Important News for Anyone

The time has come that every person should know how to take care of their eyes and not to buy glasses from peddlers or so-called traveling Opticians who have no right to ruin people's eyes.

To prevent this I will advise you not to wait until some peddler will come around to sell you a pair of glasses. You will do justice to your eyes by coming to Chestertown to have your EYES TESTED and GLASSES fitted to the eyes and not the eyes to the glasses.

Respectfully,
A. LEVINE.

NOTICE TO HOLDERS OF BURIAL LOTS IN CHESTER CEMETERY.

The Chester Cemetery Company by recent action of its Board is now prepared to enter into a contract with its lot owners to keep their lots in first-class order perpetually. This guarantees the owner that his lot will be taken care of, not only after his death but even after the death of all the family.

There is no sadder sight in a cemetery than to see the lot of a one time prosperous owner in weeds, briars, overgrowth, bushes, &c., and for reason that the family have either all died, removed or else forgotten their duty to the remains of their ancestor.

Those who secure a contract as above will have no apprehensions of this fate to their lots. For terms apply to

SUMMER GUESTS IN KENT.

If anyone is disposed to doubt that Kent County is truly the land of the summer guests at present, he will soon become convinced of the fact by a drive to our bayside resorts or over the county roads leading to the bay or river shores. Wherever there is a suitable country home on the water or sufficiently near the shores of Kent's beautiful streams to offer inducements, there you are generally apt to find a bevy of charming summer guests, who have left the cares and heat of the cities to enjoy the quiet and beauty of Maryland's garden spot. Ever since the disappearance of the luscious peach which at one time furnished a large part of the farmer's revenue, many have been laboring to find as profitable a substitute Some years ago the TRANSCRIPT suggested the propriety of entertaining summer boarders as a means of revenue, and many of those living along the shores of the bay and its tributaries have long since learned the value of the scheme. Today the summer boarder is just as much of a reality in Kent as he is at our most popular summer resorts, and the income derived from his sojourn in the land of fruit, fish and crabs is even more substantial than was the prospective peach crop of years agone. And so we say that from the Sassafras to the Chester, from the railroad to the bay, the summer boarder is everywhere, spending his money, dispensing his hospitality and reaping his reward in fresh air, freckles, sun burns, and we trust full value, in a social and economic sense, for his money. There is scarcely a county in the State that possesses such rare qualities for the entertainment of summer guests as does Kent.

Her snowwhite shores, kissed by the sparkling waters of old historic Chesapeake, are dotted with the homes of people endowed with the spirit of genuine Eastern Shore hospitality. Her moon sheds its rays upon sequestered nooks, where intoxicated by the beauty of entrancing scenery some Romeo may warble his notes of love into the willing ear of his Juliet and upon the bosom of her lovely tributaries, the devotee of sailing craft, or the rod and line, may find satisfaction in continuous sport or bathing his body in her cooling streams only to find all semblances of malaria washed forever away. Now who would not come to such a land as this. Why it's enough to make every man who lingers in the hot and dusty city close up his shop and his himself away to these elysian shores where peaches thrive, bathers dive, and scarcely any one ever dies. But seriously speaking the summer visitor has done much for the county other than in a financial way. Usually those who come to our shores are those substantial people who are seeking quiet and rest. They bring their stock of experience in business, their opinions upon public questions and their social forms and customs. These are dispensed without stint to those in the country with whom they mingle, and the city guest receives in return that solid hospitality for which the people of Kent are noted, learns the social forms and customs of the country folks, as well as their opinions upon public questions, and when the parting comes, each finds himself in possession of a broader civilization and far different ideas of human nature. And so in what ever way you take him the city visitor is a benefit, and the wonder is that more of our residents along the shores of the bay and river do not adopt this means of revenue.

As an evidence of the fact that summer visitors are profitable, the writer knows of several farmers' wives, who, at the end of the summer season, have deposited to their credit in bank $500 as their net earnings. There is a great deal of labor attached to the entertainment of the guests, but there is also much pleasure, and the farmer who is suitably situated, will often find it a most excellent substitute for the failure of his crops. It is safe to say that at present there are 2500 summer boarders in the country including the hotel guests at Tolchester and Betterton. On the average the price of their board per week is $6. This means a weekly distribution of $15,000, and as the season is usually three months in length, we can safely say that the summer visitors leave from $40,000 to $45,000 in Kent county in three months. Is there any wonder that the farmer is prosperous and that it is a difficult matter to lend money? Let the summer boarder come, and let the hospitality of our people be such as to guarantee their coming for years.

RESCUED A WOMAN.

Heroic Act of J. A. Oliver at Betterton.

J. Albert Oliver, a letter-carrier of Wilmington, rescued a Miss Cowan of Baltimore, from drowning, at Betterton a few days ago.

The young woman was on a raft and it broke adrift and she was thrown into the water. Mr. Oliver, who was on another raft, dove in after her and brought her to the surface. She caught Mr. Oliver about the neck and for a time both were in danger of drowning, but she finally caught hold of his shoulders and Mr. Oliver swam with her to a point where the water was shallow, where both were taken out by some young men from Baltimore. The young woman was unable to swim and was so nearly exhausted when she was taken from the water that she fainted, but soon revived.

Mr. Oliver and the young woman would have been assisted sooner by the Baltimore men, but the latter did not realize that Mr. Oliver was trying to save the young woman's life until they were nearly ashore.

*†*While Cambridge, Easton, Centreville, Salisbury, Ridgely and other Eastern Shore towns have the baseball fever in an alarming degree, Chestertown has the "fishing fever," and has it bad. The sport is excellent on the river and off the bridge.

NEGRO CHARGED WITH ARSON.

Said to Have Made Confession Implicating White Man.

Elmer Hinson, colored, 18 years old, was locked up at the Central Police Station, Baltimore, on Wednesday night on the charge of arson, committed near Pomona, Kent county, six months ago. He was arrested in Wilmington, Del., Wednesday night by Detective Thomas, of Baltimore.

Hinson is accused of setting fire to the residence of Wesley Cannon, near Pomona. Mr. Cannon was ill in a Baltimore hospital at the time, and his wife and daughter were alone in the house. So rapidly did the flames spread that the ladies were compelled to jump from the second-story window, and Miss Cannon sustained a fracture of the leg.

The case was reported to State Fire Marshal McAfee, who, with Detective Thomas, made an investigation. Hinson, who left Pomona a few days after the fire, was traced to Wilmington and arrested there yesterday by the detective.

Marshal McAfee said Wednesday night that Hinson had made a sworn confession implicating a white man, for whom the officers were looking. Revenge is said to have been the motive. The detectives were in Chestertown on Tuesday looking for the suspect. They went from here to Wilmington.

Marshal McAfee arrived in Chestertown on Thursday evening with Hinson. He was taken before State's Attorney Wm. W. Beck, before whom he made the same confession that he made in Baltimore. Hinson is now in jall awaiting trial, Dectective Thomas returned to Chestertown with Marshal McAfee on Thursday evening.

On Friday morning a warrant was issued for the arrest of Mr. David Ford, who tenants the DeCourse farm near Pomona, and who has been implicated by the negro in the crime. Mr. Ford employed Richard D. Hynson, Esq., as his counsel and gave bail in the sum of $150 for his appearance for trial this evening before Police Justice Hicks. Mr. Ford states that the whole thing is simply a piece of spite work, and that he is able to establish his innocence. It is the general belief that Mr. Ford is not connected with the affair.

*†*Mr. Victor Hendrickson has had erected a commodious stable for 16 horses and 12 cows. He has also had erected a number of comfortable cow stalls adjoining the granary. Mr. A. M. Kendall did the work.
