JUDGE ROSE DECIDES CASE

Sidney P. Townshend, referee in bankruptcy; W. Bradford Copper, who was appointed trustee of James G. Harris, bankrupt; R. Hynson Rogers and S. Scott Beck, attorneys for the trustee, and Hope H. Barroll, attorney for Charles Baker, of Aberdeen, the largest creditor in the case went to Baltimore, where they appeared in the United States District Court and made reply to the exceptions filed by Mr. Barroll against the appointment of Mr. Copper as the trustee. The amount of the bankrupt's liabilities are reported to be in excess of $121,000, with something more than $80,000 of assets. Judge Rose decided against the naming Mr. Copper as trustee and will name someone of his choosing. He decided that all the canned goods in hands of Mr. Baker belonging to bankrupt should go into the estate as well as about 30 tons of coal. Judge Rose asked "What's the matter with you people down there, always differing. The only happy people in Kent seem to be the negroes." This statement was made after an unsuccessful effort was made to agree on a trustee, each side objecting to any one named by the other.

BUS TO CHESTERTOWN

Interstate Company Seeks Permission To Operate Line From Wilmington.

Residents of Wilmington may soon be able to travel to Chesapeake City, Chestertown and Salisbury in Maryland by bus if the Street and Sewer Commissioners take favorable action on a request of the Interstate Bus Company for permission to operate such a line.

William Wood and Charles Bristow have presented the application to the commissioners at their meeting. They propose to operate three busses daily to Chesapeake City during the present season, adding three more in the spring. The line will, at that time be extended to Chestertown, they stated, connecting with another bus line coming from Salisbury. This will give complete service from the city through Elkton, Chesapeake City, Chestertown and Salisbury, they said.

The company asked the commissioners to select a route over which the buses could pass in the city. They asked that the terminus be placed near the center of the city, preferably on Fourth street. The commissioners stated they will consider the proposition and render a decision at their meeting next Tuesday.

HAND OF DEATH

Suddenly of pneumonia on January 16th, 1923, Mrs. E. A. Ling died in her 81st year at Avalon, N. J.

Wm. H. Riley, a prominent politician, died January 14th, at his late home 1619 N. 21st., Philadelphia, aged 73 years. He was widely known in fraternal circles and was a member of Rising Star Lodge No. 126 F. and A. M. for 43 years. Mr. Riley was a native of Kent county, Md., being the son of the late Joseph Riley at one time owner of the farm and mill known as the Riley mill property. He was a man of a quiet unassuming manner and affectionate disposition and made many friends here where he often visited relatives. He leaves a widow, one daughter, Mrs. Butterfield, and two sons, Frank and Joseph H. Riley.

Mrs. Emily Stevens, widow of the late Wesley Stevens, died Monday evening at her home on The Haven, near Rock Hall. Mrs. Stevens was a devoted Christian and mother and leaves a large circle of friends. Her children are Mrs. James B. Willson, Ovilla and Frank Stevens, of Rock Hall, Andrew J., of Marlboro, N. Y. and Walter Stevens, of Baltimore. There are also twelve grandchildren and eight great grandchildren. Funeral services were conducted Wednesday at 1.30 o'clock at Rock Hall Seventh Day Adventist Church of which she was a member, by an elder from Washington, D. C. The bearers were nephews: Wm. Durding, Thos. Rich, Columbus Blackiston and Geo. Coleman, Charles Coleman and Geo. Ashley; interment in Wesley Chapel Cemetery; Thomas H. Casey, undertaker.

Ferman J. Mulford died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Hyland Copper, Saturday, of pneumonia, aged 68 years. He is survived by five children, Mrs. Ida Simpler, Mrs. Mary M. Copper, Mrs. Oneida Goodman, Spencer and Llyod Mulford, also fourteen grandchildren. Funeral services were held on Monday afternoon conducted by Rev. O. E. Jones, interment in Chester Cemetery. The pall bearers were Charles L. Gill, William Coleman, Thomas Kennard, Edward Smith, Hyland Copper and Edward Goodman; undertaker, Wm. T. Hicks.

Mary Elizabeth Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Davis, of Broad Neck, died on Sunday, January 14th, at the home of her parents, of influenza, aged 8 years. Funeral was held at Kesley Chapel on Tuesday at 2 p. m., Rev. A. F. Raum officiating. The pall bearers were John Vickers, Roy Jacquette, Edward Smith and Howard Hadaway; C. L. Dadd, undertaker.

On January 17th, at 6.30 a. m., after a lingering illness, Katherine M. Holmes, aged 21 years 1 month 21 days, wife of the late John H. Holmes and beloved daughter of the late Edward Moffett and Anna M. Andres of Rock Hall. Funeral from her mother's residence, Mrs. Anna M. Endress, 1210 North Caroline street, to which relatives and friends are invited, on Monday, January 22, at 8.30 a. m. Requiem High Mass at St. Paul's Church for repose of her soul at 9 a. m. Interment in Holy Redeemer Cemetery.

Mrs. George Starr, of Galena, died of pneumonia on Tuesday night of last week at the home of her brother, Henry Calvin, of Middletown. Mrs. Starr, with her granddaughter, Miss Alice Shropshire, had been visiting at the home of her son, William L. Starr, of Philadelphia. One day the last of the week she and Miss Alice started home, but Mrs. Starr became so ill on the train she was obliged to get off at Middletown, where in spite of all the care of loved ones and skilled physicians she passed away a few days later. She leaves a husband and two sons, George and William, also one granddaughter, Miss Alice Shropshire.

John W. Anthony, a former well-known and highly respected citizen of Elkton, died early Thursday morning at the home of his son-in-law, Harry M. Davis, Esq., at Ridely Park, Pa., aged 85 years. Mr. Anthony was born in Kent county, Md., August 18, 1837.

Following a five days illness of pneumonia at the home of her brother, Henry Calvin, of East Middletown, came the death of Mrs. Mary A. Starr whose home was Galena, Md. She had just passed the age of 61. The funeral on Friday at ten a. m. from the home of Mr. Calvin, in charge of
