hospitality, her virtue; intrepidity, her characteristic; intelligence, her ambition; and instruction, her reward.

On Friday evening the society received the Philomathean and Pieria Literary Societies, the faculty and others of the friends. Thanks to the kind supervision of Mrs. Micou, Mrs. Jones, Misses Wicker, Price and Russell, the chapel was beautifully decorated in brown cloth which was suspended over the stage, trimmed around the pillars and draped over the windows in loose folds caught at the middle by alternate bows of purple and white and green and white, the emblems of the Pieria and Philomathean Societies, respectfully. Large shields covered with black and maroon and having on them appropriate mottoes in brown were hung over the windows and evergreen all around the room gave a festive appearance. At 9.30 the guests went to the gymnasium where they partook of refreshments, Mr. Shuster had control of this part of the entertainment and besides the excellent menu a full assortment of fruits, cakes and ices tastily arranged upon the tables. After all had gone back to the chapel, Miss Russell spoke a very humorous selection telling of a young gentleman's embarrassment on a younger sister's disclosing much he cared to know little about and still more in which his charmante had preferred silence. Mr. Beck gave an instructive recitation on apples in which he spoke of the politician as the specked apple, rotten to the core. In the early part of the evening a literary game was played, slips of paper containing short poems were cut in parts and each person was given a part of the slip. Each then found the other persons containing the remaining pieces and read the poem every one guessing at the author. There were 17 poems and Dr. Hall, Prof. and Mrs. Jones, Miss Peregoy and Mr. Beck, each guessed 13; Mrs. Jones received the prize by lot. At 11 o'clock the guests departed. The receiving committee were Misses Stewart and Woodall, Mrs. Jones, Messrs. Webb, Cruikshank, Fowler, Davis and Graham. Those present were the members of the Mt. Vernon, Pieria and Philomathean Literary Societies, Dr. and Mrs. Ried, Prof. and Mrs. Jones, Prof. and Mrs. Micou, Misses Stewart and Wicker.

On Saturday evening a contest in declamations and orations was held among members of the society. Two beautiful solid gold medals were offered to the successful contestants in each. The competitors in the declamation contest were T. H. Fowler, '94, Town; W. N. Sherwood, '98, Town; D. C. Gullett, '99, Federalsburg; J. W. Sutton, '99, Black's, and J. S. E. Pardee, '98, Sudlersville. Mr. Sherwood spoke, "A national monument to Washington;" Mr. Gullett, "Webster's reply to Hayne;" Mr. Sutton, "Impeachment of Warren Hastings;" Mr. T. H. Fowler, "William Tell;" Mr. Pardee, "Defense of Jenabia." The judges, J. A. Pearce, Esq., Prof. J. Roy Micou and Mr. C. C. Hopper decided in favor of Mr. Sherwood. The competitors in the oratorical contest were Mr. J. I. Coulbourne, '99, Snow Hill, and G. C. Graham, '97, Easton. Mr. Coulbourne's subject was "Manhood," and Mr. Graham's, "Science and Religion. The judges were Hon. J. A. Pearce, Prof. J. S. W. Jones and Rev. W. P. Compton, and the medal was awarded to Mr. Graham. After the contest an informal reception was given in the chapel.

Sunday morning the society and friends gathered in the M. E. Church and listened to an eloquent and instructive discourse delivered by Rev. W. P. Compton. It was a masterly effort and well deserved the complimentary encomiums it received. Special music was rendered by the choir under the direction of Prof. R. K. Pippin. A duet by Miss Mollie Parks and Mr. M. Wilber Thomas was especially enjoyable. Mr. Compton took for his text, 1st Peter, 10th Chapter and 3rd verse: "He that will love life, and see good days, let him refrain his tongue from evil and his lips that they speak no guile." We are sorry we are not able to publish his sermon verbatim. His introductory remarks were:

"Young ladies and gentlemen, students of Washington College, here assembled this morning, let me congratulate in beginning upon your connection with this ancient and honorable institution, which for more than a century has been moulding the thoughts and training the intelects of hundreds of students who have gone forth from the halls, to be potential factors of power, in the great State under whose patronage you are, as well as in other States of our mighty nation. You bear an illustrious name. May the noble example of Washington, known as his country's father, be ever before the sons and daughters who go out from old Washington College, as they go forth, we trust in every instance."

On Monday morning exercises were held in the chapel, Rev. S. C. Roberts opened with prayer. The choir consisting of several ladies of the Pieria Society and gentlemen of the Mt. Vernon sang "America." Mr. T. H. Fowler and Wm. N. Sherwood then each gave declamations, followed by a solo, "Prayer of the Wanderer," by Mr. Pardee. H. W. Catlin, Esq., then gave a very interesting and instructive discourse on "Society." this was followed by a quatette, "Mt. Vernon," sung by Messrs. W. L. Wheatley, L. A. Davis, Prof. A. B. Burris, J. S. E. Pardee, all members of the society.

The annual society banquet tendered to the faculty was held on Monday eve. The banquet was held in Mr. Shuster's restaurant and the guests were served royally. The members of the society arrived at 9 o'clock and invited guests came shortly after. The menu consisted of:

Fried and Scolloped Oysters,
Turkey, Ham, Tongue, Chicken Croquetts,
Chicken and Potato Salads, Celery,
Cold, Slaw, Mixed Pickle,
Horse Radish, Jellies.
DESSERTS:
Vanilla Cream, Frozen Custard,
Cake in Variety, Oranges, Bananas,
Coffee, Chocolate, Lemonade.

H. W. Catlin Esq., gave a toast on "Society as it was when I was a member." He described former Mt. Vernon in an eloquent and forcible way and explained the great advantages the society now possesses which it did not then have. Mr. C. C. Hopper gave an informal toast on "Benefits of a Society." He graphically related his first experience as a debator. President Cruikshank then welcomed the society in a short talk. Mr. Pardee gave an interesting talk on "Our Society at Present" He described the present workings of the society and also spoke of many of exciting scenes it had passed through in recent years with the prospects of future prosperity. Mr. Anthony gave an interesting discourse on "girls versus demerits," he strongly advised keeping aloof from the bewitching creature, thereby saving both them and yourself the pleasure of 25. His advice will be followed?

Those present were H. W. Catlin, Esq., C. C. Hopper, Esq., E. E. Cruikshank, T. H. Fowler, E. F. Webb, J. W. Sutton, G. W. Longfellow, H. Anthony, H. Beck, H. S. Brown, J. I. Coulbourne, L. A. Davis, M. E. Flounders, G. C. Graham, T. A. Goldsborough, C. C. Gum, D. C. Gullette, W. H. Harrison, R. E. Jones, G. LeCompt, G. Nicholson, J. S. E. Pardee, L. A. Robinson, D. G. Roe, R. Stam, Wm. N. Sherwood, John Toulson, W. L. Wheatley, M. Peregoy. At 11.30 o'clock the guests and members departed.

An Interesting Fact Concerning Fire Insurance.—Policy No. 25, for $2,400, issued in 1847, by the Mutual Fire Insurance Company of Kent county, was recently cancelled. It was one of the oldest policies of the company, and, as its number indicates, the 35th policy issued. It shows in a striking manner the extremely low cost of insurance in the Mutual Fire Insurance Company of Kent county during the past 50 years.

The holders of this policy paid to the company during these fifty years, in premiums and assessments.....	$161 69
And received from the company, in dividends and in amount paid at the time of cancellation	326 44

The receipts from the company were more than double the payments made, though the property was insured the entire time. Had such a policy been taken out in 1847 in a stock company at the lowest present rates and continued to the present time, the insurance would have cost $480, or fifty payments of about $9.60 each; and none of this $480 would have been returned. Adding to this $480 the amount received on the policy issued by the Kent Mutual over and above the payments made, viz., $164.75, and it shows that the difference in the cost of the two policies would have been $644.75. In other words, the insurance in the Mutual of Kent has cost $644 75 less than it would have cost had the insurance been taken out in a stock company at the lowest present rates for insuring such property. 3t.

CONVIVIAL OCCASIONS.

Many Revellers Make the Dull Winter Evenings Pass Gaily and Quickly.

The St. James' Sewing Circle met at Mr. R. G. Nicholson's last night, and a sumptuous supper and pleasant evening was enjoyed.

A very delightful and enjoyable social was held on Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. R. Pippin, at their pretty residence on Market square. The occasion was in honor of their guest, Miss Annie Brownley, of of Baltimore. A pleasant musicale was rendered during the evening, which was thoroughly enjoyed by all present, those taking part in it being Misses Rose Frazier, Clara Downey, Mrs. Wm. R. Pippin and Messrs. David B. Ford, Warren Hurlock and Geo. B. Twilley. Another feature of the evening was the refreshment table. Those who helped to demolish it were Miss Brownley, Baltimore; Miss Clara Downey, Rock Hall; Mrs. Wm. Smith, Misses Claudia and Josephine Thompson, Rose Frazier, Minnie Peregoy, Messrs. David B. Ford, C. R. Pippin, George B. Twilley, Warren Hurlock, James Shuster, Leon Davis.

On Friday evening of last week a masquerade party was held at the home of Mrs. John Dwyer. The house was illuminated from top to bottom, and the radiant glow could be seen afar off. The guests were received with hearty welcome, and, judging from the laughter and gayety within, they were enjoying the pleasures of life to their fullest extent; and it is the delight of the hostess to add all the enjoyment she can to the young people, for which they expressed their highest appreciation. Much fun was enjoyed while the guests were in their masks, and after finding out who those persons were who could look so mysterious they unmasked and played various games. In the midst of these games the hostess walked in and agreeably surprised her guests by inviting them out to partake of refreshments. Everything looked appetizing, and of course at such a scene no one could refuse doing ample justice toward satisfying the craving for such a feast. At the hour of twelve the assembly began to disperse, hoping again to be entertained in a like manner.

On the evening of February 9 the Kennedyville W. C. T. U. and the people of the community had a most enjoyable treat. Miss Anna R. Stewart gave her lecture, 'Familiar Faces and Affairs Afield,' which was illustrated by sixty beautiful stereopticon views. The pictures were inspiring and many of them extremely touching. Surely every one present can but have worthier aspirations and higher aims. Miss Stewart's familiarity with her subject made her a fluent, interesting and instructive speaker. As the views were thrown upon the canvass her cordial introduction to the persons presented made all feel perfectly at home with Frances Willard, Lady Somerset, Neal Dow, Mother Thompson, Mother Stewart, Anna Gordon and others. The audience gave wrapt attention as she exhibited and explained Eastnor Castle, the Woman's Temple, the Polyglot Petition, &c. The whole audience joined in singing "Throw Out the Life Line" as the eight views illustrating the song were shown. As a means of becoming familiar with temperance work and workers, as an incentive to nobler deeds, and as a benefit to unions, a more delightful plan could not have been conceived than the illustrated lecture, "Familiar Faces and Affairs Afield." E. S.

Mr. and Mrs. T. E. W. Crew gave a five o'clock tea at their pretty home, "Gresham Hall," on Thursday evening, Feb. 18, in commemoration of the first anniversary of their wedding. They were married Feb. 18, 1896, at the Kennedyville M. P. Church, by the Rev. Jesse Shreeve. Those who assisted Mrs. Crew to receive were Miss Edith Stevens, Mrs. A. P. Crew, of Baltimore, and Miss Ida Wood. In accordance with the usual hospitality of the host and hostess, the gathering friends were ushered into cloak rooms, thence to the parlors, where happy voices vied with each other to do honor to the occasion. Soon the tea hour was announced, where was found bounteous spread tables, for nothing seemed to be omitted to tempt the appetite. Several after-tea toasts added spice to the occasion. The inner man being so pleasantly and abundantly attended to, the parlors were again sought with gleeful intent. The remainder of the evening was spent in social intercourse, music and various games. The solos of Mr. Samuel G. Maslin were opportune and merited outbursts of applause. Those present were: Rev. and Mrs. Chas. K. McCaslin, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Stevens, Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Todd, Mr. and Mrs. John Brice, Jr., and son, Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Noland, Mr. and Mrs. J. Frank Wheatley, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Wood, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Stevens, Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Stevens, Mrs. A. P. Crew and mother, of Baltimore; Miss Price, of Locust Grove; the Misses Annie and Rose Bramble, Edith Stevens, Lida Crosby, Carrie and Annie Coleman, May Rees, Julia Burgess, Ida Wood; Mr. Vandyke, of Kennedyville, uncle of the bride; Messrs. Henderson Crosby, W. E. Keyser, Sam'l Maslin, Morris Bramble, Charley Wood, Frank Coleman, W. Rees and Elwood Burgess. After having spent a most pleasant evening, the guests repaired to their several homes, leaving congratulations and best wishes for the host and hostess.

One of the most enjoyable and brilliant balls ever held in Stam's Hall took place on Tuesday evening. The hall was filled with Kent's fair daughters and brave sons. The beautiful hall was one blaze of light and the stage was tastefully decorated with bunting, etc. The supper room was an encouraging sight to the weary dancers in the middle of the night. The table looked very pretty with the dim light from the parlor lamps, and the refreshments were tempting indeed, as the hearty enjoyment of the partakers will testify. Iula, of Baltimore, furnished enchanting music for the occasion. The invitation committee was John R. Rollison, John C. Cannon, V. M. Barnett and G. Z. Roland; floor managers, John R. Rollison, John G. Roland, G. J. Roland, J. Hydie Thompson, J. C. Cannan. Among those present we noticed the following: Chestertown—John S. Vandegrift and wife, V. M. Barnett and wife, Misses Ollie Hill, Lillie Crow, Parker Kendall, Bessie Cannan, Gussie Cannan, Carrie Sappington, May Cannan, Gertrude Sappington, Hettie and Emma Greenwood, May Crow, Florence Green, Elma Rasin, Lilly Howard, Mrs. Frank Toulson, Mrs. James A. Casey, Mrs. Wm. T. Matthews, Annie Kendall, Blanche Cox; Messrs. Samuel Crouch, George Burke, John and George Roland, Harry Barnett, Edw. Boston, Foster, John and Harry Cannan, James Shuster, J. W. Rollison, Harry Fallowfield, Owen Crow, Elwood Baker, Fred. Estes. East Neck Island—John Wood and wife, Rilla Downey, Frank Sappington, James Pearce, Spencer Wickes. WANAMAKER'S.

PHILADELPHIA, Monday, Feb. 22, 1897.

A discovery and its outcome. A story of linens. Sixteen years ago our Linen Chief, traveling among the linen makers of Germany stumbled across a gem—a tiny linen factory that could have been set in its entirety on a couple of city lots. But its ruling spirit was a genius and the linens he was producing shone by comparison with the best in all Germany. We bought a few and ordered more and the firm of A. E. Stiller & Sohn had stepped to the fame it deserved. Yearly the orders grew, and the factory at Sorau today is ten times the size of the bijou we first found.

Stiller linens are unmatchably good.

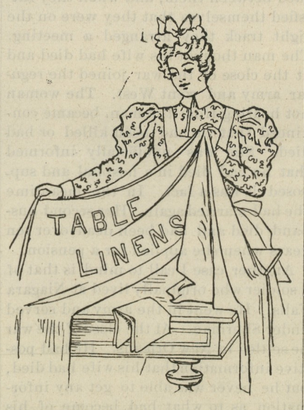
Sturdy, sightly stuffs whose characteristics are being unsuccessfully aped by makers far and wide. We have their product for retail distribution—or rather his product, for the elder Stiller has been dead these four years. The son succeeded to the business in its entirety—and the qualities that won him high military rank have ample play in the life-work he has taken up.

Ireland makes some damasks more elegant in design. So does France. You love them and pay their price. Those linens for high-days. The Stiller linens for three hundred and sixty days of the year.

The first 1897 shipment is here—important news because we haven't been able to get the goods quickly enough. Staple values, but best picking now, for variety.

TABLE LINENS—

50c—Bleached Drill, heavy, 62 in.



70c—Bleached Damask, pretty patterns, 62 in.

85c—Bleached Damask, 68 in. Especially designed for hotel use. Many patterns.

$1.10—Bleached Double Damask, 72 in.

$1.50—Bleached Double Damask, 81 in.; four beautiful patterns.

Many of the above sorts can be matched in half-bleached goods at same price.

NAPKINS—bleached drill—long-wearing goods for family or boarding house use—17 in., 95c. a doz.; 18 in., $1.10, and up to 25 in. at $2.

Napkins, floral designs—18 in., $1.40 a doz.; 19 in., $1.50; 22 in., $2; 26 in., $3.

Napkins, fine double damask, 26 in., $4 a doz.

TABLE CLOTHS—bleached damask, 70x70 in., $1.60; 70x90 in., $2; 70x126 in., $2.80; 70x144 in., $3.20.
